This Directive states the mission, organization, and responsibilities for Air Force Reserve Command (AFRC). Refer recommended changes and questions about this publication to the Office of Primary Responsibility using the AF Form 847, Recommendation for Change of Publication; route AF Forms 847 from the field through the appropriate functional chain of command. Ensure all records generated as a result of processes prescribed in this publication adhere to Air Force Instruction 33-322, Records Management and Information Governance Program, and are disposed of in accordance with the Air Force Records Disposition Schedule, which is located in the Air Force Records Information Management System.

SUMMARY OF CHANGES

Coordination and liaison with the United States Space Force was added as a responsibility of the Commander, Air Force Reserve Command. The records management statement was also updated to the new wording per AFI 33-322.

1. Mission. Provide combat ready forces to fly, fight, and win. This organization is a major command (MAJCOM) of the United States Air Force (USAF).

2. Command.

2.1. The Commander, AFRC is:

2.1.1. Responsible to the Secretary of the Air Force (SecAF) and Chief of Staff of the Air Force (CSAF) for administration, organizing, training, equipping, and readiness of assigned forces.

2.1.2. Dual-hatted as the Chief of Air Force Reserve.

2.2. The Commander, AFRC, commands the Air Force Reserve Command, composed of three subordinate numbered Air Forces (Fourth Air Force, Tenth Air Force, and Twenty-Second Air Force), the Air Reserve Personnel Center (ARPC), the Air Force Reserve Command Force Generation Center, and the Air Force Reserve Command Recruiting Directorate.

2.3. The Air Force Reserve is a reserve component of the armed forces in accordance with 10 USC § 10101 and a reserve component of the Air Force in accordance with 10 USC § 10110.

3. Responsibilities. The AFRC Commander:

3.1. Organizes, trains, and equips combat-ready forces.

3.2. Presents combat ready forces that can operate as seamless members of the Expeditionary Air, Space, and Cyber Forces.

3.3. Coordinates and maintains liaison with HQ USAF, HQ USSF, other Air Force MAJCOMs, and Space Force Field Commands to ensure reserve training standards and qualification levels meet mobilization requirements.

3.4. Establishes necessary priorities to ensure accelerated training programs and quotas for reserve individuals, especially in areas of skill shortages, in support of Department of the Air Force requirements.

3.5. Directs the operation of Headquarters AFRC, the three Numbered Air Forces and ARPC and provides all required MAJCOM-level and field command-level support for all AFRC units and members.

3.6. Organizes additional units to include integrating with Regular Components and Air National Guard units, and trains personnel to achieve and maintain readiness as required by the Department of the Air Force.

3.7. Maintains overall supervision of AFR matters supporting USAF and USSF war plans, programming documents, and mobilization actions.

3.8. Ensures that AFRC units and members ordered to active duty during a call-up or mobilization are provided necessary supervision, training, family readiness, and administrative support from existing resources.

3.9. Assists Regular Component forces by performing peacetime missions as an adjunct to, or corollary of, training, and assumes operations and missions assigned in whole or in part to the Reserve Component, and supports operations or missions performed by units that are part of active and classic associations.

3.10. Exercises administrative control (ADCON) over all AFR forces under their command, except for forces attached to the commander, Air Force forces (COMAFFOR); the COMAFFOR has specified ADCON over attached forces.

3.11. As appropriate and authorized, carries out wartime and contingency civil defense and disaster preparedness responsibilities.

4. Direct Communication. AFRC is authorized direct communications with MAJCOMs, field commands, field operating agencies, direct reporting units, specified military departments, federal and Department of Defense agencies, and individual members on matters related to unit mission accomplishment. All communication with AFRC units by non-AFRC agencies is through HQ AFRC.
