Chapter 1

EXECUTING TOTAL FORCE DEVELOPMENT

The provisions in Chapter 1 of this instruction are intended for application to officers O-5 and below, enlisted, and civilians General Schedule (GS)-15 (or equivalent) and below.

1.1. Overview. This publication establishes guidance and procedures for the administration and management of force development initiatives and applies to the Total Force. Force development develops foundational and occupational competencies in all Airmen through education, training, and experience opportunities to satisfy current and future Air Force mission requirements. Force development is dynamic and deliberate by design. It depends on underlying processes which integrate and synchronize senior leader perspectives, institutional requirements, and modeling tools used to forecast qualitative and quantitative requirements with precision and rigor.

1.1.1. Force development leverages the Continuum of Learning, a career-long process of individual development. The Continuum of Learning is designed to deliberately integrate developmental opportunities using the Foundational Competencies. The Continuum of Learning is a common taxonomy used to produce adaptable and knowledgeable Airmen and is generally obtained through a combination of education programs, training programs, and experience. Education programs include: developmental education, undergraduate, advanced academic degrees, and professional continuing education. Training programs include: technical, on-the-job, flying, ancillary, expeditionary Airman training, Civilian Acculturation and Leadership Training, and advanced training such as the Air Force Weapons School and other advanced courses. Experience is gained through an appropriate series of assignments or special programs, such as intern programs, education with industry, Developmental Special Duties or fellowships with research organizations, and leveraged through appropriate mentoring.

1.1.2. Force development is executed by the Force Development Command (AETC); the Air Force Personnel Center (AFPC), Directorate of Assignments (AFPC/DP2) for Regular Air Force officers and enlisted; and the Directorate of Civilian Force Integration (AFPC/DP3DA) for civilians. Functional Authorities have overarching responsibility for force development for their functional communities. Career field managers communicate the education, training, and experience requirements for their functional communities. Air Force Reserve force development is executed by Air Reserve Personnel Center (ARPC). Each state, territory, or district is responsible for the execution of Air National Guard force development.

1.2. Overarching Roles and Responsibilities. Additional or expanded roles and responsibilities for the Air Force Reserve and the Air National Guard are addressed in paragraphs 1.6, 1.7 and 1.8 respectively.

1.2.1. Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for Manpower and Reserve Affairs (SAF/MR). SAF/MR serves as an agent of the Secretary of the Air Force and provides guidance, direction, and oversight for all matters pertaining to the formulation, review, and execution of plans, policies, programs, and budgets addressing force development.

1.2.2. Deputy Chief of Staff, Manpower, Personnel and Services (AF/A1). Develops and ensures implementation of force development policy. Specifically, AF/A1 develops and ensures implementation of force development policy to:

1.2.2.1. Lead career field sustainability, design, task definition, and functionality efforts for all Airmen.

1.2.2.2. Define force development requirements and competency development, regardless of funding source.

1.2.2.3. Provide annual force development guidance to the functional authorities, functional managers, and development team chairs.

1.2.2.4. Provide oversight of development teams.

1.2.2.5. Provide oversight, guidance, and develop standards for functional area managers and career field managers.

1.2.2.6. Chair the annual Developmental Education Designation Board and establish developmental education requirements.

1.2.2.7. Maintain oversight and control of Air Force-approved organizational structures, manpower requirements, and programmed and budgeted manpower levels, to include joint bases.

1.2.2.8. Maintain control, develop policy, and oversee determination and validation of manpower requirements as depicted on Unit Manpower Documents.

1.2.2.9. Establish Developmental Special Experiences (DSE) governing policy.

1.2.2.10. Partner with the Force Development Command (AETC) in determining applicability and categorization of special experience identifiers (SEI), special duty identifiers (SDI), career broadening opportunities, fellowships, and other prospects as DSE opportunities.

1.2.3. Force Development Command (AETC). Develops and implements force development processes and procedures to execute force development policy.

1.2.4. Functional Authorities. Functional authorities are designated General Officers and members of the Senior Executive Service serving as Deputy Chiefs of Staff or Assistant Secretaries appointed by the Secretary of the Air Force to provide oversight and functional advisory services related to functional communities. Exception: Changes to functional authority rank/grade/position must be requested in writing to AF/A1, with a copy provided to AF/A1D, AF/A1C and AF/A1P. (T-1). (see Attachment 3). Multiple Air Force specialties may fall under a functional authority's purview. Functional Authority Alignment Tables (see Attachment 4) provide detailed identification of the functional authority responsibilities for specific specialties and career fields. Specifically, the functional authorities will:

1.2.4.1. Direct and approve functional assignment prioritization plans. (T-1).

1.2.4.2. Ensure Secretary of the Air Force-approved force development policies are implemented within their assigned functional communities. (T-1).

1.2.4.3. Provide strategic oversight of force development to include determination and prioritization of functional community requirements to meet mission needs. (T-1).

1.2.4.4. Ensure Airmen are both encouraged and provided the opportunity, when appropriate, to perform instructor and special duties to meet institutional requirements. (T-1).

1.2.4.5. Review career field health on specialties under their management and report results to the Air Force Council when appropriate. (T-1).

1.2.4.6. Inform AF/A1 of anticipated reorganizations, realignments, and mission changes that may affect force development programs. (T-1).

1.2.4.7. Provide functional representation to the annual Air Force Education Requirements Board. (T-1).

1.2.4.8. Establish a Functional Advisory Council and appoint the Functional Advisory Council chair(s). (T-1).

1.2.4.9. Develop Functional Advisory Council charter (see Attachment 5). (T-1).

1.2.4.10. Appoint a functional manager. (T-1).

1.2.4.11. Notify AF/A1DI in writing (with a copy to Human Resources Data, Analytics, and Decision Support Division (A1XD) or Headquarters Air Force, Compensation and Workforce Management (AF/A1CM) for civilians) within 10 business days of any new appointments to the career field functional authorities, functional managers, and development team chair positions (see Attachment 6). (T-1).

1.2.4.12. Designate assignment team and career field team personnel to serve as representatives to Functional Advisory Councils and developmental teams. (T-1). Can be delegated to the functional authority's representatives.

1.2.5. Functional Advisory Councils. Functional Advisory Councils prepare senior leaders with a comprehensive understanding of functional, cross-functional, and institutional personnel requirements as they pertain to particular career fields. Functional Advisory Councils provide the development team panels with developmental requirements for their career field population in the areas of education, training, and experience. Functional Advisory Councils may be convened by each functional area to provide strategic-level oversight to functional communities under their guidance and support the force development and force structure management processes within defined Air Force functional communities.

1.2.5.1. Functional Advisory Council Establishment. Functional Advisory Councils should convene at least annually. Every effort should be made to convene in conjunction with other career field meetings where a majority of the Functional Advisory Council members are already in attendance, or they may be held virtually.

1.2.5.2. Functional Advisory Council Chair. Ideally, the functional authority will appoint the functional manager as the Functional Advisory Council chair. When the functional manager is unavailable to fulfill this role, the functional authority will appoint a general officer or member of the senior executive service as the representative.

1.2.5.3. Functional Advisory Council Membership. The Functional Advisory Council chair determines the Functional Advisory Council membership. Ideally, the Functional Advisory Council will include the career field manager, Major Command-level functional leadership and other key force development stakeholders (i.e., Assignment Team/Career Field Team representatives). Cross-functional authorities may have valid force development requirements involving Airmen assigned to functional Air Force specialty codes or approved civilian billets in shared occupational series, such as those in the Nuclear Enterprise. Representatives from these communities may attend applicable Functional Advisory Councils with prior approval from the functional manager.

1.2.5.4. Identify functional, cross-functional, and institutional requirements for the career field and validate career field mission needs.

1.2.5.5. Identify developmental goals of the career field. Discussions should include topics such as cross-functional requirements review, releasing Airmen for opportunities out of their core Air Force specialty code, preparing Airmen for institutional Air Force leadership positions, the role of diversity within the career field, and sustaining perishable skill sets.

1.2.5.6. Determine career field capability to satisfy identified requirements, meet developmental goals, and perform the mission. Any capability gaps are resolved through changes in the progression plan and force management initiatives.

1.2.5.7. If a development team is executed, the Functional Advisory Council should utilize development team feedback to identify existing and potential career field capability gaps.

1.2.5.8. Communicate developmental goals to the career field through updated career progression guidance and direction to career field leadership.

1.2.6. Cross-Functional Authority. Cross-functional authorities are responsible for strategic oversight and force development advocacy related to the requirements of their occupational capability. They identify cross-functional billets, associate proficiency levels, and identify development (developmental education, training and/or experience) required to successfully conduct their mission. Currently, six cross-functional authorities have been identified: cyberspace, nuclear, space, test and evaluation, combat air advisors, and acquisitions. Future cross-functional authorities will be designated by a memorandum signed by the Air Force Chief of Staff or designated representative. While not authorized to establish development teams, cross-functional authorities have valid force development requirements involving Airmen assigned to various Air Force specialties, which can include Air Force Specialty Codes (military)/occupational series (civilian) outside their core functional area. These communities generate and implement force development and management strategies to sustain and improve such capabilities. Cross-functional authorities will:

1.2.6.1. Provide strategic-level guidance to the functional communities that contribute to cross-functional capabilities. (T-1).

1.2.6.2. Provide career field managers with requirement validation guidance and procedures, including utilization and prioritization guidance. (T-1).

1.2.6.3. Forecast force development requirements (both qualitative and quantitative) using Air Force strategic planning processes. (T-1). Articulate requirements to functional authorities in the form of long- and short-term manpower forecasts; personnel requirements; and education, training, and experience criteria necessary to develop a sufficient cross-functional community. (T-1).

1.2.6.4. Ensure career field managers and Development Teams are provided education, training, and experience criteria necessary to develop their cross-functional professional inventories. (T-1).

1.2.6.5. Advocate cross-functional issues to functional communities. (T-1).

1.2.6.6. As appropriate, attend functional authority, functional manager, development team, Functional Advisory Council, and career field manager meetings. (T-1).

1.2.6.7. Articulate cross-functional programs to functional authorities, development teams, and assignment teams in the form of Air Force specialty code or occupational series-specific capability requirements on an annual basis. (T-1).

1.2.6.8. Identify cross-functional requirements to individual career field managers from supporting career fields no later than 90 days prior to each development team session. (T-1). Development team chairs, career field managers, and assignment teams ensure these cross-functional requirements are appropriately addressed during development team sessions. (T-1).

1.2.6.9. Provide annual cross-functional area health updates to senior leadership as necessary. (T-1).

1.2.6.10. Provide support to accessions and training processes as outlined in AFI 36-2616, Technical Training Requirements Programs. (T-1).

1.2.6.11. In coordination with Career Field Managers, define and develop cross-functional capabilities education and training requirements to produce appropriate skills and capability inventory. (T-1).

1.2.6.12. Coordinate and integrate training requirements through Utilization & Training Workshop process as defined in Chapter 4. (T-1).

1.2.6.13. Review and validate advanced academic degree requirements, as well as other professional continuing education needed to meet Air Force requirements. (T-1).

1.2.6.14. Directly engage and advocate with Headquarters Air Force agencies, functional authorities, and career field managers to synchronize and integrate planning, programming, budgeting, legislative, and policy development activities within the corporate structure through use of force development plans. (T-1).

1.2.6.15. When necessary, establish, chair and convene Cross-Functional Advisory Panels or other governance forums to develop and coordinate strategic-level oversight to key stakeholders and functional communities. (T-1).

1.2.6.16. Monitor development of Total Force Assessment, career field pyramids (see Attachment 7), and manning products as appropriate. (T-1).

1.2.7. Nuclear Enterprise Functional Authority. The Secretary of the Air Force appointed the Assistant Chief of Staff, Strategic Deterrence and Nuclear Integration (AF/A10) as the Nuclear Enterprise Functional Authority to advocate and integrate cross-functional nuclear capabilities through human capital strategies that meet the needs of nuclear Airmen. Specifically, the Nuclear Enterprise Functional Authority will:

1.2.7.1. In partnership with career field managers, articulate the human capital nuclear requirements of dual-capable Airmen to ensure the expertise and numbers necessary for nuclear deterrence operations.

1.2.7.2. Develop nuclear competencies required for nuclear deterrence operations.

1.2.7.3. Articulate nuclear deterrence operations competencies to functional authorities in the construct of the Continuum of Learning.

1.2.7.4. Identify billets, units, and career fields that contribute to nuclear deterrence operations for gap analysis and added deliberate, force development.

1.2.7.5. Review Nuclear Education (e.g., Nuclear Courses 200/300/400) and training learning objectives in partnership with Air Education and Training Command.

1.2.7.6. Validate nuclear developmental education requirements, eligibility, and selection; recommend developmental education outplacement to the functional community.

1.2.7.7. Provide guidance and establish requirements for nuclear competencies and any nuclear certification program and coding.

1.2.7.8. Provide guidance and nuclear perspective to development teams.

1.2.7.9. Provide strategic guidance to prioritization plans.

1.2.7.10. Review and assess career health/status of nuclear enterprise career fields.

1.2.7.11. Assist in the development of cross-functional career pyramids to be used in conjunction with supporting career fields' pyramids.

1.2.7.12. Appoint a nuclear enterprise representative to senior Air Force-level councils/boards.

1.2.7.13. Partner with AF/A1 in building and executing human capital strategies in support of nuclear deterrence operations.

1.2.7.14. Develop, review and report quarterly performance measurements to ensure progress in career field health.

1.2.8. Functional Manager. RegAF general officer or senior executive service members, designated by the appropriate functional authorities, who provide day-to-day management over specific functional communities. While functional managers should maintain an institutional focus with regard to resource development and distribution, they are responsible for ensuring their specialties are equipped, developed, and sustained to provide Air Force capabilities. Specifically, functional managers will:

1.2.8.1. Chair the Functional Advisory Council (see paragraph 1.5.2.3). (T-1).

1.2.8.2. Determine Functional Advisory Council membership (see paragraph 1.5.2.3). (T-1).

1.2.8.3. Develop a development team charter, as outlined in Attachment 8 (T-1). The charter is reviewed annually and revised as appropriate, and a copy provided to the owning functional authority and Directorate of Force Development, AF/A1D. (T-1).

1.2.8.4. Chair the development team meeting or identify an alternate development team chair (see paragraph 1.4.2). (T-1).

1.2.8.5. Determine development team membership (see paragraph 1.4.3). (T-1).

1.2.8.6. Convene the development team to meet the milestones outlined in Attachment 9, and hold additional meetings as necessary to meet Air Force and functional needs. (T-1).

1.2.8.7. Appoint career field managers, as needed, to manage the career fields aligned under the functional manager (T-1). Provide appointments in writing to AF/A1P (RegAF), Air Force Reserve Command (AFRC)/A1K or AF/A1CM (civilians) with a copy to AF/A1DI (see Attachment 10). (T-1).

1.2.8.8. Define functional community training requirements through Utilization & Training Workshop process as defined in Chapter 4. (T-1).

1.2.8.9. Define functional community education requirements through the Air Force Education Requirements Board process as defined in Chapter 3 and the Air Force Education Requirements Board concept of operations (Surgeon General Requirements are worked through the Health Professions Education Requirements Board vice the Air Force Education Requirements Board). (T-1).

1.2.8.10. Provide career field health updates to the functional authority on the status of the career field(s). (T-1).

1.2.8.11. Where appropriate, blend the requirements for RegAF officers, enlisted, and civilian members within the functional family in order to achieve force development objectives. (T-1).

1.2.8.12. Coordinate with cross-functional authorities to identify requirements and provide to career field managers from supporting career fields. (T-1).

1.2.9. Development Team. Development teams provide oversight of officer, enlisted, and civilian personnel development to meet both functional and Air Force corporate leadership requirements. Development team guidance is addressed in paragraph 1.4 for RegAF officers and civilians. Development team guidance is addressed in paragraph 1.5 for RegAF enlisted.

1.2.10. Career Field Manager. The career field manager is appointed by the functional manager and represents a functional community. A career field manager may be responsible for more than one specialty or multiple career field managers may be appointed within a single career field. Officer and civilian career field managers are O-6/GS-15 (or equivalent), and enlisted career field managers are E-9s. Exceptions require a waiver approved by AF/A1D (see Attachment 11). Specifically, career field managers will:

1.2.10.1. Serve as a day-to-day advocate for assigned functional community, addressing issues, and coordinating specialty concerns across various staffs. (T-1).

1.2.10.2. Implement career field policies. (T-1).

1.2.10.3. Be a permanent voting member of the development team. (T-1).

1.2.10.4. Provide central oversight for career field education and training in coordination with Air Education and Training Command Training Pipeline Manager, Air University, Air Force Institute of Technology, and the Air Force Personnel Center to manage education and training through processes described in governing directives and applicable AFIs (T-1). Additionally, manages use of available education and development funds in compliance with appropriate AFIs. (T-1).

1.2.10.5. Provide support to accessions and training processes as outlined in AFI 36-2616. (T-1).

1.2.10.6. Coordinate all force structure changes with Air Force Training/Education Requirements Division (AF/A1PT) or the Air Force Military Force Policy Division (AF/A1PP) and participates in accession and training conferences. (T-1).

1.2.10.7. Monitor Total Force assessment, career pyramids, and manning products as appropriate (T-1). Consult Air Force Directorate of Force Management Policy (AF/A1P) and Air Force Directorate of Manpower, Organization and Resources (AF/A1M) on force management and force sustainment data analysis and execution. (T-1).

1.2.10.8. Develop and maintain up-to-date career planning guidance (i.e., career field pyramids and Civilian Leadership Development Continuum, see Attachment 12) (T-1). Career field managers are responsible for reviewing this information on an annual basis, making appropriate updates as needed (T-1). Career field managers will make this information available to their functional community (T-1). AF/A1D will review career planning guidance to ensure it is consistent with Air Force force development objectives prior to release (T-1).

1.2.10.9. Participate in the career field manager forum. (T-1).

1.2.10.10. Review and validate advanced academic degree requirements, as well as other professional continuing education needed to meet Air Force requirements, through the Air Force Education Requirements Board process as defined in Chapter 3 and the Air Force Education Requirements Board concept of operations (T-1). Surgeon General requirements are worked through the Health Professions Education Requirements Board vice the Air Force Education Requirements Board (T-1).

1.2.10.11. Ensure cross-functional requirements are appropriately addressed during development team sessions. (T-1).

1.2.11. Air Force Personnel Center. Accomplishes force development responsibilities for RegAF Airmen and civilians through several offices: assignment teams in Director of Assignments and Air Expeditionary Forces (AEF) Operations (AFPC/DP3) and career field teams (CFTs) in Civilian Force Integration (AFPC/DP2), Officer Force Development (AFPC/DP2ND), and Developmental Education (AFPC/DPAPFE) and Enlisted Functional Assignment Managers (AFPC/DP2). Assignment teams and career field teams serve as the “front line” in experiential development. These teams are responsible for assigning RegAF officers, civilians and enlisted in accordance with development team vectors. In making assignments, assignment teams and career field teams ensure a balance of Air Force mission requirements with individual development of officers, civilians, enlisted, and leverage local utilization where possible in order to preserve permanent change of station funds and assist with family stability. Each office within the Air Force Personnel Center has specific force development responsibilities that include but are not limited to the following:

1.2.11.1. Assignment teams will identify projected/anticipated aggregated requirements by level and position type, to include 365-day deployment requirements, prior to individual development team meetings (T-1). This ensures development team members have information to provide vector recommendations proportionate to the number and type of positions that are likely to be filled in the near future, and the ability to consider permanent-change-of-station cost savings and family stability.

1.2.11.2. Career field teams will provide development teams with a general overview of the Key Career Position process and utilization and/or development opportunities available for civilians at the appropriate levels to allow development teams to provide realistic and actionable vector recommendations. (T-1).

1.2.11.3. Assignment teams and career field teams will identify individuals who are eligible to meet a given development and prepare materials to present to the development team, as needed. (T-1).

1.2.11.4. Assignment teams and career field teams will execute assignments within established guidance and prioritization plans. (T-1). The Air Force Personnel Center retains final assignment authority for all assignments for RegAF officers, enlisted, and civilians covered by this instruction (T-0). Additional RegAF assignment policy may be found in the Air Force Assignment System guide, managed by AFPC/DP3, and AFI 36-2110, Total Force Assignments. Note: In accordance with 10 USC § 806, Judge Advocates and Legal Officers, the assignment of Judge Advocates and legal officers shall be made upon the recommendation of The Judge Advocate General.

1.2.11.5. Assignment teams and career field teams will provide appropriate inventory data and appropriate force management policies (e.g., force shaping, promotion policies), at the start of each development team meeting. (T-1).

1.2.11.6. Assignment teams, career field teams, AFPC Workforce Development Section (AFPD/DP2LWD) and AFPC Officer Force Development (AFPC/DP2ND) will provide input to AFPC/DP3, AFPC/DP2, and AF/A1D regarding automated tools and other resources needed to execute force development. (T-1).

1.2.11.7. Assignment teams and career field teams will work with the career field managers to ensure coverage of career field issues at accession and training conferences, as appropriate. (T-1).

1.2.11.8. Assignment teams and career field teams will develop and maintain metrics to measure the correlation of officer, civilian and enlisted development team vectors with actual assignments, and provide an annual summary to AF/A1, functional authorities, cross-functional authorities and development teams. (T-1).

1.2.11.9. Career field teams will identify an outplacement functional assignment, in coordination with the functional authority, for those individuals currently in a Civilian Strategic Leadership Program assignment. (T-1). To the maximum extent possible, this should be done in coordination with the Civilian Strategic Leadership Program member.

1.2.11.10. AFPC/DP2ND will post development team meeting dates on the respective Officer and Civilian Development Pages on myPers, located on the Air Force Portal. (T-1).

1.2.11.11. AFPC/DP3 will train development team members at the start of each officer and civilian development team on development team processes, information technology tools, and special selection procedures. (T-1).

1.2.12. Senior Rater, Commander/Director, and Supervisor. Senior rater, commander, director, and supervisor involvement is essential to force development. Their input is critical for making deliberate force development decisions about individual members and identifying and maximizing the capabilities of Airmen. These leaders make informed recommendations in accordance with eligibility, selection criteria, and force development requirements. (T-3).

1.2.12.1. Senior Rater. Will provide recommendation on eligible Airmen for developmental opportunities as applicable. (T-3). Provide brief written comments to the development team to enhance and enable selection processes via web-based tools (e.g., developmental education preferences/ Statements of Intent, nomination packages, etc.). (T-3).

1.2.12.2. Squadron Commander or Director. Responsible for reviewing individuals' preferences, assessing each Airman's developmental potential, and providing appropriate recommendations to the senior rater. (T-3). Note: For Air Force organizations above wing level, the division chief or system program office director will normally perform these duties. (T-3). For joint organizations, the Air Force representative on the Personnel and Manpower (J1) staff identifies the responsible officer. (T-3).

1.2.12.3. Supervisor. Plays an integral role in supporting all aspects of force development through mentoring feedback, and Airman Development Plans (officer) or Individual Development Plans (civilian) for all Airmen they supervise, and assist individuals in making informed career decisions. Supervisors review and forward preference information and ensure officers and civilians complete preference information, as needed, to meet development team established timelines. (T-3).

1.2.13. Mentor. Airmen may seek informal, private communication with a mentor either in or out of their rating chain. For additional information on mentoring, refer to AFMAN 36-2643, Air Force Mentoring Program.

1.2.14. Individual. All Airmen should be familiar with the appropriate career paths for their career field, complete appropriate education and training commensurate with their grade, and develop the proficiency of occupational and Foundational Competencies commensurate with their grade. Airmen are responsible for maintaining awareness of resources for development opportunities and actively participating in their career development and advancement. (T-3).

1.2.15. Officers. Responsible for utilizing resources such as myPers and expressing career preferences, to include squadron command intent, developmental education designation, or normal permanent change of station vulnerability milestones. (T-1).

1.2.16. Civilians. Responsible for using resources such as myPers, initiating and updating an Individual Development Plan via AF Form 4059, Air Force Civilian Competitive Development Nomination, or other appropriate document to express assignment and developmental preferences, to include squadron director intent, developmental education designation, or mobility agreement. (T-1).

1.2.17. Enlisted. Responsible for utilizing resources such as myPers and Enlisted Quarterly Assignment Listing Plus to express career preferences. (T-1). Communicate those preferences with supervisor and chain of command, and ensure worldwide assignment availability to the maximum extent possible.

1.2.18. AF/RE. The Chief, Air Force Reserve is the approval authority for force development policy that impacts Air Force Reservists to include, but not limited to, Air Reserve Technicians, Traditional Reservists, Individual Reservists and Reserve-Component Air Guard Reservists.

This AFI includes force development guidance specific to members of the Reserve Component.

1.2.19. AF/JA. The Judge Advocate General is solely responsible for force development of the entire Judge Advocate career field across all components, to include the Air Reserve Component, in accordance with 10 USC § 806; 10 USC § 9037, Judge Advocate General, Deputy Judge Advocate General: appointment; duties; and AFI 51-101, The Air Force Judge Advocate General's Corps (AFJAGC) Operations, Accessions, and Professional Development. This instruction provides general guidance, but judge advocate force development will be conducted at the direction of The Judge Advocate General.

1.2.20. AF/HC. The Air Force Chief of Chaplains is responsible for force development of the entire Chaplain career field across all components, to include the Air Reserve Component, in accordance with 10 USC § 9063, Designation: Officers to Perform Certain Professional Functions; DoDI 1304.28, Guidance for the Appointment of Chaplains for the Military Departments; Air Force Policy Directive 52-1, Chaplain Corps; and AFI 52-101, Planning and Organizing. This instruction provides general guidance, but chaplain force development will be conducted at the direction of the Air Force Chief of Chaplains.

1.3. Population and Synchronization Panels. AF/A1 and Operations, Plans, and Requirements (AF/A3) established several bodies focused on both population and function. These include:

1.3.1. Force Development Council (FDC). This corporate body will provide an enterprise perspective on Air Force-wide force development objectives, current and future issues, and make strategic-level recommendations to the Secretary of the Air Force, Air Force Chief of Staff/, the Air Force Council, and at a Four Star Summit (CORONA) with the overarching goal of developing future Total Force Airmen to be joint, multi-domain warfighters. The FDC is charged with making decisions on crosscutting force development issues, initiatives, gaps, and solutions that require policy changes and/or resourcing solutions on behalf of the Secretary of the Air Force or Air Force Chief of Staff to meet their established force-development intent. Any policy changes deemed to require higher-level review/approval will be coordinated with the appropriate Air Force policy owner/functional (A1, A2, A3, A4, etc.), elevated to Secretary of the Air Force or Air Force Chief of Staff for decision (i.e., CORONA) and, if approved, prioritized and tasked to bring into the Air Force corporate structure to allocate resources. The FDC synchronizes actions to help the Co-Chairs fulfill their respective assigned mission directives related to force development. The FDC decisions/objectives impacting force-development execution and policy requiring Secretary of the Air Force or Air Force Chief of Staff/ approval will be part of a Force Development Command (AETC)-prepared briefing available to each CORONA on state of force development or can be brought separately by the other Co-chairs as appropriate.

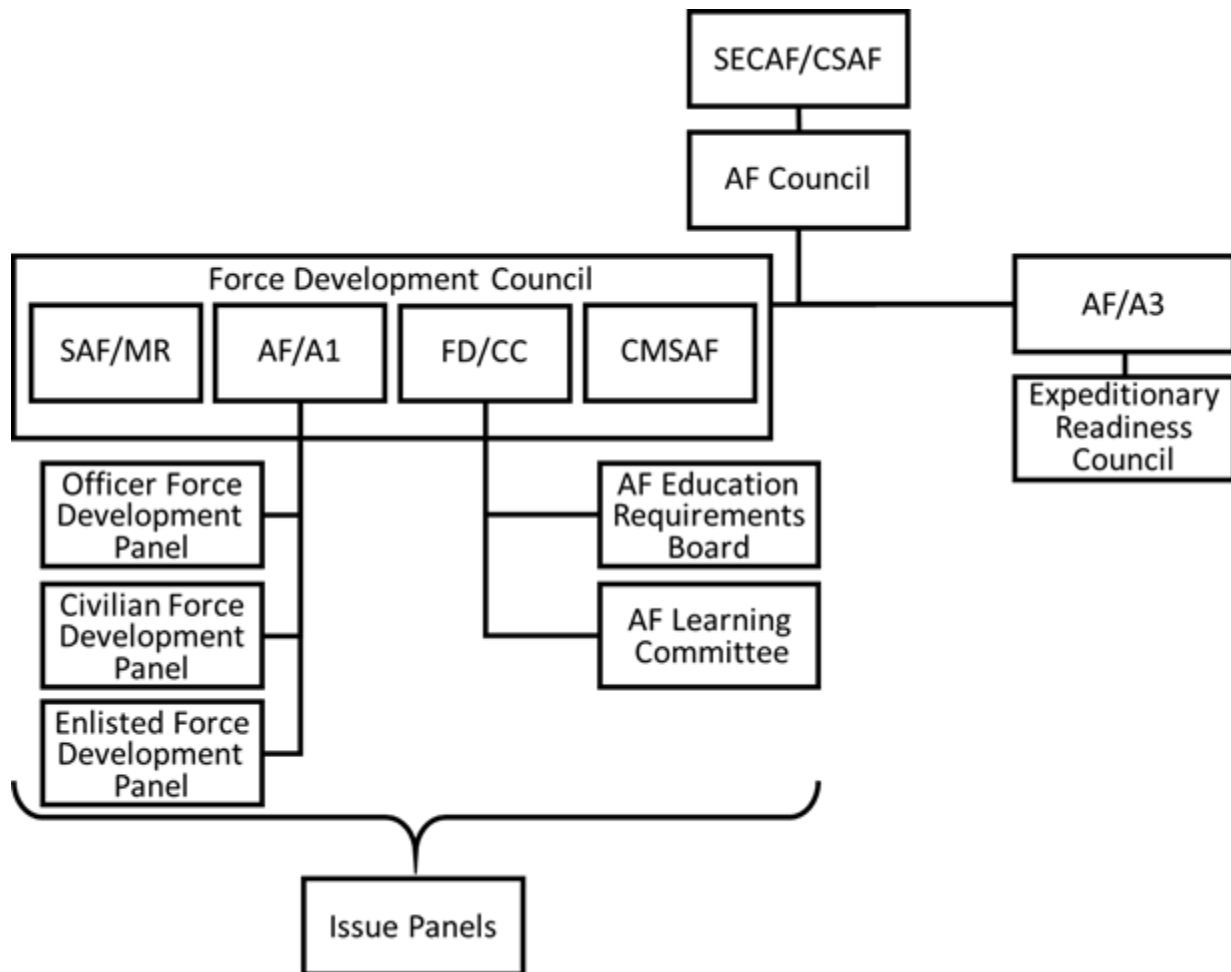

1.3.2. Force Development Panels: Officer, Enlisted, and Civilian. These panels make recommendations relating to effective development and utilization of Airmen. Additionally, they guide future force development efforts and synchronize functional community and institutional initiatives. Specific panel membership is determined by AF/A1D, AF/A1P, and AETC/3/6 for the Officer Force Development Panel, the deputy AF/A1 for the Civilian Force Development Panel, and the Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force (CMSAF) and AF/A1D for the Enlisted Force Development Panel. Administrative support is provided by AF/A1D. Unconscious Bias Training will be conducted, as necessary to meet Secretary of the Air Force Diversity and Inclusion initiatives. (T-1). Functional authorities/cross functional authorities and issue panels may nominate topics and provide inputs to force development panels.

1.3.3. Air Force Learning Committee. The Air Force Learning Committee (AFLC) is a decision making body providing Senior Leader oversight and guidance regarding enterprise-wide learning issues. The AFLC is responsible for validating new learning requirements, establishing learning priorities and considering effective and efficient learning delivery options for the Total Force. The AFLC focuses on four specific areas impacting the Air Force's Learning environment: ensuring developmental education supports Airmen's Foundational Competencies; ensuring ancillary training is current, relevant and values Airmen's time; providing a forum to review and discuss topics affecting the AF learning enterprise; and addressing areas and issues relevant to the Force Development Council (FDC). HAF/A1DL serves as the executive advisor for the AFLC process, maintains responsibility for policy and has delegated administration and execution duties to HQ AETC/A3K.

1.3.4. Expeditionary Readiness Council (ERC). This council makes Expeditionary Readiness Training policy and guidance recommendations to the Expeditionary Readiness Senior Authority to meet AF Expeditionary Readiness requirements. The Expeditionary Readiness Senior Authority (AF/A3T) approves or disapproves Expeditionary Readiness Council recommendations and serves as the "gatekeeper" for all Expeditionary Readiness Training requirements. The Expeditionary Readiness Council performs the Expeditionary Readiness Senior Authority's gatekeeper function by vetting new Expeditionary Readiness Training requirements or Expeditionary Readiness Training course upgrades, reducing/eliminating redundant Expeditionary Readiness Training requirements, establishing priorities and determining efficient delivery options. The Expeditionary Readiness Senior Authority provides broad, strategic guidance for institutional readiness competency development to improve the focus, currency and relevancy of Air Force Expeditionary Readiness curricula and training and makes recommendations to the AF/A3 on Expeditionary Readiness-related issues requiring senior level Air Force oversight.

1.3.5. Issue Panels. Established to meet a short-term requirement or address new issues. Force development acknowledges the need to develop and manage populations of Airmen assigned to disparate Air Force specialties, but aggregate to produce vital Air Force capabilities. Issue panels provide their development team inputs to the specific functional community career field manager(s) no later than 90 calendar days prior to the start of the scheduled development team session. Issue panel inputs are to include a summary of the requests, to include the grade/rank, Air Force specialty code/occupational series, experience level, and number of valid personnel authorizations that must be filled.

Figure 1.1. Force Development Institutional Governance Structure.1.4. RegAF Officer and Department Of The Air Force Civilian Development Teams.

1.4.1. Development Team Establishment. Force development for RegAF officers and Department of the Air Force civilians is managed by development teams. Development teams should develop an understanding of both officer and civilian resources and requirements, and ensure all career field members are provided with appropriate development opportunities. Functional managers should integrate officer and civilian development teams to the maximum extent possible.

1.4.2. Development Team Chair. The development team chair must be an O-6/GS-15 (or equivalent) or higher; however, for developmental education development teams, the development team chair must be a general officer or member of the senior executive service. (T-1). Grade/rank requirements waivers should be requested in writing to AF/A1D prior to the start of each development team meeting (see Attachment 13). Typically, the functional authority will appoint the functional manager as the development team chair. If the functional manager is unable to fulfill this role, the functional authority will appoint a representative, ideally the career field manager, unless it is a developmental education development team session.

1.4.3. Development Team Membership. Determined by the functional manager and includes the following: Development team chair; career field manager; key force development stakeholders: must be O-6/GS-15 or higher (e.g., Air Staff Directors/Deputy Directors, Air Staff-level subject matter experts, Major Command-level functional leadership); joint service representation stakeholders for applicable development team sessions (e.g., when vectoring individuals to joint opportunities): this representation may be a development team member with joint experience; Air Reserve Component stakeholders for applicable development team sessions (e.g., when reviewing Air Reserve Component candidates); panel guests: may include individuals from a different functional community to provide an outside perspective/insight; assignment team/career field team representation designated by the career field manager; representatives from cross-functional authorities when applicable.

1.4.4. Voting members. Voting members will be O-6/GS-15 (or equivalent) or higher. Exceptions to the rank/grade of voting members require a waiver from AF/A1D. Requests must be submitted and approved prior to the start of each development team (see Attachment 14). Ideally, development teams should have no more than 50 percent turnover of members from meeting to meeting. In addition to the career field managers, voting members may include the following: key force development stakeholders such as Air Staff Directors/Deputy Directors or Air Staff-level subject matter experts, Major command-level functional leadership; joint service representatives; Air Reserve Component representatives; wing commanders/directors/equivalents (i.e., Senior Materiel Leaders).

1.4.5. Development Team Responsibilities.

1.4.5.1. Will identify education, training, and experiences appropriate for officers and civilians within each functional community based on current and future requirements.

1.4.5.2. Will understand career field policies, plans, programs, training, and actions affecting career field management and development, and take these issues into consideration when making personnel decisions and vectors.

1.4.5.3. Will use total force assessments, career pyramids, and manning products to make informed vector recommendations and assist functional managers and career field managers with updating this guidance based on career field dynamics as well as current and projected personnel requirements.

1.4.5.4. Will prepare senior leaders with a comprehensive understanding of both functional and institutional personnel requirements.

1.4.5.5. Will balance institutional and functional requirements for utilization of individual officers and civilians.

1.4.5.6. Will assist in the development of career fields to meet institutional, functional, and cross-functional requirements.

1.4.5.7. Will review the demographic makeup of the functional community and identify potential barriers to all Airmen reaching their highest potential. Diversity information may be obtained using the Interactive Demographic Analysis System within the Air Force Portal and/or the retrieval applications websites (RAW) application in located at the Air Force Personnel Center Secure link (<https://w20.afpc.randolph.af.mil/AFPCSecureNet20/PKI/MainMenu1.aspx>).

1.4.5.8. Will conduct gap and barrier analyses to address any negative trends. Present this information post-development team to AF/A1 via the template provided in the annual force development guidance memorandum. (T-1).

1.4.5.8.1. In support of the post-development team brief to A1, the Air Force Personnel Center will provide diversity statistics by career field to conduct required analysis, as provided in the annual force development guidance memorandum, for the current development team cycle.

1.4.5.8.2. Development teams (career field manager as office of primary responsibility) will: Analyze the data to determine if the career field lacks diversity. If lack of diversity is found as a result of triggers identified, then conduct barrier analysis, provide action plan and/or recommended diversity discussion topics.

1.4.5.9. Will determine where to invest the right developmental opportunities and develop those who have been cross-flowed into the career field.

1.4.5.10. Will remain cognizant of key force management efforts and provide vectors based on projected/anticipated, aggregated requirements by level and position type.

1.4.5.11. Will ensure those with necessary qualifications are vectored for appropriate opportunities.

1.4.5.12. Will ensure career field senior leadership becomes familiar with individuals assigned to their functional area, making assessments of members' potential for future opportunities.

1.4.5.13. Will identify and provide special attention to high-potential officers.

1.4.5.13.1. Senior rater inputs are given primary consideration in making high-potential officer determinations. High-potential officers demonstrate depth and expertise through exceptional performance in functional skills, and excel in the areas of managing resources, leading people, improving the unit and executing the mission.

1.4.5.13.2. The number of high-potential officers may vary by career field and talent level in a given year group and will decrease as officers have opportunities to demonstrate leadership capabilities. To prevent unintended effects to both those identified, and not identified, the specific outcomes of high-potential officer decision processes/tracking (e.g., names and targeted high-potential officer positions) will not be publicly shared or released.

1.4.5.14. To provide consistent expectations for officers, as well as standardization to process and outcomes, all development teams will provide developmental vectors. When possible, these will be conducted in conjunction with other face-to-face meetings (i.e., developmental education and squadron command selection) or virtually when dictated by time or budget constraints. Developmental vectors will be provided at five mandatory trigger points: O-4 selection, intermediate developmental education outplacement, squadron command outplacement (except Judge Advocate Generals/Chaplains), O-5 selection, and senior developmental education outplacement. Additional trigger points may be added at development team discretion for specific career field development (i.e., at the 5-year point, to provide an assignment vector prior to the O-4 board). Vectors will be based on a 3- to 5-year projection. In order to ensure vectors are aligned with appropriate development and progression, career fields must maintain current and comprehensive career field pyramids and ensure dissemination to the career field. Vectors will be loaded in the Assignment Management System for individual viewing.

1.4.5.15. Will ensure deliberate outplacement strategies are in place for individuals vectored to long-term training opportunities (e.g., fellowships/internships), preferably to a position in career field pyramids or as described in Airman development plans/individual development plans or the framework for the Civilian Leadership Development Continuum (see Attachment 12).

1.4.5.16. Will provide vectors/inputs for individuals to applicable follow-on assignments that will best capitalize on their newly obtained knowledge and skills.

1.4.5.17. Will plan for all officers vectored to National Defense University joint schools for senior developmental education to be assigned to joint duty upon graduation. The only exception will be O-6 selects matched by the annual Command Screening Board, Judge Advocate, medical, and chaplain officers.

1.4.5.17.1. Where standard joint duty assignment billets are unavailable or limited, AFPC/DP3 will coordinate other joint options to ensure compliance (e.g., JS/J1-approved 365-day temporary duty assignment or cross-career field utilization).

1.4.5.17.2. Joint Advanced Warfighting School graduates will be outplaced to designated combatant command joint planner billets. To meet this intent, development teams should only consider first and second look senior developmental education nominees when vectoring individuals to Joint Advanced Warfighting School.

1.4.5.17.3. Will ensure personnel vectored for joint-duty assignment consideration are of sufficient quality to achieve promotion rates in accordance with joint promotion objectives outlined in 10 USC § 662, Promotion Policy Objectives for Joint Officers.

1.4.5.17.4. Will outline procedures to ensure the qualifications of Joint Qualified Officers are such that joint promotion objectives can be achieved as outlined in AFI 36-2135, Joint Officer Management.

1.4.5.18. Before vectoring to National Defense University, will consider the mandatory follow-on assignment along with the overall career timing of the individual.

1.4.5.19. Will provide major command functionals the entire squadron commander candidate list and offer a slate of at least three candidates for the hiring officials (unless there is a limiting factor). Hiring officials can request alternate names from the entire list through the major command functional. When requests are unable to be fulfilled or resolved within, or across major commands, the functional managers/development teams will work with the major command functionals and/or numbered Air Force commanders to resolve/determine the candidate's final placement. Note: Squadron command selection message will take place after the Developmental Education Designation Board results are released.

1.4.5.19.1. When the hiring official determines the candidates are not an acceptable match, the hiring official has the right of refusal. Alternate names may be requested from the entire list through the major command functional. The hiring authority must select an individual from the identified candidate list.

- 1.4.5.19.2. Will provide feedback to senior raters if their top two stratified squadron command nominees fall below the development team primary candidate cutline for the squadron command candidate list. This feedback will be provided within 21 business days after the completion of the development team meeting for the senior rater to provide mentoring upon public release. Feedback must include rationale and functional perspective. When the senior rater is not Air Force (i.e., joint) feedback will be provided to the individual's senior Air Force advisor. Feedback must be provided through direct, email or telephone contact.
- 1.4.5.20. Will validate and endorse self-nominated GS-14/15 candidates for Civilian Strategic Leadership Program.
- 1.4.5.20.1. Will identify and vector other highly-qualified GS-14/15 candidates in their functional community for Civilian Strategic Leadership Program participation. If vectored directly by the development team, candidates will have the ability to accept or decline Civilian Strategic Leadership Program consideration.
- 1.4.5.20.2. Will provide each Civilian Strategic Leadership Program select a suggested priority order for three categories of Civilian Strategic Leadership Program positions: joint, Headquarters Air Force, and installation-level positions.
- 1.4.5.20.3. Will identify a follow-on functional assignment for individuals currently in a Civilian Strategic Leadership Program assignment.
- 1.4.5.21. Will provide vector recommendations for civilians selected for resident developmental education programs during the first development team session following the annual public Developmental Education Designation Board release.
- 1.4.5.22. Will provide vector recommendations for civilians selected for career broadening developmental assignments at least 1 year prior to completion of the program.
- 1.4.5.23. Will provide individual career feedback to officers, civilians, senior raters, and commanders/directors.
- 1.4.5.24. In conjunction with assignment teams/career field teams, will review the results of their developmental vectoring to ensure Airmen are receiving meaningful and actionable feedback.
- 1.4.5.25. Will determine Developmental Education Designation Board nominations (civilian) and vectors (military), squadron command and squadron director candidate lists, Advanced Studies Group nominations, and AF/A1-approved functionally sponsored development programs. Major command vice commanders may request AF/A1 approval to conduct squadron command and squadron director panels separately from the development team sessions.
- 1.4.5.26. Will approve the civilian pool of highly qualified employees for assignment to Key Career Positions.
- 1.4.5.27. Will provide career field feedback to ensure opportunities and expectations are transparent to functional communities. At a minimum, development teams will provide a post-development team webinar/video teleconference to functional community personnel and leadership. The webinar/video teleconference and briefing notes will be posted to a website that is accessible to members of the functional community. At a minimum, webinar topics will include: Panel membership, number of individuals nominated/vectored for developmental education, number of developmental education slots available, number of individuals nominated for squadron command (officers), projected number of squadron command positions available, number of individuals selected as squadron command candidates, elements of a successful individual's record (e.g., stratification, awards/recognition, special selections and assignments).

1.4.5.28. Will review career field Air Expeditionary Force posturing and coding to ensure capabilities are visible and properly aligned in the Air Expeditionary Force.

1.4.5.29. Will consider cross-functional developmental and utilization requirements (see paragraph 1.3.5) when recommending vectors for their officers and civilians. Development Team chairs (in coordination with career field managers, and assignment teams/career field teams) must use cross-functional authority-provided input to ensure these cross-functional requirements are appropriately addressed during development team sessions. Finally, development teams should provide feedback to cross-functional authorities on the requirements cross-functional authorities provided prior to the development team session.

1.4.5.30. Will determine development team meeting dates and agenda items.

1.4.5.30.1. Development teams will meet at least once per year. Specific times will be determined by the functional manager but will align with the development team battle rhythm (see Attachment 9). RegAF Development Team meetings will be held at the Air Force Personnel Center and must be coordinated with AFPC/DP3. Waivers to this requirement must be submitted to AF/A1D for approval.

1.4.5.30.2. Will provide development team meeting dates to AFPC/DP2ND no later than 60 days prior to the start of each development team meeting. AFPC/DP3 will post development team meeting dates on the respective Development Pages in myPers.

1.4.5.30.3. At least once per year, will begin development team meetings with an overview of existing and projected requirements, to include existing 365-day deployment opportunities and existing and projected authorized strength.

1.4.5.31. Career field-specific force development efforts, to include automated systems designed to support functional force development initiatives, must be approved by AF/A1D. Appropriate major command and Air Staff functionals will report progress of such efforts to AF/A1D quarterly or as directed.

1.5. RegAF Enlisted Force Development.

1.5.1. Enlisted Functional Advisory Councils and Enlisted Development Teams Overview. Enlisted deliberate development is realized through the guidance, direction, and execution of Functional Advisory Councils and enlisted development teams. Through Functional Advisory Councils and enlisted development teams, enlisted career field leadership executes progression and succession planning to ensure there are sufficient personnel and skill sets available to accomplish the mission. The Functional Advisory Council also validates the career progression roadmap by reviewing career field requirements against career field inventory.

1.5.1.1. Progression planning is the responsibility of the career field managers and applies to all personnel in the career field. For most Air Force specialty codes, the progression plan developed through the Specialty Training Requirements Team and the Utilization & Training Workshop is sufficient to technically develop Airmen in the grades of E-1 through E-7. The career field manager utilizes input from the Functional Advisory Council and enlisted development team to develop and adjust the career field progression plan as needed.

1.5.1.2. Succession planning is the responsibility of enlisted development teams and entails identifying key developmental positions and key leadership positions. Succession planning typically happens at the E-7 through E-9 grades. Enlisted development team requirements beyond this must be validated by the Functional Advisory Council and approved by AF/A1D.

1.5.1.2.1. A key developmental position is used to complement leadership qualifications. These positions are utilized to provide experience necessary for key leadership positions that may not be gained through the normal assignment system. The number of key development positions identified should be sufficient enough to support the succession planning for career field key leadership positions. The goal is to maintain a bench of qualified personnel with the requisite experience for Air Force Personnel Center to fill key leadership position vacancies.

1.5.1.2.2. A key leadership position is defined as a unique, “no-fail” position with distinguishing responsibilities and education, training, experience, or performance requirements that cannot be realized through normal progression planning, and may not be prevalent in the majority of the career field. These positions are not to be confused with specially-designated functional positions such as key nuclear billets, although those billets may also be defined as key leadership positions. Positions designated as key leadership positions should represent only a small percentage of authorizations within any Air Force specialty code and grade to support the unique requirements of the career field.

1.5.2. Roles and Responsibilities.

1.5.2.1. The AF/A1 will:

1.5.2.1.1. Provide updated guidance on Functional Advisory Councils and enlisted development teams to functional authorities, functional managers and career field managers annually.

1.5.2.1.2. Provide force management and sustainment data as required by Functional Advisory Councils and enlisted development teams.

1.5.2.2. Air Force Chief Master Sergeants (CMSgt) Management Group (AF/A1LE) will:

1.5.2.2.1. Utilize enlisted development team vectors to fill identified CMSgt positions upon vacancy consistent with needs of the Air Force.

1.5.2.2.2. Publish Enlisted Quarterly Assignment Listing (EQUAL)-Plus advertisements for positions identified by career field managers through the enlisted development team process and approved by functional managers.

1.5.2.2.3. Vet volunteers against the enlisted development team vector list and select the most eligible volunteer. If there are no volunteers, the most eligible Airman on the enlisted development team vector list will be selected for the position. All discrepancies will be reconciled between the Chiefs' Group and career field manager. Position vectors remain valid until updated by career field managers through the enlisted development team process.

1.5.2.3. Functional Managers will:

1.5.2.3.1. Chair the Functional Advisory Council (unless delegated to a designated representative) and determine Functional Advisory Council membership. (T-1).

1.5.2.3.2. Provide guidance to Functional Advisory Council membership to ensure force development processes are in support of career field management and planning. (T-1).

1.5.2.3.3. Review the Functional Advisory Council findings and approve/disapprove recommendations as appropriate. The Functional Advisory Council recommendations should include whether an enlisted development team is warranted and needed to facilitate vector requirements. Recommendations to hold enlisted development teams and/or create additional Enlisted Quarterly Assignment Listings (EQUAL) Plus advertisements will be forwarded to the major command functional manager and functional assignment manager at Air Force Personnel Center if approved. (T-1).

1.5.2.3.4. Develop a charter for their respective enlisted development team and review annually, revising as appropriate. Charters will be submitted to A1DI for approval. If the Functional Advisory Council has recommended that an enlisted development team is not warranted, the functional manager will submit a Memorandum For Record stating justification to A1DI for approval. (T-1).

1.5.2.3.5. Chair the enlisted development team (unless delegated to a designated representative) and determine enlisted development team membership. The enlisted career field manager may execute the enlisted development team on behalf of the functional manager. (T-1).

1.5.2.3.6. Approve the removal or cancellation of assignment for Airmen ineligible for key leadership positions upon recommendation by the career field manager and Air Force Personnel Center. (T-1).

1.5.2.4. Enlisted career field managers will:

1.5.2.4.1. Consult Air Force Directorate of Force Management Policy (AF/A1P) and Air Force Directorate of Manpower, Organization and Resources (AF/A1M) on force management, force sustainment, and force requirement data analysis and execution. (T-1).

1.5.2.4.2. Identify the career field's key developmental positions and key leadership positions. (T-1).

1.5.2.4.3. Ensure duty titles within their career field are standardized in accordance with AF Handbook (AFH) 36-2618, The Enlisted Force Structure and the needs of their functional area. (T-1).

1.5.2.4.4. Facilitate the enlisted Functional Advisory Council. Summarize the Functional Advisory Council's recommendations, submit to the functional manager for consideration and, if applicable, forward enlisted development team approval to the functional assignment manager at Air Force Personnel Center. (T-1).

1.5.2.4.5. Ensure the Functional Advisory Council validates key developmental positions and key leadership positions and coordinates with the owning manpower office to code the positions with a D-prefix on the respective unit manpower documents. (T-1).

1.5.2.4.6. Assign developmental special experience identifiers to specific types of positions to vector enlisted Airmen, as appropriate. For example: major command functional manager – special experience identifier 1CA; Air Education and Training Command Training Manager – special experience identifier 1CB; Superintendent (Large Squadron) – special experience identifier 1CC; Superintendent (Small Squadron) – special experience identifier 1CD. These special experience identifiers will be utilized to identify Airmen vectored to key positions only, and are not associated with any special experience or training. Note: Special experience identifiers 1CA-1CO have been reserved specifically as developmental special experience identifiers, and will be updated and removed by AFPC/DPO. (T-1).

1.5.2.4.7. Schedule enlisted development teams, as necessary, to perform succession planning for key developmental positions and key leadership positions. (T-1).

1.5.2.4.8. Develop a vector worksheet and solicit information from enlisted Airmen being considered for enlisted development team vectoring, as needed. If used, career field managers should give Airmen reasonable time to complete and return the worksheet prior to the enlisted development team. Information may include the Airmen's developmental preferences and volunteer statement regarding assignments for which they may be qualified. (T-1).

1.5.2.5. Air Force Personnel Center (AFPC/DP2) will:

1.5.2.5.1. Coordinate with career field managers (and designated representatives) to provide access to personnel information necessary to conduct the enlisted development teams. (T-1).

1.5.2.5.2. Provide guidance, as needed, to career field personnel responsible for loading personnel data into the existing enlisted development team tool for use by enlisted development teams. Note: For enlisted development teams held in venues other than Air Force Personnel Center, on-hand technical support for the enlisted development team tool may not be available. Limited reach-back phone support will be available. (T-1).

1.5.2.5.3. Utilize enlisted development team vectors to fill identified D-prefix positions upon vacancy and/or career field manager/major command functional manager request, and in line with Air Force needs. Current enlisted development team vector lists will be consulted and the most eligible member will be selected. (T-1).

1.5.2.5.3.1. If there are no volunteers, the most eligible non-volunteer on the enlisted development team vector list will be selected for the position. Any discrepancies will be reconciled between the Air Force Personnel Center and the career field manager. Position vectors will remain valid until updated by career field managers through the enlisted development team process. (T-1).

1.5.2.5.3.2. If the enlisted development team vector list is exhausted and a vacancy occurs in a key leadership position, the Air Force Personnel Center will notify and work closely with the career field manager to determine the most effective means to fill the position. (T-1).

1.5.2.5.4. Coordinate with enlisted career field managers in situations where Airmen assigned or projected to key leadership positions are ineligible based on the position requirements. Final approval authority will rest with functional managers. (T-1).

1.5.2.6. Enlisted career field leadership at lower levels (i.e., flight chiefs or squadron superintendents) will:

1.5.2.6.1. Review and understand career field health and development goals. (T-1).

1.5.2.6.2. Review capabilities of local personnel inventory in comparison with career field goals. (T-1).

1.5.2.6.3. Utilize existing resources and the career field progression plan to develop Airmen. (T-1).

1.5.2.6.4. Maintain Unit Personnel Manpower Roster to ensure vectored members are assigned against the appropriate key developmental position/key leadership position. (T-1).

1.5.3. Enlisted Functional Advisory Councils. Functional Advisory Councils will prepare senior leaders with a comprehensive understanding of functional, cross-functional and institutional personnel requirements pertaining to a particular career field and advise on management strategies to sustain and improve capabilities. (T-1).

1.5.3.1. Functional Advisory Council Establishment. Functional Advisory Councils are established to determine the necessity for enlisted development teams. Functional Advisory Councils should convene at least annually and should make every effort to be held in conjunction with other career field meetings where a majority of the Functional Advisory Council and enlisted development team members will be in attendance. Alternatively, Functional Advisory Councils may be held virtually (Defense Connect Online, Video Teleconference, etc.). (T-1).

1.5.3.2. Functional Advisory Council Membership. The functional manager chairs the Functional Advisory Council (unless delegated) and determines membership. (T-1).

1.5.3.2.1. The Functional Advisory Council should include the career field manager and major command-level functional leadership as well as other key force development stakeholders. (T-1).

1.5.3.2.2. Certain cross-functional communities (e.g., Nuclear, Cyberspace, Test and Evaluation, and Acquisitions) have valid force development requirements involving Airmen assigned to functional Air Force specialty codes. Representatives from these communities may attend applicable Functional Advisory Councils with prior approval from the functional manager. (T-1).

1.5.3.3. Functional Advisory Council Responsibilities.

1.5.3.3.1. Will validate the career progression roadmap by comparing career field needs (requirements) against career field capabilities (inventory), providing a summary of projected requirements (to include grade, Air Force specialty code, experience level, and number of valid personnel authorizations that must be filled). (T-1).

1.5.3.3.2. Will identify developmental goals of the career field. Discussions should include topics such as cross-functional requirements review, releasing Airmen for opportunities outside the Air Force specialty code, preparing Airmen for institutional Air Force leadership positions, sustaining perishable skill sets, and the role of diversity within the career field. (T-1).

1.5.3.3.3. Will determine career field capability to satisfy identified requirements, meet developmental goals and perform the mission. Any capability gaps must be resolved through changes in progression plan, force management initiatives or enlisted development teams (for example, requiring 18 to 24 months practical experience in two separate core functional areas prior to an Airman receiving their 7-skill level). (T-1).

1.5.3.3.4. If Functional Advisory Council chair responsibility is delegated, the Functional Advisory Council provides the functional manager a recommendation for executing an enlisted development team. A recommendation to conduct an enlisted development team should only be provided if the Functional Advisory Council identifies either of the following conditions exist: (T-1).

1.5.3.3.4.1. Key developmental positions are necessary to provide Airmen specific education, training or experience which cannot be obtained through normal training/education, progression planning, or assignment processes. (T-1).

1.5.3.3.4.2. Key leadership positions (as defined in paragraph 1.5.1.2.2) require Airmen to have specific education, training, experience, or performance qualifications. (T-1).

1.5.3.3.5. If an enlisted development team is executed, the Functional Advisory Council should utilize enlisted development team feedback to identify existing and potential career field capability gaps. (T-1).

1.5.3.3.6. Will review Career Field Education and Training Plan for progression currency. (T-1).

1.5.3.3.7. Will communicate developmental goals to the career field through an updated career progression roadmap, and provide direction to career field leadership. Career field feedback can be accomplished through emails to major command functional managers for dissemination, hosting Webinars, or other similar process. (T-1).

1.5.4. Enlisted Development Teams. Enlisted development teams provide vectors based on projected (or anticipated) requirements by grade, level, and position type. A vector is an enlisted development team's collective recommendation for an experience level, training or education opportunity, or position type for an Airman's next or subsequent assignment. Enlisted development assess Airmen's qualifications and potential for future opportunities. Enlisted development teams must be executed in the most cost-efficient manner possible. This includes taking full advantage of remote capabilities, conducting enlisted development teams in conjunction with other scheduled meetings, and minimizing the need for Air Force Personnel Center support and resources to execute enlisted development teams.

1.5.4.1. Enlisted Development Team Establishment. An enlisted development team will only be established and executed upon recommendation by the Functional Advisory Council and approval by the functional manager. When scheduling enlisted development teams, consider the timing of promotion releases for the designated ranks. Prior to execution of the enlisted development team, the career field manager will determine the eligibility criteria (for all personnel within a given rank) and coordinate with the Functional Assignment Manager at the Air Force Personnel Center to identify eligible personnel that will be considered for vectoring. This allows the enlisted development team to review current force capabilities in comparison to the career field requirements.

1.5.4.2. Enlisted Development Team Membership. The functional manager chairs the enlisted development team (unless delegated) and determines the membership. Ideally, the enlisted development team would include the career field manager, major command-level functional leadership, and other career field strategic-level subject matter experts at the Senior Master Sergeant (SMSgt) and/or CMSgt levels. Exceptions to the rank/grade of voting members require a waiver from AF/A1D. The career field manager may chair the enlisted development team on behalf of the functional manager.

1.5.4.3. Enlisted development teams will understand career field policies, plans, programs, training, and actions affecting career field management and development, and will take these matters into consideration when vectoring. There are four distinct phases of enlisted development team operations: planning, preparation, execution, and post execution. The planning phase is where the enlisted development team pre-work begins. The career field manager initiates the process by delivering an official message to the eligible personnel in the respective career fields.

1.5.4.3.1. In the preparation phase of the enlisted development team, enlisted career field managers will:

1.5.4.3.1.1. Coordinate with the Air Force Personnel Center on the date and location of the enlisted development team. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.1.2. Coordinate with the Air Force Personnel Center to identify Airmen eligible for vectoring. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.1.3. Designate a career field representative to coordinate with the Air Force Personnel Center on all transactional matters (i.e., load personnel data into the development team tool). (T-1).

1.5.4.3.1.4. Solicit input from individuals and their leadership through vector worksheets, and/or review recommended “Future Roles” on the Enlisted Performance Report. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.2. During the execution phase, the enlisted development teams will:

1.5.4.3.2.1. Review the career field health and developmental goals. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.2.2. Review identified key developmental position and key leadership position requirements and qualifications. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.2.3. Review personnel records of identified eligible personnel. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.2.4. Vector qualified personnel for key developmental positions and key leadership positions based on requirements. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.2.5. If required, vector non-qualified Airmen to key developmental positions in order to obtain the experience necessary to qualify them for key leadership positions. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.2.6. Determine if there are enough qualified Airmen in the current inventory to meet projected vacancies in key leadership positions. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.3. During the post-execution phase, enlisted career field managers will:

1.5.4.3.3.1. Provide vectors to ARPC Directorate of Assignments (ARPC/DPA) and AF/A1LE. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.3.2. Provide feedback to eligible Airmen and their leadership. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.3.3. Establish a method to provide aggregate feedback to the entire career field regarding the enlisted development team process, career field goals and other appropriate information. Webinars have been very successful in delivering this feedback. Career field personnel should receive feedback and guidance in a deliberate and organized manner. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.3.4. Review the demographic makeup of the functional community and identify potential barriers to all Airmen reaching their highest potential. Diversity information may be obtained using the Interactive Demographic Analysis System within the Air Force Portal and/or the Retrieval Application Websites (RAW) application located on the Air Force Personnel Center Secure site (<https://w20.afpc.randolph.af.mil/AFPCSecureNet20/PKI/MainMenu1.aspx>). (T-1).

1.5.4.3.3.5. Conduct gap and barrier analyses to address any negative trends. Present this information post-development team to AF/A1 via the template provided in the annual force development guidance memorandum. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.3.6. In support of the post-development team brief to AF/A1, the Air Force Personnel Center will provide diversity statistics by career field to conduct required analysis, as provided in the annual force development guidance memorandum, for the current development team cycle. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.3.7. Develop/maintain enlisted development team minutes (required) to capture the overarching guidance, processes utilized, number of personnel vectored, and lessons learned from the enlisted development team. (T-1).

1.5.4.3.3.8. Provide the Functional Advisory Council feedback to drive any needed changes to the career field progression plan or sustainment strategy. (T-1).

1.6. Executing Air Force Reserve Force Development.

No internal moves affecting joint positions will be consummated without joint officer management service manager coordination. Headquarters Individual Reservist Readiness and Integration Organization and detachment commanders must include the career field manager/major command functional managers and ARPC/DPA on all force development manpower changes and actions.

1.6.1.7. Numbered Air Force Commanders. Numbered Air Force commanders provide oversight to respective reporting organizations and are the authority on all matters affecting Air Reserve technicians, traditional reservists and unit Active Guard and Reserve personnel. The career field managers/major command functional managers and assignment facilitators must coordinate on all key/command/joint deliberate assignment actions through Numbered Air Force commanders. Numbered Air Force commanders will include the career field managers/major command functional managers on all force development manpower changes and actions.

1.6.1.8. Reserve Functional Manager. Reserve functional managers are senior leaders within a career field appointed by the AFRC/CC. The Reserve functional manager provides day-to-day strategic-level direction and authority over specific functional community requirements and overall management of a functional career field. While they should maintain an institutional focus with regard to resource development and distribution, Reserve functional managers are responsible for ensuring their specialties are equipped, developed, and sustained to provide Air Force capabilities. Headquarters Air Force Reserve Command full-time directors fulfill the Reserve functional manager role to ensure consistency and continuity. They must appoint a career field manager and major command functional manager (the Reserve functional manager and career field manager may be the same) in writing to HQ AFRC/A1, with notification to ARPC/DPA.

1.6.1.9. Career Field Manager (officer)/Major Command Functional Manager (enlisted). The career field manager is appointed by the Reserve functional manager on behalf of the AFRC/CC and represents a single functional family. A career field manager/major command functional manager may be responsible for more than one specialty or multiple career field managers may be appointed within a single career field. Major command functional managers are appointed by the Reserve functional manager and are responsible for the management of designated enlisted career fields. The career field managers/major command functional managers provide strategic-level direction and are the overall authority on behalf of the Reserve functional manager for Reserve Air Force specialty code-specific requirements and serves as subject matter experts for career field specific guidance. They monitor the health and manning of their career fields and elevate concerns to Reserve functional managers. They manage command training for their career field and disseminate career field policies and program requirements throughout the command. AFRC/A1K will maintain a current list of career field managers/major command functional managers. Career field managers must be an O-6/GS-15 (or equivalent) and major command functional managers must be a CMSgt for enlisted personnel (any other grade requires a waiver by the owning Reserve functional manager). Specific responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

1.6.1.9.1. Maintaining career field pyramids outlining experience, education and training needed for positions.

1.6.1.9.2. Identifying position distribution by grade and status.

1.6.1.9.4. The career field managers will serve as chair for their officer development team, unless the Reserve functional manager appoints another career field senior leader.

1.6.1.9.5. Major command functional managers are responsible for career field messaging and notifying eligible members of upcoming development team schedules and requirements. Major command functional managers will serve as chair for enlisted development teams, determine panel membership, maintaining career field key personnel listing, and are also responsible for the release of post-board vectors.

1.6.1.10. Functional Area Manager. The functional area manager is appointed by the career field manager on behalf of the Reserve functional manager and should be the most highly knowledgeable and experienced person within the functional area and have the widest range of visibility over functional area readiness and capability issues. Functional area managers are accountable for the management and oversight of all personnel and equipment within a specific functional area to support operational planning and execution. Responsibilities may include, but not limited to:

1.6.1.11. Commanders and other leaders. Commanders, command chiefs, superintendents, supervisors/raters, program managers, career field managers/major command functional managers, and senior Reserve Citizen Airmen play a vital role in force development. Each individual (Reserve Component, RegAF or civilian) should understand and be committed to Total Force development. Individual assessment, mentorship, and feedback are essential elements in achieving a well-rounded workforce. Leaders will:

1.6.1.11.1. Ensure each Reserve Citizen Airman receives tactical-level mentoring to reach their full potential.

1.6.1.11.2. Educate, coach, and encourage individuals to participate fully in the force development process.

1.6.1.11.3. Understand the Air Force Reserve force development process, as well as the respective force development requirements and career path for the various functional communities.

1.6.1.11.4. Assist Reserve Citizen Airmen in assessing and fulfilling their developmental objectives and career goals utilizing tools such as career field pyramids and individual ribbon charts.

1.6.1.11.5. If a Reserve Citizen Airman submits Reserve-development plan, carefully consider his/her potential and provide honest assessment on the Reserve-development plan. This feedback should occur both before the development plan is submitted and after it has been reviewed by the development team (development teams balance the desires of the individual with the mission needs of the Air Force Reserve; therefore, career vectors may not match individual desires).

1.6.1.12. Force Management Council. The Force Management Council approves and provides overall policy guidance on education, training, and experience equating to career, force management, and development of Air Force Reserve personnel. As necessary, the council reviews the progress and metrics of fielded programs to ensure established objectives are satisfied. The Force Management Council consists of the following members: AFRC/CC (Chair), AFRC/CV, AFRC/CCC, 4 AF/CC, 10 AF/CC, 22 AF/CC, HQ AFRC/DS, AF/REP (Advisory), ARPC/CC (Advisory), HQ AFRC/A1 (Advisory), and HQ AFRC/FM (Advisory). Only primaries may attend unless otherwise approved by AFRC/CC.

1.6.1.13. Air Force Reserve Force Management and Development Board. The Air Force Reserve Force Management and Development Board reviews and/or develops proposed policy guidance on education, training, and experience equating to career force management and development of Air Force Reserve personnel. As necessary, the council reviews the progress and metrics of fielded programs to ensure established objectives are satisfied. Provides oversight and manages taskings and efforts of the Air Force Reserve Force Management and Development Working Group. The Air Force Reserve Force Management Development Board consists of the following members: AFRC/CV (Co-Chair), AF/RE-D (Co-Chair), HQ AFRC/DSD, AF/REG, AF/REP, AF/REX, FGC/CC, ARPC/CC, HQ AFRC/A1, HQ AFRC/FM, HQ AFRC A-Staff Directors, a wing commander from each numbered Air Force, and one wing command chief from each numbered Air Force serving as the numbered Air Force representatives for a 2-year tour. Attendance is for primaries only.

1.6.1.14. Air Force Reserve Force Management and Development Working Group. The Force Management and Development Working Group is the entry point for all initiatives on education, training, and experience equating to career force management and development of reserve personnel. As necessary, the Force Management and Development Working Group reviews their progress and metrics of fielded programs to ensure established objectives are satisfied. The Air Force Reserve Force Management and Development Working Group consists of the following members: HQ AFRC/A1K (Chair), HQ AFRC/A1C, HQ AFRC/A1L, HQ AFRC/A1M, HQ AFRC/FMD, AF/REG Deputy, AF/REP Deputy, Chief of Air Force Reserve Manpower Division, HQ Readiness and Integration Organization (RIO)/CC, ARPC/DPA, three career field manager representatives and three major command functional manager representatives.

1.6.1.15. Individual. Each Reserve Citizen Airman is responsible for determining his/her availability for development opportunities. It is incumbent upon each individual to learn about force development processes, seek guidance from leaders and other mentors and determine goals/desires for their own development. The Reserve-development plan is the tool to communicate their desires regarding their level of force development participation. Officers complete the Reserve Officer Development Plan and enlisted complete the Reserve Enlisted Development Plan located on the virtual Personnel Center. Air Reserve technicians interested in civilian development may complete an Individual Development Plan located on the myPers webpage and follow the guidance for civilian force development in this instruction. Reserve Citizen Airmen may choose not to participate in the formal force development process for any cycle with the understanding they may miss out on education, training and career guidance from career field senior leaders.

1.6.1.15.1. When possible, final submission of a Reserve-development plan is through the first O-6 or higher in the rating chain. For individual mobilization augmentees, detachment commander is acceptable if O-6 equivalent in the member's chain of command does not have access to the virtual Personnel Center. Enlisted members follow the recommended routing of two-level coordination (rater/rater's rater).

1.6.1.15.2. Failure to submit a Reserve-development plan within the last 12 months prior to a member's respective development team session, and according to deadlines established by ARPC/DPA, will remove Reserve Citizen Airmen from consideration for that development team cycle. Failing to meet a development team can result in reduced opportunities.

1.6.2. Force Development. The purpose of Air Reserve Force Development, as an element of Total Force Development, is to create a reserve force that is responsive to Air Force requirements and managed as an integral part of the Total Force. The goal is to produce Reserve Citizen Airmen who possess the tactical expertise, operational competence and strategic vision to lead and execute the full spectrum of Air Force missions. The purpose of force development is to:

1.6.2.1. Maximize capabilities of all Reserve Citizen Airmen to ensure the Air Force Reserve Command can provide the right leader at the right time for air, space and cyberspace power in support of Air Force requirements. The methods applied to the force may differ slightly by career field as developmental methods are tailored to suit unique career field requirements and the availability of Reserve Citizen Airmen.

1.6.2.2. Ensure opportunities and expectations are transparent to all Reserve Citizen Airmen.

1.6.2.3. Develop a pool of qualified candidates for strategic senior leadership positions.

1.6.2.4. Deliberately connect all education, training, and experience opportunities (to include developmental education, assignments, deployments) to best leverage the continuum of learning that builds and enhances cross-functional, foundational and occupational competencies that meet Air Force Reserve needs in and across career fields.

1.6.2.5. Create standardization to the fullest extent possible among all career fields to ensure a consistent force development program.

1.6.2.6. Enhance Reserve Citizen Airmen's understanding of their role in force development, using their inputs regarding desires for developmental education, future assignment opportunities, and provide feedback to inform and shape expectations.

1.6.2.7. Leverage information technology to provide useful tools to facilitate/enhance personnel decision processes and to maximize the capabilities of all Reserve Citizen Airmen.

1.6.3. Air Force Reserve Officer.

1.6.3.1. Identified key, command and joint duty assignment list positions will be managed by the command and the appropriate career field manager. Each career field manager in coordination with career field senior leaders, must review their career field key, command and joint duty list annually to determine if changes are needed. Along with the career field managers, senior leaders in each career field determine "key" positions within their career field, which would provide the experiences necessary to develop Reserve Citizen Airmen and equip them with the right capabilities to potentially become Total Force senior leaders. Command positions referenced on the key/command/joint list are all O-6 commander positions determined by organization manpower requirements. Numbered Air Force commanders may identify O-5 squadron commander billets as key and staff recommendations via the established process for approval by AFRC/CV and /or AF/RE-D. Joint duty assignment list positions are determined by the joint staff and are considered key experiences for development. Eligible candidates for key/command/joint positions include individuals listed on Reserve development team Key Personnel Lists, in-resident developmental education students, sitting O-6 commanders, Reserve Command Screening Board, and Reserve Brigadier General Qualification Board selects.

1.6.3.2. Assignments into key/command/joint positions will have a three-year tour length and a focused rotational movement. This turnover ensures breadth of experience in conjunction with the depth reservists obtain within their core Air Force specialty. The combination of depth and breadth in education, training and experience will ensure the Air Force Reserve has Reserve Citizen Airmen ready to take leadership roles at the strategic/enterprise levels in the Air Force Reserve, Air Force or Department of Defense. Attaining overall force development goals requires career management to achieve the following objectives:

1.6.3.3. Will deliberately connect individual education, training and experience opportunities to build competencies that meet Air Force Reserve needs within career fields.

1.6.3.4. Will ensure the Air Force Reserve invests the right education, training, and experience in the right individual at the right time within the Reserve Citizen Airmen construct by developing personnel processes and utilizing competitive selection, to support this objective.

1.6.3.5. Will enhance Reserve Citizen Airmen, supervisors, and commanders understanding of their roles in managing reserve careers through the development team process and provide feedback to inform and shape individual expectations.

1.6.3.6. Officer Force Development. Tactical, operational and strategic level opportunities are common to all career fields. Officers must establish solid experience at the tactical and operational levels in a primary career field. At the field grade level, reserve officers should explore gaining a breadth of experience via assignments, unique opportunities, education and training. While a majority of officers will choose to remain at the tactical/operational level providing depth of expertise and leadership in a particular field, it is imperative that some continue to increase their development at the more strategic levels. A small percentage of officers across career fields will have the opportunity to apply for deliberately managed key/command/joint positions with levels of responsibility and leadership at the higher end of the operational arena and strategic level. These individuals will have increased opportunities for breadth of experience within Department of Defense, Air Force, Air Reserve Component, and joint levels.

1.6.3.6.1. Officer career paths have historically been depicted in career field pyramids, indicating upward progression and implying fewer types of jobs exist at senior levels. Career pyramids provide an overview of professional development throughout an officer's career and a general career model with specific details for each Air Force specialty.

1.6.3.6.2. Career field pyramids reinforce that there is no "set path" to senior leadership, but there are fundamental building blocks or pillars. Civilians should reference AFMAN 36-606, Civilian Career Field Management and Development for career field specific pyramids.

1.6.3.6.3. Career field pyramids reflect developmental education opportunities. Developmental education opportunities include both appropriate-level military education and specialized education that develop officers either within their career field or prepare them for an assignment outside of their core career field.

1.6.3.7. Assignment Facilitators. Assignment facilitators reside at the Air Reserve Personnel Center and are the primary conduit between the career field managers, development team panels and the Reserve Citizen Airmen.

1.6.3.7.1. The primary purpose of assignment facilitators is to coordinate with the career field managers in developing and facilitating the Air Force Reserve officer career field-specific force development execution actions. These actions include: planning and execution of development teams, conducting post-development team actions, field communications regarding assignment opportunities, general career counseling, and Reserve-development plan assistance and management. Assignment facilitators will:

1.6.3.7.1.1. Provide individual Reserve Citizen Airmen with general career counseling to include Reserve-development plan assistance, assisting career field managers with executing development team goals, general information on assignment opportunities in line with development team vectors.

1.6.3.7.1.2. Review and track key/command/joint assignment opportunities, prepare vacancy announcements, send to pre-determined population, and collect packages. Upon close out, assignment facilitators will consolidate applicant packages, compare to development team Key Personnel Listing results, and prepare listings of qualified officers for career field managers to provide to the hiring authority and other senior leaders as required.

1.6.3.7.1.3. Provide information and coordinate support to the career field manager for development team events. Required information includes a general overview of the type of utilization and/or development opportunities so development teams can provide realistic and actionable vector recommendations. Assignment facilitators will ensure all vectors are presented to career field managers/major command functional managers within the prescribed timeline (see Table 1.1.).

1.6.3.7.1.4. Identify officers who are eligible to meet a given development team and prepare materials to present to the development team, as needed.

1.6.3.7.1.5. Identify measurable data to be analyzed and tracked to ARPC/DPA.

1.6.3.7.1.6. Assist development team chair/career field managers with maintaining development team charters. Maintain Key Personnel Listings, awareness of projected key/command/joint position changes, and key/command/joint position descriptions.

1.6.3.7.1.7. Disseminate career field information on behalf of the career field manager.

1.6.3.7.1.8. Assist career field managers with maintaining a Potential Reassignment List (officers only) and notifying O-5s and below no later than 6 months prior to term limit expiration. Assignment facilitators will assist members with reassignment opportunities.

1.6.3.7.1.9. Develop and provide career field managers with email messages and other communication requirements to forward to career field members.

1.6.3.7.1.10. Conduct telecon with key players (career field managers, major command functional managers, ARPC/DPA, Board Operations) to review potential eligible pool to discuss the impact of standard filter waivers 151 days prior to the development team.

1.6.3.7.2. Assignment facilitators may be required to execute enlisted development teams as determined by ARPC/DPA Superintendent.

1.6.4. Air Force Reserve Enlisted.

1.6.4.1. Nominative and key/strategic E-9 positions. The Senior Enlisted Management Division (AF/REG) in coordination with AFRC/CCC, provides oversight of Air Force Reserve senior enlisted personnel assigned to key/strategic E-9 positions at the major command level and above. These key/strategic positions provide exposure, experience and continued growth for our senior enlisted leaders within the Total Force environment. The positions are typically classified as Active Guard and Reserve or Individual Reserve billets and carry a 3-year term limit. Key/strategic positions include all major command, Office of the Secretary of Defense, joint, agency, Field Operating Agency, Direct Reporting Unit, and select E-8/E-9 positions. Eligible candidates for key/strategic positions include individuals listed on the Reserve development team Key Personnel List.

1.6.4.1.1. The intent is to fill key/strategic E-9 vacancies utilizing the Command E-8/E-9 Key Personnel List. The Key Personnel List is established annually by the Command E-8/E-9 Development Team and maintained by AF/REG. If selected, members are placed on the E-8/E-9 Key Personnel List for a period of 1 year. In addition to the E-8/E-9 Key Personnel List, the major command functional managers will establish and manage separate functional area Key Personnel Lists. The major command functional manager Key Personnel List will be used for positions requiring functional expertise.

1.6.4.1.2. Nominative opportunities are received from AF/A1LE in the form of a Request for Nomination. When determining qualified applicants for nominative positions, AF/REG, in coordination with AFRC/CCC, will review eligible candidates from the E-8/E-9 Key Personnel List and contact the member(s) to confirm availability for a career broadening opportunity. If the member is interested in the opportunity, AF/REG will coordinate nomination package(s) through AFRC/CCC and AF/RE for approval. Upon approval, the nomination package(s) will be forwarded to AF/A1LE for distribution to the hiring authority. The nominee may or may not be contacted for an interview. If selected, the member will be placed in an Active Guard and Reserve or extended active duty status for the duration of the assignment annotated in the request for nomination. AF/REG will assist member with the assignment process through ARPC/DPA.

1.6.4.1.3. For key/strategic positions funded by Air Force Reserve Command, the hiring authority will complete necessary candidate reviews, determine a selectee, notify ARPC/DPA of their selection. ARPC/DPA will contact the member, make the official job offer and execute the transactional portion of the assignment. Note: Candidates on any E-8 or E-9 Key Personnel List should be given strong consideration for key/strategic opportunities. Functional area Key Personnel List members should also be given strong consideration for those jobs that require functional area expertise.

1.6.4.1.4. If a member of the E-9 Key Personnel List applies for a key/strategic vacancy and a non-Key Personnel List member is selected, the hiring authority must apply for waiver approval through AF/REG to the approval authority. If there are no E-9 Key Personnel List applicants for an E-9 key/strategic vacancy, and a non-Key Personnel List E-8/E-9 is selected over E-8 Key Personnel List applicants, the hiring authority must apply for a waiver approval through AFRC/CV (T-1). Waivers with written justification must be provided to AF/REG who will coordinate the request with the major command functional manager, AFRC/CCC, the approval authority, and AF/RE as needed. If approved, the non-Key Personnel List member may be hired. If the request is disapproved, the hiring authority must reconsider the pool of applicants, or re-announce the vacancy.

1.6.4.1.5. Enlisted key/strategic positions are reviewed and validated biennially by major command functional managers, AFRC/CCC and AF/REG.

1.6.4.2. Enlisted Force Development. The focus of enlisted force development is to develop Airmen by integrating skills, abilities, goals and desires with the needs of Air Force Reserve Command in correlation with AFH 36-2618, The Enlisted Force Structure. Enlisted force development provides deliberate and organized career development initiatives while maintaining the Reserve Citizen Airmen culture and the integrity of all reserve categories. These initiatives coincide with education, training and experience to meet the operational and strategic challenges of the Air Force Reserve. AFRC/CCC will oversee the enlisted force development program through AFRC/A1. AFRC/A1K will manage the enlisted force development program and advise the AFRC/CCC. AF/REG will manage the senior enlisted nominative positions process. AF/REP will coordinate with AF/A1D ensuring Air Force Reserve requirements are considered when Air Force policy is written or changed and in coordination with AFRC/A1, will author the necessary policy guidance for the Air Force Reserve. Senior leaders must be committed to developing the enlisted force utilizing a qualified candidate pool to meet current and future leadership requirements through robust assessment, mentorship, and feedback. Senior leaders are also entrusted to educate, mentor, and encourage Reserve Citizen Airmen to fully participate in the force development process.

1.6.4.2.1. Enlisted Reserve Citizen Airmen are encouraged to make a strong personal commitment toward professional and personal development beyond formal schools offered. They are also encouraged to embrace responsibility for ensuring continued growth for themselves and others so they are ready for the next level.

1.6.4.2.2. Major command functional managers will appoint Air Force specialty subject matter experts for their respective career fields. Each subject matter expert will research and identify their professional developmental opportunities beyond the formal Air Force schools and will maintain a complete list of educational opportunities and provide it to Reserve Citizen Airmen at all levels.

1.6.4.2.3. Major command functional managers maintain the list of key/strategic positions and review projected vacancies to ensure appropriate placement of individuals. Major command functional managers and/or AF/REG work with hiring authorities and senior leadership to evaluate candidates and make assignment recommendations.

1.6.4.2.4. AF/REG will manage enlisted Active Guard and Reserve and Individual Reserve key/strategic positions at the major command level and above. In coordination with major command functional managers, AFRC/CCC, AF/RE and AFRC/CC, AF/REG will deliberately manage personnel included in the annual E-8/E-9 Key Personnel List as well as those currently residing in a key/strategic position. Incumbents in key/strategic positions not selected to the Key Personnel List should strive to complete the necessary requirements, increasing the likelihood for selection to positions of greater responsibility.

1.6.4.2.5. The Command E-8/E-9 development team will be held at ARPC/DPA to review records and the Reserve-enlisted development plans for E-8s and E-9s across the command. It is the member's responsibility to ensure his/her desires and goals are identified on his/her Reserve-enlisted development plan and submitted to ARPC/DPA by the established deadline.

1.6.4.2.6. Enlisted Development Teams. Enlisted development teams will be held biannually for each enlisted career field to review E-7 through E-9 records; however, smaller career fields may review E-6 and below records during the enlisted development team with HQ AFRC/A1KO approval. Typically, major command functional managers will hold enlisted development teams at ARPC; smaller career fields (<250 records) may request to hold their enlisted development team at Air Force Reserve Command through AFRC/A1KO.

1.6.4.2.7. Enlisted Facilitators. Air Reserve Personnel Center-based enlisted facilitators are the primary conduit between AFRC/A1K, major command functional managers and development team panel members. The primary purpose of enlisted facilitators is to prepare and execute enlisted development teams and the Command E8/E9 development team.

1.6.4.2.8. Reserve Enlisted Force Development Panel. The Reserve Enlisted Force Development Panel provides oversight, takes action and makes recommendations on the deliberate development and utilization of enlisted Citizen Airman. Reserve Enlisted Force Development Panel membership and guidelines are outlined in the Reserve Enlisted Force Development Panel Charter. The panel is chaired by AFRC/CCC and co-chaired by the Chief of Enlisted Force Development (HQ AFRC/A1KO). The Reserve Enlisted Force Development Panel will meet three times per year at various venues with additional meetings as requested by the chair.

1.6.5. Deliberately Managed Positions. While RegAF assignments are deliberate and normally term-limited, most reserve assignments are not. It is imperative for Reserve Citizen Airmen to gain depth in their career field to provide a solid developmental foundation. To meet the needs of Total Force development, the Air Force Reserve must ensure certain assignment opportunities are deliberately managed and have standardized turnover within the Citizen Airman construct. In addition to depth, broadening through assignments is essential to developing our future force. The four pillars of Air Force Reserve senior leader development are assignments in: command, joint positions (to include joint experience and/or joint duty assignment list), National Capital Region, and above wing level.

1.6.5.1. Key/command/joint positions provide qualified Reserve Citizen Airmen access to senior leader roles. Further, to foster strong succession planning, it is essential the Air Force Reserve standardize turnover for all key/command/joint and key/strategic positions. This will ensure the success of Air Force Reserve mission sets and the continued development through the right experiences, within all reserve categories. (Reference AFI 36-2110 for key/command/joint assignment execution details).

1.6.5.2. Key/command/joint position assignments. All key/command/joint positions are limited to 3-year terms and will be advertised by the appropriate assignment organization (AF/REG for O-6s and ARPC/DPA for O-5 and below). Reserve Citizen Airmen who are assigned to a key/command/joint position will be put on a potential reassignment list. These Airmen will be notified by AF/REG if occupying an O-6 key/command/joint position, or they will be notified by ARPC/DPA if occupying an O-5 or O-4 key/command/joint position of their term expiration in accordance with the signed key/command/joint Statement of Understanding at least 6 months prior to the end of their term. HQ AFRC/A1C manages assignment actions for Air Reserve technician positions and coordinates with the appropriate assignments organization.

1.6.5.3. Overages are not authorized for key/command/joint positions; however, during reassignments there may be overlap of the incoming and outgoing personnel not to exceed 90 days.

1.6.5.4. O-6 eligibility. Officers on their career field Key Personnel List, Reserve Command Screening Board list, Reserve Brigadier General Qualification Board list, or sitting commanders assigned to O-6 commander positions are considered high-potential officers and are qualified to apply for key/command/joint positions. For O-6 command positions an officer must be on the Reserve Command Screening Board or a sitting commander in an O-6 command position to apply or be considered.

1.6.5.5. O-5 and below eligibility. Officers on their career field Key Personnel List or in-resident developmental education students are considered high-potential officers and are highly encouraged to apply for key/joint positions. Final approval authority for assignment into an O-5 or below key/joint position is the hiring authority.

1.6.5.6. In order to assign a non-high-potential officer to a key/command/joint position, a waiver must be submitted in writing through AF/REG for O-6s and ARPC/DPA for O-5 and below. Final approval authority for assignments into O-6 key/command/joint positions is AF/RE-D and/or AFRC/CV, and final approval authority for assignments into O-5 and below key/command/joint positions is the appropriate wing commander or director.

1.6.6. Identification of Key, Command, Joint Positions (Officers).

1.6.6.1. Career field managers and career field senior leaders identify key positions and provide updates annually to HQ AFRC/A1K. Career field managers will provide detailed position descriptions, to include RegAF inputs as appropriate. The command and joint-accrediting positions are designated/coded on the key/command/joint career management product. AF/RE-D and AFRC/CV, with the assistance of career field managers, identify key O-6 billets. Command positions referenced in this document are all O-6 command positions (line and non-line O-6 commander positions) as identified on the unit manning document. Some squadron commander and operations officer positions will be used for force development, but those will be determined by career field managers, appropriate senior leaders and identified as “key” then route via the key position approval process to AFRC/CV and/or AF/RE-D. Joint-accrediting positions are all positions listed on the annual joint duty assignment list publication.

1.6.6.2. AF/REX validates that projected joint duty assignment list billets are valid manpower authorizations.

1.6.6.3. AF/REG maintains the O-6 key/command/joint career management product. AFRC/A1K, career field managers, and assignment facilitators maintain the O-5 and below key/command/joint career management product.

1.6.6.4. Career field managers must review and revalidate their key/command/joint career management product annually. AFRC/A1K will help facilitate this process. Any changes to key/command/joint positions must be identified on an AFRC Form 106, Manpower Change Request, and identified to AFRC/A1KO for coordination/approval. Career field managers are responsible for managing assignments for key/command/joint career positions in coordination with AF/REG, ARPC/DPA, Headquarters Individual Reservist Readiness and Integration Organization, and selecting officials.

1.6.6.5. Career field managers in coordination with AF/REG and assignment facilitators review projected vacancies for key/command/joint billets to ensure appropriate advertisement, selection, and placement of individuals. Career field managers will work with assignment facilitators (O-5 and below) and/or AF/REG (O-6s) and senior leadership to evaluate candidates and make assignment recommendations; input from the development team will be considered.

1.6.6.6. Once leadership makes a decision and it is approved, career field managers, assignment facilitators (O-5 and below), and AF/REG (O-6) will work with the appropriate assignment authority to complete the action. Assignments will be reviewed for Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act exception and Air Reserve technician career impact.

1.6.7. Identification of Key/Strategic Positions (Enlisted).

1.6.7.1. Major command functional managers review and identify key/strategic positions annually to AFRC/A1K. They provide detailed position descriptions, to include position requirements (i.e., Community College of the Air Force, skill level and experience).

1.6.7.2. AF/REG and HQ AFRC/A1K maintain the list of key positions and position descriptions.

1.6.7.3. Major command functional managers review projected vacancies for key/strategic positions to ensure appropriate placement of individuals. Major command functional managers and/or AF/REG work with hiring authorities and senior leadership to evaluate candidates and make assignment recommendations.

1.6.7.4. Once leadership makes a decision and it is approved, major command functional managers or AF/REG work with the appropriate assignment authority who will complete the action.

1.6.8. In-Residence Developmental Education Student Assignment Facilitation (officers). The Air Force Reserve selects students to attend in-residence developmental education based on a number of factors, including potential to serve as senior leaders. Many students recommended for in-residence developmental education and selected by the Reserve Developmental Education Designation Board to attend will receive a follow-on assignment that uses the applicable skills garnered during the developmental education experience and compliments their rank/grade and Air Force specialty code. Some students may return to their previous assignment. Air Force Reserve selects who accept the quota will be required to sign a statement of understanding acknowledging the student outplacement program guidelines.

1.6.8.1. The Student Assignment Facilitation Panel considers inputs provided by commanders and students, the appropriate assignment vacancies, hiring authorities, as well as the advice of the applicable career field managers and group representatives.

1.6.8.2. The Student Assignment Facilitation Panel will be co-chaired by AF/RE-D and AFRC/CV and will determine when and how often the panel will meet. Student Assignment Facilitation panel membership includes: career field managers who have career field members attending in- residence developmental education, AF/REG/REP, AFRC/A1/A1C/A1K/A1M, ARPC/CC/DPA, numbered Air Force commanders and Headquarters Individual Reservist Readiness and Integration Organization, at a minimum (T-1). The Air Reserve Personnel Center will host the panel.

1.6.8.3. The Student Assignment Facilitation Panel develops a list of recommended matches between the developmental education student and a projected vacancy. Assignments must adhere to HAF directives and Air Force Reserve Command guidance on requirements for placement after completion of specialized developmental education programs (fellowships, School of Advanced Air and Space Studies, other advanced studies schools, and National Defense University schools such as Joint Advanced Warfighting School, Eisenhower School, and National War College which will require a joint duty assignment list tour upon graduation to the greatest extent possible).

1.6.8.4. The Student Assignment Facilitation Panel will primarily pursue/recommend assignments which match the participation status (part-time/full-time) the student held when applying/selected for developmental education unless change in status is required by the outplacement requirements of the school the select is attending or the needs of Air Force Reserve Command.

1.6.8.5. The program intent is to assign developmental education students to positions which maximize the return on investment from in-residence education. In some cases, returning developmental education students to original unit upon completion of developmental education may be appropriate.

1.6.8.6. Hiring authorities must consider student outplacement into their organization or provide justification for disapproval to the AFRC/CV. (T-1).

1.6.8.7. Students are offered/notified of assignments through the normal hiring procedures. The Student Assignment Facilitation Panel will inform AFRC/CC of panel results and student outplacement.

1.7. Air Force Reserve Development Teams.

1.7.1. Overview. The career field manager (officer) and major command functional manager (enlisted) administer force development objectives through the development teams. Development teams play a critical role in developing officers and enlisted to support current and projected mission capabilities. An important purpose of the development teams is to allow career field leaders the opportunity to assess their human capital inventory. Development teams also provide data which must be used for developmental processes (i.e., deliberate developmental education recommendations, assignments, etc.). Developmental teams provide guidance on continuing education, training, and experience opportunities to individual Reserve Citizen Airmen. Development teams at the numbered Air Force-level and below are prohibited. (T-1).

1.7.2. Roles and Responsibilities.

1.7.2.1. Reserve Development Teams. Development teams serve as the Air Force Reserve “front line” in force development. The development team goal is to assemble senior leaders within respective career fields for the purpose of providing actionable feedback and guiding each Citizen Airman to reach their potential. Development teams will:

1.7.2.1.1. Vector personnel toward appropriate education, training, experience, and other opportunities that ensure appropriate timing and development to meet the needs of the Air Force Reserve and the Citizen Airman.

1.7.2.1.2. Assess the career field pool by scoring records based on established criteria and scales, and produce Key Personnel Lists and in-residence developmental education and professional development recommendations.

1.7.2.1.3. Identify the education, training, and experiences appropriate for Reserve Citizen Airmen within each functional community based on current and future requirements. This includes education, and training opportunities funded by the Air Force or pursued as self-development by all Reserve Citizen Airmen. Development teams provide feedback to career field managers/major command functional managers and individuals, and update career field pyramids as necessary.

1.7.2.1.4. Understand career field policies, plans, programs, training and actions affecting career field management and development when making decisions and provide actionable vectors. Development teams must also take into consideration valued skills acquired through years of experience in his/her core Air Force specialty code, civilian experiences, and career broadening in a non-core special duty. These experiences provide future leaders with the critical thinking and problem solving skills to make informed decisions.

1.7.2.1.5. Review the career field pyramid for their respective career field and modify as appropriate. The career field pyramid illustrates development levels and corresponding windows of opportunity for education and training to help focus Reserve Citizen Airmen’s expectations and give them a roadmap. Development teams use career field pyramids to make informed vector recommendations and assist career field managers/major command functional managers with updating this guidance based on career field dynamics as well as current and projected personnel requirements (see Attachment 7).

- 1.7.2.1.6. Development teams will consider cross-functional development and utilization requirements when vectoring Reserve Citizen Airmen. Cross-functional offices of primary responsibility will identify their requirements to career field managers/major command functional managers no later than 90 days prior to each scheduled development team session if opportunities exist.
- 1.7.2.1.7. Development teams will establish a Key Personnel List by reviewing and scoring Airmen records. Once scores are consolidated via the database, a cut line is determined. Through intentional discussion and review, panel members validate the cut. The Key Personnel List is comprised of individuals with high potential and is used by key/command/joint and key/strategic hiring authorities and may be referenced for other developmental/force development decisions and hiring decisions. High potential individuals are maintained on key personnel lists broken out by grade. ARPC/DPA is responsible for posting and maintaining the officer Key Personnel Lists. All Key Personnel Lists will be posted on a secure site. Career field managers/major command functional managers are responsible for maintaining Air Force specialty code-specific Key Personnel Lists.
- 1.7.2.2. Prior to career field development teams, an overview of existing and projected requirements should be accomplished by the career field manager and assignment facilitator. Requirements include, but are not limited to, identifying vacancies/projected vacancies and deployment opportunities.
- 1.7.2.3. A member can be vectored for recommendations for next or subsequent assignments and/or career broadening developmental assignments. Standardized vectors are utilized for all career fields. Additional career field specific vectors may be added. To ensure vectors are aligned with appropriate development and progression, career fields must maintain current and comprehensive career field pyramids and ensure dissemination to the career field.
- 1.7.2.4. ARPC/DPA will work with career field managers/major command functional managers and AFRC/A1KO to develop the development team calendar year schedule and finalized no later than July of the previous year. Dates are posted on myPers.
- 1.7.2.5. ARPC/DPA is responsible for execution and facilitation of pre-development team, development team, and post-development team events. Development teams requiring only one panel may be executed at Air Force Reserve Command or virtually. Requests to execute at Air Force Reserve Command or virtually must be staffed through AFRC/A1K by 30 June of the calendar year prior to the next development team cycle and reflected appropriately on the annual development team calendar. Additional meetings outside of the development team (e.g., board of directors, executive working groups, conferences, briefings, etc.) are the sole responsibility of the visiting team. A minimum of one action officer per panel is recommended (suggested grades: O-3 through O-5 for officer development teams; E-1 through E-6 for enlisted development teams).
- 1.7.2.6. To ensure consistency across career fields and grow a pool of competitive Reserve Citizen Airmen with capabilities to perform in tactical, operational, and strategic environments standardized filters will be imposed. Individuals who do not meet eligibility filter requirements (filters) may not be scored or vectored. Some development teams may include additional filters unique to their career field. Reserve Citizen Airmen are encouraged to complete their Reserve-development plan by the respective development team suspense date. Air Force Reserve members may only meet one development team per calendar year, unless approved by both career field managers.

1.7.2.7. All Air Force Reserve officers will be vectored by their core ID. Primarily, officers will meet their annual development team based on their core ID. If an officer does not have a core ID, or if they belong to the pseudo-core 16F/P, then they will meet the Special Duty/Non-Core development team. Enlisted members will meet their biannual functional development team, and may meet the Command E8/E9 development team.

1.7.2.8. Board Operations. Responsible for building each career field database prior to the development team to include standardized filters and vectors along with career field-specific filters and vectors. Board operations personnel provide technical expertise. Additionally responsible for collecting data identified by AFRC/A1K to be analyzed and tracked. Board operations personnel will assist with the development of development team metrics and summary. Provides career field managers unit manning documents and unit manpower personnel records for their respective functional career field upon request.

1.7.2.9. Development Team Chair. Development team chair responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

1.7.2.9.1. Determining development team board composition (see paragraph 1.7.3.).

1.7.2.9.2. Ensuring at least one action officer per panel is selected and scheduled for the development team.

1.7.2.9.3. Ensuring the career field pyramid is reviewed and modified, as appropriate, during the development team.

1.7.2.9.4. Providing ARPC/DPA, or designated representative, any career field-specific guidance for development team panel members, including but not limited to, Air Force Specialty Code (AFSC)-specific filters.

1.7.2.9.5. Ensuring vectors are returned to the ARPC/DPA for distribution to the career field in a timely manner (see Table 1.1.).

1.7.2.9.6. Ensuring development team Charter Guidelines (see Attachment 16) are developed and/or reviewed annually in conjunction with career field development team.

1.7.2.9.7. Participating in Air Force Reserve career field manager forum.

1.7.2.9.8. Reviewing their career field key/command/joint list annually to determine if changes are needed. Along with the career field managers, senior leaders in each career field determine the “key” positions within their functional community. These positions will provide the experiences necessary to develop Reserve Citizen Airmen and equip them with the right capabilities to potentially become strategic senior leaders within the Air Force Reserve. Key positions identified must be vetted through the appropriate organizations to the AFRC/CV for final approval via the appropriate tasking tool.

1.7.2.9.9. Reviewing career field manning on a regular basis to ensure all funded positions are visible via the appropriate management tool (such as the Reserve Management Vacancy System) allowing Reserve Citizen Airmen to understand opportunities within every career field.

1.7.2.9.10. Reviewing and validating advanced academic requirements for professional specialties, as well as other professional continuing education needed to meet Air Force requirements. If desired, career field managers/major command functional managers may request a waiver to the standardized filters. The waiver request for officer development teams must be coordinated through AFRC/A1KO to AFRC/CV for approval. The waiver requests for enlisted development teams must be coordinated through AFRC/A1KO to AFRC/CCC for approval. Requests must be forwarded to ARPC/DPA no later than 90 days prior to the development team start date.

1.7.3. Reserve Development Team Membership.

1.7.3.1. Development Team Chair (officer). The career field manager normally chairs the development team; however, the Reserve functional manager may appoint a career field senior leader in lieu of the career field manager. The development team charter reflects the development team chair and membership (see Attachment 17). If the Reserve functional manager appoints someone other than the career field manager as the development team chair, they must provide the name and justification to AFRC/A1K and notify ARPC/DPA. (T-1).

1.7.3.2. Development Team Chair (enlisted). The major command functional manager normally chairs the development team; however, AFRC/A1KO may appoint a senior leader in lieu of the major command functional manager. AFRC/CV or designated representative will act as the senior advisor and AFRC/CCC or designated representative will chair the Command E8/E9 development team. (T-1). A grade waiver template letter is provided at Attachment 15.

1.7.3.3. Development Team Membership. Development team composition will be determined by the career field manager/major command functional manager. When possible, all Air Reserve Forces participation categories should be included. The development teams may include subject matter experts, observers, or action officers. Non-Air Force Personnel are not authorized to be team members. All development team members should serve in a grade/position consistent with the developmental decisions. In addition to the development team chair, voting members of the development team may include key force development stakeholders such as senior leadership from the functional community that best represents the population. (T-1).

1.7.3.3.1. The career field manager/major command functional manager are highly encouraged to include RegAF members and Air National Guard members. They may include sitting numbered Air Force commanders, wing commanders/directors, group commanders, command chiefs, and other designated key personnel as voting members.

1.7.3.3.2. Ideally, development teams should have no more than 50 percent member turnover from one development team to the next. Development teams should have a variety of representatives from career field managers, assignment facilitators, subject matter experts, or career teams (designated by the career field manager/major command functional manager) and/or civilian career field teams (designated by AFRC/A1C) as appropriate, to ensure standardization and provide administrative and logistical support.

1.7.3.4. Enlisted Command (E-8/E-9) Enlisted development team board membership. The enlisted development team chair determines board composition. In addition to the enlisted development team chair, voting members of the enlisted development team may include key E-9 force development stakeholders from across the command (should be on the Key Personnel List). When possible, all Air Reserve Forces participation categories should be included in the enlisted development team board member composition. The enlisted development team chair is highly encouraged to include members of the RegAF and the Air National Guard. This construct is replicated depending on the overall workload and enlisted development team member availability.

1.7.4. Reserve-Development Plan Guidance. The Reserve-development plan is the ultimate tool for Reserve Citizen Airmen to influence the development of their own careers based on their life events and civilian experiences; officers complete the Reserve-officer development plan and enlisted complete the Reserve-enlisted development plan. Title 5 civilians assigned to Air Force Reserve Command organizations and Air Reserve Technicians may complete an individual development plan and be seen by their civilian development team which is hosted at the Air Force Personnel Center. (For additional guidance see Chapter 2 of this instruction.) Development teams begin a new cycle annually. The cycle provides Reserve Citizen Airmen with a fresh venue to update their goals and/or restrictions. Each individual should communicate their personal desires for that year to help development teams determine the most appropriate career opportunities when matched with coordinator recommendations. The force development process hinges on this document to match individual preferences to the needs of the Air Force Reserve.

1.7.4.1. The Reserve-development plan is located within virtual Personnel Center via myPers. At a minimum, the Reserve-development plan should be completed by the member 45 days prior to the scheduled development team. Failure to complete the Reserve-development plan during the prescribed timeline could exclude the individual from the development team process that cycle.

1.7.4.2. Reserve Citizen Airmen should clearly communicate their career goals in the Reserve-development plan. Goals are divided as near-, mid- and long-term. A well-communicated goal should indicate desire for in-residence education, change of assignment (location/status), command, joint duty, or other key developmental opportunities.

1.7.4.3. Impact of Reserve-development plan. Reserve-development plan is the main force development communication tool that allows functional managers and other senior leaders to assess an individual's career path and plan for future opportunities. Development teams can provide a range of senior leadership recommendations based on the Reserve Citizen Airmen's and the coordinator's Reserve-development plan input.

1.7.4.4. Reserve-development plan utilization. Any/all portions of the Reserve-development plan (individual input, senior leader comments, and development team feedback) may be made available to other boards that require information contained in the Reserve-development plan.

1.7.5. Reserve Development Team Operations (face-to-face or virtual). There are four distinct phases of development team operations: planning, preparation, execution, and post execution. Operating procedures for executing development teams are maintained and updated by ARPC/DPA. Open communication between the career field manager/major command functional commander, AFRC/A1K, AF/REP, and ARPC/DPA is essential to aid in planning development team events and in identifying issues/potential conflicts discovered in relation to a development team event. AFRC/A1K should identify measurable data to be analyzed and tracked by ARPC/DPA.

1.8. Executing Air National Guard Force Development (Applies To Air National Guard).

1.8.1. Overview. The vision for Air National Guard Force Development is to create an Air National Guard, which is responsive to local, state/territory/district, and Air Force requirements while simultaneously expanding our pool of future leaders. It is paramount to remember the Air National Guard is predominantly a traditional drill-status force and Air National Guard men and women share their military career with their civilian employers and families.

1.8.1.1. The overall goal of Air National Guard force development is to provide deliberate and organized professional development, tailored to meet Air National Guard and Air Force needs, within the context and culture of the Air National Guard. This is accomplished by developing Airmen with the necessary skills, knowledge and experience to lead and execute current and future mission capabilities.

1.8.1.1.1. The need to provide individuals with joint experiences, higher headquarters level opportunities, Air Expeditionary Force deployments, special duty assignments, and additional supervisory experiences has been identified by the Air National Guard.

1.8.1.1.2. The Air National Guard force development Concept of Operations and State Force Development Toolkit are available on the Air National Guard force development web site at: <http://www.ang.af.mil/careers/forcedevelopment> to provide basic elements and options to enable each State, Territory, and District to tailor and execute a force development plan to offer Airmen educational and developmental opportunities that meet the needs. Each State, Territory, District, and the Statutory Tour Program must have a force development process and a career management process to evaluate and mentor Airmen assigned to their state (T-1). Since the Air National Guard does not employ a centralized assignment system, force development is conducted by each State, Territory and the District. The Air National Guard Readiness Center centrally manages Guardsmen's force development in the Statutory Tour program.

1.8.1.2. Force Management requires deliberate planning and must be designed to meet Air Force and Air National Guard needs, and also accommodate individual goals and objectives.

1.8.1.2.1. Each State, Territory, and District will have a process to identify positions and opportunities that provide the competencies necessary to become strategic leaders. The work of identifying these positions across the various programs in the Air National Guard and establishing detailed management processes belongs to each State, Territory, and District Joint Force Headquarters, wing, and Statutory Tour Program. At the direction of the Director, Air National Guard, National Guard Bureau Human Resources (NGB/HR) will maintain a national-level program to provide opportunities for Air National Guard members to complete an Air National Guard Headquarters and/or a major command assignment. The State, Territory, and District selection processes are necessary to validate candidates for this national-level program and indicate recommended follow-on assignments. (T-1).

1.8.1.2.2. To facilitate planning for our members, a structured timeline within the Air National Guard Force Development program is essential. Solicitation for nominations must be timed to coincide with availability of opportunities, whether they are educational or experiential. This timeline must also coordinate with programs outside the influence of the Air National Guard (i.e., intermediate developmental education/senior developmental education class start/completion dates, fiscal year, Air Expeditionary Force cycles, etc.). A calendar of events is published on the Air National Guard force development website.

1.8.2. The Force Development construct. The force development program consists of: a) centralized management within each State, Territory, District, and the statutory tour program; b) development teams focused on competency development within an organizational unit or functional group; and c) direct communication with individual Air National Guard members. Each of these components is described below along with examples of available support tools.

1.8.2.1. Centralized Management. To implement force development each State, Territory, and District, and Statutory Tour program will have a central body—Force Development Council—that accounts for opportunities and resources under its control.

1.8.2.1.1. The Force Development Council has the authority to centrally manage the development of Air National Guard Airmen under its control. It will identify education or assignment vectors for Airmen utilizing structured criteria such as career gates, prior education/assignments, and developmental potential.

1.8.2.2. Competency Development. Each State, Territory, and District Force Development Council may also be supported by force development teams which focus on the development of a subset of Air National Guard members. The subset may be defined by organization or command structure (i.e., a wing or a group) or by function or classification (i.e., rated officers, enlisted maintainers, medical specialty, company grade officers, Junior Non-commissioned officers). Development teams can be established at each wing, geographically separated units, or where needed to provide individuals with developmental vectors. Establishing development teams is one of the first and most powerful steps an organization can take to create the culture change necessary to enact force development.

1.8.2.2.1. Development teams are composed of supervisors and/or commanders who collectively review Individual Development Plans and provide developmental vectors to the Airmen under review. The developmental opportunities available to members within a specific functional area or command structure will vary from team to team. These opportunities include, but are not limited to, attending professional education courses, broadening or special duty assignments, and future deployments.

1.8.2.2.1.1. The focus of the development team is to assess each member's potential and deliberately plan a vector to promote and develop competencies to make the member an effective future Air National Guard leader.

1.8.2.2.1.2. Development teams are also a forum to identify the strengths, competencies, and transferrable skillsets a member brings from non-military, civilian experiences. As an organization, it is important to acknowledge the strength of the skillset traditional members bring to the organization through their civilian experience.

1.8.2.2.1.3. The establishment of development teams allows visibility into military and civilian talents at a local level where the knowledge can be used to enhance the organization and further develop the member.

1.8.2.2.2. Force development teams differ from Force Development Council, which focus on small groups, by ensuring that every member in the organization is aware of, and able to participate in, force development from the beginning to the end of their career.

1.8.2.2.3. Force development teams can use tools, like the career field pyramids to facilitate necessary one-on-one communication by laying out a potential career development path to provide development vectors.

1.8.2.3. Individual Communication. The foundation of force development is direct communication between the supervisor/commander and the Airman regarding the member's goals and aspirations. Each individual's goals and potential are unique. Therefore, the force development process needs to allow for varying paths and "on/off ramps" to account for changes in the Airman's availability to pursue a developmental opportunity.

1.8.2.4. Tools. Tools are available to assist States/Territories/Districts establish or renew force development programs in the Air National Guard Force Development Concept of Operations and on the Air National Guard force development web site: <http://www.ang.af.mil/careers/forcedevelopment>. This site also facilitates unit-to-unit sharing of best practices and lessons learned.

1.8.2.5. Functions. Force Development Councils and development teams should meet at least once per year, or more often as necessary. Force Development Council and development team members should work together to ensure proper execution of the force development construct and will:

1.8.2.5.1. Be aware of the Air Force and Air National Guard overall mission requirements at the local, State, Territory, District, and national level.

1.8.2.5.2. Oversee personnel development to meet functional community and broader Air Force and Air National Guard institutional requirements, while balancing the desires of the individual.

1.8.2.5.3. Highlight civilian competencies which are transferable to Air National Guard competencies.

1.8.2.5.4. Understand an individual's developmental preferences.

1.8.2.5.5. Balance individual desires and availability with institutional requirements.

1.8.2.5.6. Take into account commander/senior rater recommendations and assessments of developmental potential.

1.8.2.5.7. Evaluate and recommend individual Airmen for special developmental opportunities to include developmental education.

1.8.2.5.8. Make recommended "development vectors" for individual Airmen designed to optimize their potential skills development over time.

1.8.2.5.9. Provide developmental feedback to Airmen and commanders/supervisors using a Development Plan.

1.8.3. Developmental Education. Education is a vital investment in our people and force development recognizes the necessity of providing the right education to the broadest possible group of Airmen, both to develop them individually and to meet Air National Guard requirements.

1.8.3.1. As States, Territories, and Districts implement force development, the selection process will be structured to encourage senior raters, commanders, and command chiefs to identify and nominate their best candidates who have indicated the desire to attend in-residence schools.

1.8.3.2. State, Territory, and District Joint Force Headquarters and the National Guard Bureau Force Development Councils will validate candidates and indicate recommended follow-on developmental assignments. As developmental education opportunities are limited, all future leaders may not be able to attend traditional in-residence developmental education programs.

1.8.4. Joint-Duty Assignments. Force Development Councils and development teams must ensure Air National Guard members vectored for joint-duty assignment consideration are of sufficient quality to achieve promotion rates in accordance with joint promotion objectives outlined in 10 USC § 662.

1.8.5. Program Measurements and Metrics. Force development requires a quantitative form of measurement to capture gains (or losses) on resources invested in program execution. The Air National Guard Force Development Program Manager has established baseline measures of Air National Guard participation levels and achievement of specific force development indices. Periodic measurement and trend analysis will be used to evaluate program implementation and goal attainment.

1.8.5.1. The identification of individual member achievement of the force development indices provides an initial list of high potential or competitive Airmen within the Air National Guard organization. The creation of State, Territory, and District Force Development Councils capable of vetting or endorsing high potential Airmen will enhance the value of this force development product and assist in directing resource use.

1.8.5.2. The development of State, Territory, and District measures of success or criteria is encouraged. Criteria may be objective or subjective as determined by the needs of the individual State, Territory, and District or unit.

1.8.6. Communication and change management plan. The Air National Guard Force Development Program Manager has implemented a robust force development communication plan to inform Airmen, commanders, and supervisors of changes that will occur with the Air National Guard force development program. The communication plan is designed to ensure a coordinated, well-timed strategy for internal and external use by states and territories.

1.8.6.1. All levels of leadership must be committed to force development. (T-1).

1.8.6.2. Citizen Airman's time is respected by Air National Guard leadership.

1.8.6.3. There is a clear vision for developing Airmen to become the tactical, operational, and strategic leaders of tomorrow.

1.8.6.4. It is understood that Force Development Concept of Operations drives a process and attitude change throughout the Air National Guard.

1.8.6.5. Air National Guard leadership should be prepared to implement and facilitate these changes.

1.8.6.6. A platform is provided that allows different avenues for Air National Guard members to balance the needs of the unit, their family and their employer.

1.9. DSE. DSE will be identified and tracked to aid Airmen in attaining competencies.

1.9.1. DSE criteria. Use the following criteria as a guide to validate an experience as a DSE:

1.9.1.1. An immersive hands-on experience requiring active participation/involvement in positions, events, or activities leading to the accumulation of knowledge or skill that can be utilized to meet mission requirements.

1.9.1.2. An experience outside the scope of Air Force formal training that has been validated as a potential means for Airmen to obtain specific foundational, occupational, or joint competencies that not everyone is required to receive or encounter.

1.9.1.3. Leads to gaining or increasing the proficiency level of an Air Force foundational or occupational competency.

1.9.1.4. Produces stable, consistent, and reliable results each and every time.

1.9.1.5. Involves one or more types: Joint, Interagency, Multinational, Intergovernmental, Nongovernmental, Experience with Industry, Occupational, and Institutional.

1.9.1.6. The Force Development Command (AETC) will:

1.9.1.6.1. Develop and implement DSE processes and procedures.

1.9.1.6.2. Provide a system to capture and catalog DSE opportunities; and document and track the competencies gained at the appropriate proficiency level.

1.9.1.7. AETC/A3 will:

1.9.1.7.1. Review and validate DSE opportunities submitted by organizations or individuals using a formal process.

1.9.1.7.2. Record validated DSEs in the current AF learning catalog.

1.9.1.7.3. Provide DSE competency assessment tools.

1.9.1.7.4. Update AF members on the current process to obtain credit for DSEs accomplished in the AF system of record.

1.9.1.8. Functional Authorities/Total Force Career Field Managers will submit DSE opportunities to AETC/A3 for validation and inclusion in the current AF learning catalog.

1.9.1.9. Air Force Personnel Center (AFPC) or appropriate personnel servicing agency will coordinate with Development Teams and/or an Airman's leadership/supervisor to assign personnel to applicable DSEs.

1.9.1.10. Commanders/Supervisors will:

1.9.1.10.1. Submit DSEs through the designated medium for validation and inclusion in the current AF learning catalog. (T-1).

1.9.1.10.2. Provide feedback to the DSE providers, organizers, points of contact, and AETC/A3 to ensure that DSEs are up-to-date and are meeting required developmental results. (T-1).

1.9.1.10.3. Use assessment tool provided to determine the competency and proficiency level attainment on a member they supervise under a sponsored DSE. (T-1).

This chapter outlines the selection, qualifications and training required to become a unit career advisor. Guidance in this chapter applies to Air National Guard personnel.

2.6.2. Qualifications and Selection.

2.6.2.1. Unit Commanders should base the number of appointed unit career advisors on the size of the squadron or flight the individuals will service. A good starting point is one unit career advisor for every 50 enlisted members. Unit commanders will review the nominee's qualifications and ensure all requirements are met prior to selection of a unit career advisor. Selection will be made with a letter of appointment from the unit commander. Appointment letters will be maintained with the local retention office manager.

2.6.2.2. The unit career advisor must be a noncommissioned officer, and should have a minimum of four years' time-in-service. First sergeants and recruiters will not be assigned the duties of a unit career advisor.

3.2.1.23.4. Coordinate appropriate medical profile documentation to their respective wing training manager and obtain approval to attend developmental education school no later than 35 days prior to class start date. Provide the appropriate fitness or medical profile documentation to the respective school upon arrival. (T-2).

3.4. Total Force Enlisted Professional Military Education.

3.4.1. Architecture. The Air Force enlisted professional military education program is central to the continuum of learning that spans an enlisted Airman's career. The continuum of learning is a deliberate process of combining education, training and experiences to prepare Airmen to perform in progressively demanding supervisor, leader and manager positions in dynamic operational environments. The continuum of education is a subset of the continuum of learning and is the foundation for the development of all enlisted education programs along common guiding principles.

3.4.1.1. Enlisted professional military education contributes to developing Air Force Foundational Competencies and occupational competencies vital to the knowledge and skills required for performing assigned tasks and responsibilities at the appropriate level.

3.4.1.2. Enlisted professional military education develops critical and analytical thinking skills which enable innovative and creative leadership solutions and skilled employment of air, space, cyberspace and multi-domain power in the conduct of war and contingency operations.

3.4.2. Enlisted Professional Military Education Continuum of Learning. The enlisted professional military education continuum of learning deliberately integrates developmental opportunities through education, training and experiences to build and enhance Foundational Competencies in individual enlisted Airmen.

3.4.3. Enlisted Professional Military Education Continuum of Learning Model. The enlisted professional military education continuum of learning model identifies the education, training and experiences to organize, train and equip enlisted Airmen through Foundational Competencies and occupational competencies across the continuum of learning. The intent is for Airmen to have a continuum of education, training and experiences throughout the span of their career to ensure deliberate development and continued growth.

3.4.3.1. Airmanship training and leader development courses identify competency- and outcome-based education and training for enlisted Airmen. These opportunities deliberately develop Airmen with specific competencies to meet present and future roles and responsibilities through deliberate education, training and experiences across leadership competencies at the tactical, operational and strategic levels.

3.4.3.2. Distance learning courses identify competency- and outcome-based education and training for enlisted Airmen. They better prepare Airmen for leadership responsibilities by expanding their leadership and managerial capabilities, as well as their perspective of the military profession.

3.4.3.3. Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education. Airman Leadership School, Noncommissioned Officer Academy, Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy and Chief Leadership Course include curriculum with declarative, procedural and comprehensive knowledge required to establish a foundation for continued leadership and supervisory experience and development. These courses provide educational opportunities to achieve higher proficiency levels leading Airmen to meet present and future mission demands.

3.4.4. Regular Air Force Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education.

3.4.4.1. Airman Leadership School. Airman Leadership School is a primary level in-resident force development opportunity that meets all enlisted professional military education requirements beginning at the three-year time in service mark. Completion of Airman Leadership School is required for senior airmen selected for staff sergeant before their promotion increment month and all eligible senior airmen prior to departure to remote tours to Osan, Kunsan, Thule, Sota Cana, Ghedi, Buchel, Kleine Brogel, Volkel, Livorno and Lajes, deployments and extended temporary dutys (45 days or more). All senior airmen and staff sergeants must complete Airman Leadership School before they are assigned as a reporting official (supervisor). (T-1).

3.4.4.2. Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Noncommissioned Officer Academy is a primary level in-resident force development opportunity and completion is required prior to promotion to MSgt (see AFI 36-2502) based on grade, priority and eligibility. Technical Sergeants (TSgt) must attend Noncommissioned Officer Academy before 2 years time-in-grade. (T-1).

3.4.4.3. Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy is an intermediate and senior level in-resident force development opportunity and is required for promotion to SMSgt (see AFI 36-2502). SMSgts must attend Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy before 1 year time-in-grade. Note: Senior noncommissioned officers who complete a resident sister service equivalent course or Joint Special Operations Forces Senior Enlisted Academy will receive enlisted professional military education credit for completing resident Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Graduates of sister service and joint equivalent courses may opt, based on their priority level and on a space-available basis, to attend Air Force Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. (T-1).

3.4.4.4. Chief Leadership Course. Chief Leadership Course is a senior level in-resident force development opportunity and is required for all newly selected CMSgts. CMSgts must attend Chief Leadership Course before 1 year time-in-grade. CMSgts who do not complete this course will not be offered Senior Leader Development opportunities, which are managed by AF/A1LE. CMSgts must complete this course before becoming a Command Chief. (T-1).

3.4.5. Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education Selection.

3.4.5.1. The Thomas N. Barnes Center for Enlisted Education, Dean of Academic Affairs provides AFPC/DP3DW with an enlisted professional military education class schedule no later than May of each year. The schedule accommodates the established Total Force production targets that ensure a deliberate and methodical process to schedule Airmen to meet present and future mission demands.

3.4.5.2. Selection for regular Air Force Airmen for resident enlisted professional military education attendance is based on grade, date of rank, priority and eligibility. Note: Airmen selected for resident enlisted professional military education will formally accept, decline or request deferment within 5 duty days of notification. (T-3).

3.4.5.3. Once notified of selection, Airmen are required to attend resident enlisted professional military education. Airmen may not defer attendance except for valid mission, medical or humanitarian reasons. Deferment requests require justification, wing command chief coordination and concurrence and wing commander (or equivalent) approval with a courtesy copy to the MAJCOM enlisted professional military education manager. (T-3).

3.4.5.4. If selected, Airmen serving in overseas assignments of 15 months or less will be deferred from resident enlisted professional military education attendance until tour completion. Airmen serving in overseas assignments of 16 months or longer may attend resident enlisted professional military education if they have at least 120 days remaining in the overseas area upon graduation. AFPC/DP3DW may waive these requirements, if the unit commander and MAJCOM enlisted professional military education manager approve. (T-2).

3.4.5.5. Retainability. Retainability for regular Air Force Airmen attending resident enlisted professional military education is 6 months for Airman Leadership School and 1 year for Noncommissioned Officer Academy, Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy and Chief Leadership Course.

3.4.6. Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education Scheduling. Scheduling enlisted professional military education for regular Air Force personnel is a responsibility of AFPC/DP3DW unless otherwise noted.

3.4.6.1. Airman Leadership School. The local Airman Leadership School commandant schedules Airman Leadership School resident attendance. Commandants build an annual schedule shortly after the staff sergeant promotion release and ensure the scheduling process adheres to the following priorities for Airman Leadership School:

3.4.6.1.1. Priority 1: All staff sergeants and staff sergeant selects. If seats are limited, use rank, time in grade, time in service and promotion sequence number to determine scheduling priorities. Additionally, give priority to SSgt selects or SrA with 36 months or more time-in-service selected for deployments and short-tour/remote assignments to Osan, Kunsan, Thule, Sota Cana, Ghedi, Buchel, Kleine Brogel, Volkel, Livorno and Lajes. The losing base must schedule members selected for short-tour/remote assignments prior to permanent change of station to minimize Airmen's time away from their primary duties and remain mission focused while serving at these locations.

Note: Applicable Air Reserve Component Airmen are scheduled in coordination with MAJCOM enlisted professional military education managers, and are considered Priority 1 within their allocations provided by AF/A1DL. (T-3).

3.4.6.1.2. Priority 2: Prioritize senior airmen with the most time in grade and a pending assignment or deployment ahead of other Airmen.

3.4.6.1.3. Priority 3: Eligible Air Force and Department of Defense and other civilians, sister service E-4s, approved international students and local civilians. Department of Defense civilians may take enlisted professional military education as consistent with the Air Force civilian development policy.

3.4.6.1.4. To the extent possible, distribute Priority 2 and 3 students throughout the year to maximize diversity in the classroom.

3.4.6.2. Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Selection and scheduling is accomplished by AFPC/DP3DW for Noncommissioned Officer Academies based on grade, priority and eligibility. Below is the order of priority for Airmen attending resident Noncommissioned Officer Academy:

3.4.6.2.1. Priority 1: MSgts and MSgt selects (based on date of rank, total active federal military service date, pay date and date of birth).

3.4.6.2.2. Priority 2: TSgts with two or more years time in grade by seniority (based on date of rank, total active federal military service date, pay date and date of birth).

3.4.6.2.3. Priority 3: TSgts up to two years time in grade by seniority (based on date of rank, total active federal military service date, pay date and date of birth).

3.4.6.2.4. Priority 4: Staff sergeants selected for promotion to TSgt by seniority (based on date of rank, total active federal military service date, pay date and date of birth).

3.4.6.2.5. Priority 5: Eligible Air Force and Department of Defense and other civilians, sister service, and international students on a space available basis.

3.4.6.3. Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Selection and scheduling is accomplished by AFPC/DP3DW based on grade, priority and eligibility and is driven by the SMSgt promotion release. Below is the order of priority for Airmen attending resident Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy:

3.4.6.3.1. Priority 1: SMSgts by seniority (based on date of rank, total active federal military service date, pay date and date of birth).

3.4.6.3.2. Priority 2: MSgts selected for promotion to SMSgt (based on date of rank, total active federal military service date, pay date and date of birth).

3.4.6.3.3. Priority 3: MSgts (non-selects to SMSgt) based on promotion board score (highest to lowest).

3.4.6.3.4. Priority 4: Eligible Air Force and Department of Defense and other civilians, sister service and international students on a space available basis.

3.4.6.4. Chief Leadership Course. Selection and scheduling is accomplished by AFPC/DP3DW based on grade, priority and eligibility and is driven by the CMSgt promotion release.

3.4.6.4.1. Priority 1: CMSgts by seniority (based on date of rank, total active federal military service date, pay date and date of birth).

3.4.6.4.2. Priority 2: SMSgts selected for promotion to CMSgt (based on date of rank, total active federal military service date, pay date and date of birth).

3.4.7. Declinations, Deferments and Waivers.

3.4.7.1. Declinations. When selected for resident enlisted professional military education, regular Air Force Airmen can decline attendance. Declinations are done with prejudice and signed declination statements must be submitted within 5 duty days of notification. Eligible Airmen declining resident enlisted professional military education will be ineligible for promotion and participation in the High Year Tenure Extension Program (see AFI 36-2110). Note: Eligible Airmen should contact their local Military Personnel Section and career assistance advisor before submitting a declination. (T-3).

3.4.7.1.1. Eligible Airmen who intend to decline resident enlisted professional military education attendance may request an extension of the 5 duty day time period if needed. Provide justification and the calendar date of the additional time required. Forward extension requests to your local Military Personnel Section. Unnecessary delay or failure in submitting this request and/or the statement below will result in a loss of declination opportunity.

3.4.7.1.2. Eligible Airmen who decline enlisted professional military education will sign and submit the following statement to the Military Personnel Section: "I decline to attend the (Airman Leadership School, Noncommissioned Officer Academy, Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy or Chief Leadership Course) class starting on (class start date), for which I have been selected/scheduled. I understand that this declination renders me ineligible for promotion, and participation in the High Year Tenure Extension Program." Upon receipt of this statement and AF Form 964, PCS, TDY, or Training Declination Statement, the Military Personnel Section will update the with the appropriate promotion eligibility code and notify AFPC/DP3DW to remove Airmen from class. The statement and AF Form 964 will be filed in the Airman's Automated Records Management System (see AFI 36-2110). (T-1).

3.4.7.2. Deferments. Airmen selected for resident enlisted professional military education may defer attendance (or be non-recommended) for compelling non-routine mission, humanitarian, medical or other reasons without prejudice upon approval of the Airman's wing commander (or equivalent). Deferments must be kept to an absolute minimum and require wing command chief coordination and concurrence, and wing commander (or equivalent) approval. (T-3).

3.4.7.2.1. Mission Deferment. An Airman is indispensable to the mission and the mission will be severely degraded without their presence. No other individual could stand in or temporarily replace the selected Airman.

3.4.7.2.2. Medical Deferment. Medical conditions that render an Airman ineligible for course attendance or requires on-going treatment, including mental health counseling and Alcohol and Drug Abuse Prevention and Treatment (ADAPT) program completion that would be detrimental if interrupted. Enlisted professional military education commandants determine the Airman's eligibility based on the course's ability to accommodate the Airman's medical condition and an overall assessment of their ability to meet course objectives.

3.4.7.2.2.1. Permanent Physical Profile. Airmen who are on a permanent physical restrictive profile that have been returned to duty following a Medical Evaluation Board are cleared to attend resident enlisted professional military education.

3.4.7.2.2.2. First sergeants and commanders will ensure Airmen coordinate with their local medical providers and/or health promotion staff to engage in the fullest physical training possible within their AF Form 422, Notification of Air Force Member's Qualification Status/AF Form 469, Duty Limiting Condition Report restrictions during the time allotted for human performance objectives.

3.4.7.2.3. Humanitarian Deferment. Unusually stressful family or personal situation or an emergency with an immediate family member as similarly defined under humanitarian reassignment guidance (see AFI 36-2110).

3.4.7.2.4. Other Deferments or Non-recommendations. Unit commanders may request deferment or non-recommendation of an Airman's resident enlisted professional military education attendance based on extenuating circumstances. Examples may include poor duty performance (not covered under control roster actions but detrimental to the academic environment), poor fitness standards or military image, pending disciplinary action, under investigation, etc.

3.4.7.2.5. Deferment Coordination.

3.4.7.2.5.1. Airman Leadership School Deferments. Coordinate unit commander-approved deferment requests through the respective chain of command, wing command chief for coordination and wing commander (or equivalent) for approval. Send wing commander-approved deferments to Airman Leadership School no later than 30 days prior to class start date for action. The Airman Leadership School files approved deferments and notifies the Airman's unit of the approved deferment. (T-3).

3.4.7.2.5.2. Noncommissioned Officer Academy/Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy/Chief Leadership Course Deferments. Coordinate unit commander-approved deferment requests through the respective chain of command, wing command chief for coordination and wing commander (or equivalent) for approval. Send wing commander-approved deferments for resident courses to AFPC/DP3DW (with a copy to the Airman's MAJCOM enlisted professional military education manager) as soon as possible, but not later than 10 days prior to the class start date unless extenuating circumstances exist. (T-2).

3.4.7.3. Waivers.

3.4.7.3.1. Human Performance Waivers. Enlisted members possessing an AF Form 422 identifying temporary physical restrictions are ineligible to attend resident professional military education without professional military education commandant approval or an approved waiver from AF/A1DL. Enlisted Airmen must have a current passing FA in order to attend resident professional military education. (T-1). Exceptions are granted in accordance with AFI 36-2905, Chapter 4 and allowed if approved by the commandant. Exception: Members medically exempt, deployed, and unable to complete a FA prior to attendance may attend with commandant approval. Enlisted Airmen who are pregnant or post-partum (within their 12-month post-partum FA deferment period) may attend resident professional military education with approval from their PCM or OB/GYN in accordance with the procedures outlined in paragraph 3.2.1.22.2.

3.4.7.3.1.1. If an Airman on a permanent profile cannot execute any of the physical requirements of the Human Performance lesson plan (including those identified for the modified fitness group), they are to be exempted from those physical requirements.

3.4.7.3.1.2. This waiver will ensure equal opportunity for all Airmen to participate in professional development programs commensurate with scheduling procedures outlined in this instruction.

3.4.7.3.2. Promotion Eligibility Waivers. Promotion eligibility waivers will be in accordance with current promotions policy. Promotion eligibility waivers are for members who cannot complete the required resident enlisted professional military education due to circumstances beyond their control (e.g., remote tours, deployments, medical issues, personal hardship, Exceptional Family Member Program, etc.).

3.4.7.3.2.1. Airmen with approved promotion eligibility waivers must attend enlisted professional military education (in the next higher grade) as soon as possible without negatively impacting the mission or member.

3.4.7.3.2.2. Airmen with approved waivers serving on remote tours or extended deployments, or attending lengthy formal training or retraining, will attend enlisted professional military education within 60 days and no later than 180 days of completing the remote tour, deployment, or training (also see AFI 36-2502). (T-1).

3.4.8. Sister Service Enlisted Professional Military Education.

3.4.8.1. Sister Service enlisted professional military education opportunities include senior noncommissioned officer equivalent courses within the Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard. Each are approved courses that fulfill equivalent resident credit for Air Force senior noncommissioned officer and CMSgt enlisted professional military education. Sister service graduates may attend Air Force Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy and Chief Leadership Course on a space-available basis and if coordinated with AFPC/DP3DW. Eligibility is based on the individual academy's requirements and does not follow Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy or Chief Leadership Course eligibility criteria as defined herein.

3.4.8.2. TSgt and below sister service resident enlisted professional military education courses are not comparable to Air Force enlisted professional military education courses and do not meet Air Force enlisted professional military education requirements. Therefore, prior sister service noncommissioned officers will complete the grade appropriate Air Force enlisted professional military education. (T-1).

3.4.8.3. Sister service distance learning enlisted professional military education courses are not comparable to Air Force distance learning enlisted professional military education courses and do not meet the Air Force enlisted professional military education requirements. Therefore, these courses will not be updated in the Airmen's personnel records unless an exception to policy is granted by the chief of Air Force enlisted developmental education (AF/A1DLE).

3.4.8.4. Qualification Criteria. Airmen must meet the individual school's requirements and prerequisites. They must also have a current Air Force fitness assessment on record with at least 80 percent, and the last three fitness assessments must all have passing scores. Selected Airmen must have 24 months retainability after the respective class graduation date. (T-1).

3.4.8.5. Enlisted Sister Service Enlisted Professional Military Education Academies.

3.4.8.5.1. U.S. Army Sergeants Major Academy (Course L5AZA8F0900F1A). Equivalent to Chief Leadership Course. Located at Fort Bliss, Texas. Attendance is considered a permanent-change-of-station assignment. Airmen must meet permanent-change-of-station eligibility requirements. Airmen must be a SMSgt or SMSgt-select, who will pin-on prior to the class start date. (T-1).

3.4.8.5.2. U.S. Navy Senior Enlisted Academy (Course USNSEA 100). Equivalent to Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Located at Newport, Rhode Island. Airmen must be a MSgt or SMSgt. Airmen must meet Navy physical training requirements. (T-1).

3.4.8.5.3. U.S. Marine Corps Staff Noncommissioned Officer Academy Advance Course. Equivalent to Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Multiple locations: Quantico, Virginia; Camp Pendleton, California; Camp Lejeune, North Carolina; and Camp Butler, Japan. Airmen must be a MSgt or SMSgt-select, who will NOT pin-on prior to the class graduation date. Airmen must also meet U.S. Marine Corps physical fitness standards. (T-1).

3.4.8.5.4. U.S. Coast Guard Chief Petty Officers Academy (Course USNSEA CG 100). Equivalent to Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Located at Petaluma, California. Airmen must be a MSgt or SMSgt-select, who will NOT pin-on prior to the class graduation date. (T-1).

3.4.8.5.5. Joint Special Operations Forces Senior Enlisted Academy (Course JSOFSEA SOE 3600 1M3). Equivalent to Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Located at MacDill Air Force Base, Florida. Joint Special Operations Forces Senior Enlisted Academy uses a blended learning approach divided into two phases. Phase I (distance learning) is a Blackboard-facilitated learning environment. Phase II (resident) is a seminar-based instruction conducted at MacDill Air Force Base. Airmen must be a SMSgt or SMSgt-select, who must pin-on prior to the resident phase start date. (T-1).

3.4.8.6. Nomination Procedures. Each year unit commanders may nominate qualified Airmen to their respective MAJCOMs. Specific routing will be determined by each MAJCOM. MAJCOMs are responsible for validating their Airmen's eligibility requirements. Follow instructions outlined in the call for nominations memorandum released by AF/A1DLE.

3.4.8.7. Selection Board. AF/A1DLE coordinates and facilitates the selection board. The board selects Airmen to fill all available sister service enlisted professional military education opportunities as well as a list of alternates. AFPC/DP3DW schedules all members selected within 30 days of approval by AF/A1. Note: Deferment requests to sister service schools may result in loss of opportunity due to limited seat availability and scheduling constraints.

3.4.9. Enlisted Program for Advanced Academic Degrees.

3.4.9.1. Enlisted Program for Advanced Academic Degrees is one of many leader development programs available to enlisted Airmen. Enlisted-to-Air Force Institute of Technology provides resident Air Force Institute of Technology-sponsored science, engineering and management graduate degree opportunities to further develop an Airman's technical education and skill. This program is intended to enhance combat capability through occupational competencies and to provide highly proficient Airmen, technically experienced in their career field.

3.4.9.2. Air Force career field managers maintain management of graduate education programs and will provide AF/A1DL updates at least annually. Reports will include, at a minimum, the selection process, mission requirements, utilization rates and a history of attendees.

3.4.10. Senior Leader Development Courses. Senior leader development education targets CMSgts for increased developmental education opportunities after completion of Chief Leadership Course. These opportunities further maximize their effectiveness to lead and execute Air Force requirements.

3.4.11. Joint Professional Military Education. Senior Enlisted Joint Professional Military Education I and II. Senior Enlisted Joint Professional Military Education I and II are stand-alone, web-based courses. They include chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff-sponsored, assignment-oriented educational opportunities for Airmen in grades E-5 through E-9 serving in, or with potential to serve in, joint and combined organizations.

3.4.11.1. Senior Enlisted Joint Professional Military Education I prepares enlisted Airmen to successfully integrate, influence and lead at the tactical and operational levels of warfare within a joint environment.

3.4.11.2. Senior Enlisted Joint Professional Military Education II builds upon Senior Enlisted Joint Professional Military Education I by reinforcing previous material, introducing new material and delivering a learning experience targeted for higher levels of understanding and synthesis of joint operations. This course is targeted for Airmen in the grades of E-8 and E-9 that will lead in joint environments. Airmen must complete Senior Enlisted Joint Professional Military Education I before enrolling in Senior Enlisted Joint Professional Military Education II.

3.4.12. Enlisted Professional Military Education Graduate Ribbon. Graduates from each resident enlisted professional military education earn the U.S. Air Force Noncommissioned Officer Professional Military Education Graduate Ribbon. This extends to all resident courses (Airman Leadership School, Noncommissioned Officer Academy, Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy and Chief Leadership Course) to include approved sister service equivalent enlisted professional military education courses. An oak leaf cluster is added to the basic ribbon for additional resident enlisted professional military education completion. Note: All Air Reserve Component Airmen are authorized the U.S. Air Force Noncommissioned Officer Professional Military Education Graduate Ribbon for completion of equivalent distance learning or resident enlisted professional military education courses, but not more than one ribbon for each enlisted professional military education opportunity (e.g., for Airman Leadership School, only one ribbon will be awarded for completion of distance learning or resident enlisted professional military education, not one for distance learning and resident enlisted professional military education).

3.4.13. Enlisted Professional Military Education (EPME) Achievement Awards.

3.4.13.1. Air University, through the Barnes Center for Enlisted Education, publishes specific award criteria in the USAF EPME Procedural Guidance.

3.4.13.2. Airman Leadership School, Noncommissioned Officer Academy and Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy resident enlisted professional military education courses are authorized four achievement awards. Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy is also authorized the CMSgt Richard L. Etchberger Team Award.

3.4.13.3. AF/A1DLE is the approval authority for the establishment of additional enlisted professional military education awards or changing the name/criteria for existing enlisted professional military education awards. Coordinate requests for additional enlisted professional military education awards or changes to existing awards through the chain of command to AF/A1DLE for approval.

3.4.13.4. Awards.

3.4.13.4.1. John L. Levitow Award is the highest honor and is presented to the top graduate of each class. Only one John L. Levitow Award is presented per class. Recipients of this award are excluded from receiving both the Academic Achievement and Commandant/Leadership Award.

3.4.13.4.2. Distinguished Graduate Award is presented to the top 10 percent of each class. The John L. Levitow Award recipient as the class “top” Distinguished Graduate is included in this group. Ties are permitted for the Distinguished Graduate Award.

3.4.13.4.3. Academic Achievement Award is presented for scholastic excellence. Ties are permitted for the Academic Achievement Award.

3.4.13.4.4. Commandant/Leadership Award is presented to the student who, in the commandant’s judgment, made significant leadership contributions to the overall success of their class.

3.4.13.4.5. The CMSgt Richard L. Etchberger Team Award is presented to the flight during each Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy class that demonstrates superior leadership and performance in academics, physical fitness and community service as a team. Selections are made by the Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy commandant.

3.4.14. Enlisted Professional Military Education Triennial Review.

3.4.14.1. Objective. Ensure enlisted professional military education is aligned with Air Force priorities and force development strategies and enlisted professional military education courses have relevant curricula, appropriate educational technologies, and required resources to instruct Foundational Competencies in warfighting Airmen to meet future mission challenges in joint and coalition environments.

3.4.14.2. Triennial Review Committee. Consists of AF/CCC, AF/A1D, AF/A1DLE, AETC/CCC, AU/CCC, representative MAJCOM CCCs, ARC/CCCs, Barnes Center/CC, and Barnes Center Academic Affairs. Subject matter experts are invited as required.

3.4.14.2.1. Convenes not less than once every three years to review the enlisted professional military education strategic plan (mission, vision, strategic themes and objectives and key initiatives), enlisted professional military education policies, curricula, resources and processes.

3.4.14.2.2. Additionally, meets at the discretion of any primary member and, if agreed to by AF/CCC and AF/A1D, prior to the Triennial Review.

3.4.14.2.3. Upon completion of the Triennial Review, the AF/A1DLE coordinates and determines which items will be presented to the AF/A1 and Enlisted Force Development Panel for action.

3.4.14.3. Roles and responsibilities for the Triennial Review members:

3.4.14.3.1. AF/A1D and AF/CCC will co-chair the Triennial Review. The co-chairs will approve the proposed agenda and sign the report.

3.4.14.3.2. AF/A1DLE will:

3.4.14.3.2.1. Provide agenda for the Triennial Review, prepare the review report and coordinate the report through attendees. The report should address enlisted professional military education initiatives and proposals, sister service best practices and near-term and long-term improvement plans. AF/A1DLE forwards the final report to AF/A1D and AF/CCC for approval.

3.4.14.3.2.2. Route approved items from the review report through appropriate agencies. Distribute approved report to the review participants and provide semiannual updates to each member of the committee on action item status and close headquarters Air Force action items.

3.4.14.3.2.3. Address any potential manpower and resource increases or decreases due to future developmental education courses and production levels. Notify appropriate MAJCOM enlisted professional military education managers to request required resources for planned developmental education courses and production levels.

3.5.6. Air Force Reserve Enlisted Developmental Education. The guidance from paragraph 3.5.6 through 3.5.13 is specific to Air Force Reserve members, and is in addition to established policy guidance in paragraph 3.4.

3.5.7. Distance Learning.

3.5.7.1. Air Force Reserve members receive points for completing distance learning as determined by their respective component. Air Force Reserve unit/squadron commanders may allow time during unit training assembly weekends to work on required enlisted professional military education course material.

3.5.7.2. Noncommissioned Officer Distance Learning Course. Air Force Reserve Airmen who do not complete the Noncommissioned Officer Distance Learning Course within 12 months, may re-enroll as necessary, however, are ineligible to compete for promotion until this requirement is met.

3.5.8. Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education. Excluding the Chief Leadership Course, Air Force Reserve Airmen may complete all levels of enlisted professional military education through either resident attendance or distance learning.

3.5.8.1. Airman Leadership School. The Air Force Reserve determines the scheduling process for their Airmen. Staff sergeants who enter the Air Force Reserve with more than 9 years in a sister service do not have to complete Airman Leadership School.

3.5.8.2. Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Airmen assessed in the Air Force Reserve in the grades of E-7 and E-8, who have completed a sister service Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy, will not be required to complete Air Force Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Upon accession to the Air Force Reserve, appropriate documentation will be required to ensure enlisted professional military education completion is reflected in the human resource system. Those who have not completed a sister service Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy will be required to complete Air Force Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy as soon as possible after enlistment in the Air Force Reserve. Note: Distance learning is the only requirement for completion.

3.5.9. Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education Selection. Air Force Reserve Command Enlisted Professional Military Education (AFRC EPME) determines allocation distribution based on eligibility criteria and command population. AFRC EPME also provides each MAJCOM enlisted professional military education manager the class dates for eligible candidates and coordinates Air Force Reserve allocation distribution with Air Force Reserve enlisted professional military education managers. The Air Force Reserve determines allocation, selection and deferment procedures for their respective component. (T-2).

3.5.10. Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education Scheduling. The Air Force Reserve schedules their respective components in coordination with AFRC EPME.

3.5.10.1. Airman Leadership School. Applicable Air Force Reserve Airmen are scheduled in coordination with MAJCOM enlisted professional military education managers, and are considered Priority 1 within the allocations provided by AF/A1DLE. Every effort should be made to ensure members attend a geographically located school closest to their home of record or unit of assignment.

3.5.10.2. Noncommissioned Officer Academy/Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. Noncommissioned Officer Academy/Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy quotas are centrally managed through the AFRC EPME manager and will be advertised based on the current automated system. All quotas for Noncommissioned Officer Academy will be on a first-come, first-served basis. Every effort should be made to ensure members attend a geographically located school closest to home of record or unit of assignment.

3.5.10.3. Chief Leadership Course. The Air Force Reserve will determine their own Chief Leadership Course selection and attendance processes.

3.5.11. Declinations, Deferments and Waivers.

3.5.11.1. Medical Deferment. Air Force Reserve members with temporary physical profile restrictions must send a copy of the AF Form 422/469 to their enlisted professional military education manager 45 days prior to class start date. The AFRC EPME manager will coordinate with the applicable school to determine approval or disapproval for attendance and notify the unit of decision. Members may not report to resident enlisted professional military education without approval notification. (T-1).

3.5.11.2. Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education Deferments. As resident enlisted professional military education is not required, there is no resident deferment process for Air Force Reserve Airmen.

3.5.12. Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education Attendance.

3.5.12.1. Due to the unique construct, all Air Force Reserve enlisted Airmen may complete developmental education by distance learning, and are highly encouraged to apply for resident enlisted professional military education. Air Reserve Technicians may attend in either military (centrally funded) or civilian status (unit funded), but must apply through military channels and the status must be annotated on the application prior to submission. Members will not have the option to change their status after selections have been made. Active Guard Reserve will use unit operations and maintenance funds. Air Force Reserve Airmen must have 2 years retainability from graduation date to attend all in-resident enlisted professional military education courses. (T-2).

3.5.12.2. Headquarters AFRC personnel will be submitted by the first sergeant. Individual Mobilization Augmentees will apply through their Readiness and Integration Organization (RIO) detachment commander, who will in turn submit their application through MyPers. Recruiters will be selected at the squadron level and final approval will be Air Force Reserve Command Recruiting Service career program manager. Members assigned at the headquarters Air Force will apply through AF/REP. All Reserve attendees must sign the student attendance agreement. (T-2).

3.5.12.3. Air Force Reserve members must have a passing Air Force fitness assessment and it must be current throughout the school tour. Members on a profile must coordinate the AF Form 469/422 through AFRC/A1K at least 45 days prior to class start date for coordination and approval from the applicable schoolhouse. Members must be able to march and stand at attention for extended periods to be able to attend. (T-1).

3.5.12.4. Air Force Reserve members should be allowed one cancellation for an emergency; after that they will have to complete enlisted professional military education by correspondence. All cancellations need to be completed 45 days prior to class start date. Any cancellations closer than 45 days will be considered a no-show. No-show letters must be signed by the unit commander or designated representative, routed through the wing command chief, and sent to AFRC/AIK within 20 days of notification of no-show. (T-2).

3.5.12.5. All members, whether attending in civilian or military status, must out-process through the Force Support Squadron to ensure completion of the Air Force fitness assessment. (T-3).

3.5.13. Sister Service Enlisted Professional Military Education. Air Force Reserve enlisted members who wish to attend sister service enlisted professional military education must be boarded and selected through their respective component process.

3.6.9. Air National Guard Enlisted Developmental Education. The following guidance is specific to ANG members, and in addition to established policy guidance in paragraph 3.4.3.

3.6.9.1. All Airmen may complete Airman Leadership School, Noncommissioned Officer Academy and Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy professional military education requirements through distance learning and are highly encouraged to attend in resident enlisted professional military education.

3.6.9.2. ANG members receive points for completing distance learning; unit/squadron commanders may allow time during unit training assembly weekends to work on required enlisted professional military education course material.

3.6.9.3. Enlisted members in the grade of E-4 and E-5 accessed in the ANG from a sister service, or with prior Air Force service, must complete Airman Leadership School prior to promotion to the next grade. (T-2).

3.6.9.4. Enlisted members in the grade of E-6 assessed in the ANG from a sister service must complete the noncommissioned officer academy in-resident course or distance learning course. (T-2).

3.6.10. Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education.

3.6.10.1. Timing in resident attendance in a member's career is an integral part of deliberate development and force management decisions. Resident enlisted professional military education courses are limited; therefore, it is beneficial to develop a selection process to ensure the right Airmen are attending resident enlisted professional military education.

3.6.10.2. Air Technicians are eligible to apply for the appropriate resident enlisted professional military education program based on military rank and must meet all other eligibility requirements for the requested level of enlisted professional military education.

3.6.10.3. Airman Leadership School. Senior airmen and prior service staff sergeants may attend Airman Leadership School.

3.6.10.4. Noncommissioned Officer Academy. TSgts may attend in-residence Noncommissioned Officer Academy.

3.6.10.5. Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy. SMSgts and MSgts may attend in-residence Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy.

3.6.10.6. Chief Leadership Course.

3.6.10.6.1. CMSgts and SMSgts in a CMSgt unit manning document position may attend Chief Leadership Course.

3.6.10.6.2. ANG CMSgts are not required to attend the Chief Leadership Course.

3.6.11. Resident Enlisted Professional Military Education Attendance and Scheduling.

3.6.11.1. Enlisted professional military education resident quotas are programmed annually through NGB/HRT. Members must meet eligibility criteria in guidance memorandums distributed by NGB/HR. (T-2).

3.6.11.2. Force development offices will schedule their members in accordance with annual guidance memorandums distributed by NGB/HR.

3.6.11.3. Medical Deferment. Air members with temporary physical profile restrictions must send a copy of the AF Form 422/469 to their enlisted professional military education manager 45 days prior to class start date. NGB/HRT will coordinate with the applicable school to determine approval or disapproval for attendance and notify the unit of decision. Members may not report to resident enlisted professional military education without approval notification. (T-1).

3.6.12. Exceptions to Policy. NGB/HRT is the sole approving authority for exceptions to the policy for ANG members pertaining to enlisted professional military education unless otherwise specified.

3.6.13. Sister Service Enlisted Professional Military Education. ANG enlisted members who wish to attend enlisted sister service professional military education are selected through a National Guard Bureau panel process.

VOLUNTARY EDUCATION PROGRAM

6.1. Program Description and Purpose. The Air Force Voluntary Education Program supports Force Development by maintaining a highly educated force. The program supports off-duty Voluntary Education goals for RegAF, Air National Guard, and Air Force Reserve Airmen. Voluntary Education supports recruiting efforts as an enticing benefit program and supports retention as an in-service benefit. It significantly contributes to occupational competencies, Foundational Competencies, special interest needs, and readiness by supporting the current and anticipated professional development and educational needs of the Air Force. Through professional and Voluntary Education, Airmen develop the breadth and depth of knowledge, skills, and abilities such as critical thinking and problem-solving that enable them to skillfully navigate a wide range of problems and weigh alternative solutions so they can operate effectively in complex and dynamic environments.

6.1.1. Vision. Voluntary Education Programs and expertise integrated seamlessly into the Military Life Cycle helps recruitment, retention, readiness, and the development of the Air Force foundational and occupational competencies.

6.1.2. Mission. Develop strategic thinking, resilient Airmen and prepare them for leadership roles through off-duty educational opportunities that cultivate their professional and personal knowledge throughout the Military Life Cycle.

6.1.3. Goals. Voluntary Education opportunities enable self-development, improve critical thinking skills, and serve as a recruiting and retention incentive for military members while strengthening Air Force readiness. Education programs expand knowledge and increase understanding of the role of aerospace power in fulfilling the Air Force national security strategy. Education is a critical prerequisite to anticipating and meeting the challenges of the broad range of military operations in which air and space forces are employed. Only quality education achieved through professional development can ensure the critical thought processes necessary for sound decision-making. The overarching goals of the Air Force Voluntary Education Program are as follows:

6.1.3.1. Ensure Airmen have off-duty education opportunities that allow them to develop professional and personal knowledge desired as an incentive for recruitment, retention, and readiness.

6.1.3.2. Prepare Airmen for leadership and advancement opportunities within the Air Force, as well as civilian employment after service.

6.1.3.3. Develop Airmen's occupational and Foundational Competencies through off-duty voluntary, postsecondary goals.

6.1.4. Program Implementation. The Air Force, Voluntary Education Branch (AF/A1DLV) will establish the Air Force's Voluntary Education vision, mission, and goals based on the needs of the Air Force and its Airmen. AF/A1DLV will provide overarching leadership, policy, and administrative and managerial oversight to execute the Voluntary Education Program. In addition, AF/A1DLV will work with appropriate partners to include the Community College of the Air Force, the Air Force Personnel Center Voluntary Education MAJCOM functional managers, the Military Tuition Assistance Central Office, and the Air

Qualified academic counselors/advisors/specialists who are knowledgeable in higher education work directly with Airmen to assist them in developing their academic programs and to advise them on financial aid, academic programs, and Air Force-specific education programs.

6.1.4.2. Testing. The Voluntary Education Program oversees for-credit, admission, language, Air University, and Professional Military Education testing.

6.1.4.3. Military Tuition Assistance. Military Tuition Assistance refers to the Tuition Assistance Program. 6.2.6.1.5.2. Obtain approval from a member of the Airman’s chain of command (i.e., flight/section chief, superintendent, first sergeant or squadron commander or higher officer) if the immediate supervisor will not be available to approve an Airman’s Military Tuition Assistance request. (T-1).

6.2.6.1.6. Understand that using Military Tuition Assistance has risks. Using Military Tuition Assistance when in an Air Expeditionary Forces cycle, in the zone for Professional Military Education attendance, during scheduled medical procedures, planned leave, or while awaiting a commissioning program, etc. will not be sufficient reason for requesting a waiver should Airmen fail to successfully complete the course(s) due to selection or complications arising from these occurrences. (T-1).

6.2.6.1.7. Complete and comply with the online Annual Military Tuition Assistance and/or Reserve Tuition Assistance training, as required. (T-1).

6.2.6.2. Ensure final grades are updated in the official education record by the member’s date of separation. If Airmen fail to do so, the Central Office will initiate a reimbursement action for Airmen to repay Military Tuition Assistance used to fund the course(s). (T-1).

6.2.6.3. Provide required documentation, including an educational goal or plan, prior to requesting Military Tuition Assistance for the first time. Paragraph 6.5.1.3.1 outlines the specific requirements for degree plans. (T-1).

6.2.6.4. Know the academic institution’s refund and withdrawal policies as outlined in the institution’s Student Handbook (or equivalent). If Airmen believe they must withdraw from courses, they shall consult with the Education and Training Section staff for the best option, understand the financial obligations for withdrawal, and comprehend the impact on their grade point average, etc. (T-1).

6.2.6.5. Understand that Military Tuition Assistance is intended to support off-duty, part-time attendance. Airmen taking a course load that exceeds part-time study are at an increased risk of failing to complete one or more courses or maintain appropriate grades, which would result in the Airman’s obligation to repay tuition. (T-1).

6.2.6.6. When considering an academic institution, Airmen must consider the institution’s accreditation (regional or national), policy on transfer credits (into and out of the institution), total program cost, etc. Airmen should consult their Education and Training

Section for guidance on how to choose the best institution to meet their professional and individual needs. (T-1).

6.2.7. Supervisor. Supervisors shall review all Military Tuition Assistance requests for their subordinates and approve or disapprove each request based on criteria outlined in paragraph 6.5.2.9. Supervisors may approve Military Tuition Assistance requests for Airmen who, in their best judgment, have shown successful progress in their upgrade training or that the temporary duty, permanent change of station, or professional military education attendance will not adversely affect successful course(s) completion. Note: Current professional military education guidance advises in-resident students to not enroll in off-duty education because of the heavy academic schedule. Other supervisor duties are to: (T-1).

6.2.7.1. Ensure that Airmen have no military responsibilities that will adversely affect their successful course completion (paragraph 6.5.2.9). (T-1).

6.2.7.2. Explain to Airmen their financial liability should they fail to successfully complete their course(s) or fail to comply with other components of this instruction. (T-1).

The needs assessment will be conducted in accordance with DoDI 1322.25 to determine the appropriate on-base degree/course offerings. The process outlined in DoDI 1322.25 is the only approved means that Education and Training Section Chiefs will follow when considering additions to on-base education programs or services. Forward the needs assessment results for overseas locations to the AFPC MAJCOM Functional Managers for use in the Department of Defense Tri-Service Education Contract adjustment efforts; overseas installations will not self-procure on-base degrees/course offerings. (T-0).

6.3.1.2. Prepare an annual execution plan for Program Element Codes 89732F and 84702F and submit it to Major Command/Financial Management Office and AFPC MAJCOM Functional Managers. actions in the Air Force Automated Education Management System (paragraph 6.3.3.6). (T-1).

6.3.1.5. Update and maintain current, relevant information on the Air Force Virtual Education Center. Review and update information at least quarterly, or sooner, if needed. 6.3.1.14.1. First-time Students. In accordance with DoDI 1322.19, Voluntary Education Programs in Overseas Areas, overseas service members who have never successfully completed a postsecondary course must attend their first course with an approved overseas program institution in order to use Military Tuition Assistance for the requested course(s). (T-0).

6.3.1.14.2. On-Base Marketing. Marketing of coursework or programs authorized by non-contracted education providers is prohibited. Conducting any kind of education activity on an installation will be limited to contracted academic institutions. (T-0).

- 6.3.1.14.4. Quality Assurance. - 6.3.3. Voluntary Education Central Office. The Voluntary Education Central Office is the central cost center for all Air Force-wide Military Tuition Assistance processes. This office manages execution of all financial actions relating to the Air Force Military Tuition Assistance program. The Central Office will implement the Department of Defense and Air Force Military Tuition Assistance policy and processes by performing the following tasks: (T-1).

Funding supports Military Tuition Assistance, office materials and supplies, contracted Voluntary Education support, personnel salaries, travel, per diem, and registration costs for training and professional development of staff members. This funding is not part of base operating support at any base (including joint bases) and will not be used to fund any budget activities outside Program Element Codes 89732F and 84702F. (T-0).

6.4.2. Non-Personal Services Contracts.

6.4.2.1. Education and Training Section Chiefs may use a Non-Personal Services Contract for specific and limited functional services as needed at a specific location to support mission requirements of the Voluntary Education Program. If Non-Personal Services Contracts are used, Education and Training Section Chiefs must ensure these contracts: (T-1).

6.4.2.1.1. Are used only for test administrators, academic advisors, computer support personnel, and facility monitors. (T-1).

6.4.2.1.2. Are justified, to include stating that federal positions are not available to perform the services. (T-1).

6.4.2.1.5. Are used to provide academic skills instruction only under the following conditions:

6.4.2.1.5.1. Defense Activities for Non-Traditional Education Support, or units funding the course, will provide academic skills instruction for the On-Line Academic Skills Course. (T-1).

6.4.2.1.5.2. They include instructional costs and course material for off-duty classes on a per course basis, but will not include the purchase of hardware or technology equipment. (T-1).

6.4.2.1.5.3. Tutorial services are authorized under academic skills instruction when separate courses are not feasible. However, a minimum of five students must be signed up to conduct an academic skills course. Students who register for the course must attend all sessions. (T-1).

6.5. Military Tuition Assistance Program Management.

6.5.1. Authority. Title 10 USC § 2005 and § 2007, the Annual Appropriations Act, DoDD 1322.08E, DoDI 1322.25, this instruction, and Air Force Personnel Center's Military Tuition Assistance Guide authorize Military Tuition Assistance, and outline policy for waivers and reimbursements for Military Tuition Assistance.

6.5.1.1. The Air Force provides Military Tuition Assistance for the cost of tuition not to exceed $250.00 per semester hour credit and $166.66 per quarter hour credit, and a fiscal year annual Military Tuition Assistance cap of $4,500.00, applicable to all eligible Airmen. Any combined use for Reservists of Regular Air Force Military Tuition Assistance and Reserve Military Tuition Assistance has an annual cap of $4,500.00; the two funding sources cannot be used to pay for the same course. Military Tuition Assistance for activated Guard and tuition assistance benefit offered by the State Air National Guard cannot be used to pay for the same course. (T-0).

6.5.1.2. Course(s) are funded using one-year funds in Program Element Code 89732F based on the course start date. Military Tuition Assistance will not be issued earlier than 45 days prior to course start date. (T-1).

6.5.1.2.1. Education and Training Section Chiefs (or their designees) must approve all waiver requests for this 45-day rule. (T-1).

6.5.1.2.2. AFPC/DP2SST must approve/recreate an auto-deleted Military Tuition Assistance form. (T-1).

6.5.1.3. Airmen must create an educational goal in the Air Force Virtual Education Center that meet the following criteria: (T-1).

6.5.1.3.1. Degree plans must be officially evaluated plans completed by the degree granting institution and include ALL transfer credit accepted toward degree completion. Transfer work includes, but is not limited to, academic tests, CCAF credit, other Air Force training, as well as courses taken at other academic institutions. (T-1).

6.5.1.3.2. The evaluated degree plan must include ALL courses required for completion of the degree and include the original plan the institution supplied to the Airman for a single degree. (T-1).

6.5.1.3.3. Airmen must provide an evaluated degree plan from the academic institution no later than after they have completed two courses with the institution. Military Tuition Assistance will be denied until the Education and Training Section receives and approves an evaluated degree plan. Education and Training Section Chiefs can override business rules to approve Military Tuition Assistance up to 12 semester hours or equivalent (undergraduate degrees only). Airmen who take courses after the completing the first two courses, but before the approval of the degree plan, using any other funding source, will not be eligible for retroactive Military Tuition Assistance. (T-1).

6.5.1.3.4. Education and Training Section personnel must upload the evaluated plan into the Airman's Air Force Automated Education Management System record before additional Military Tuition Assistance will be approved for that Airman. Any changes to the degree plan after it is approved may result in denial of Military Tuition Assistance for that Airman until a new degree plan is submitted and approved. Any courses taken during the denial period using any other funding source will not be eligible for retroactive Military Tuition Assistance. (T-1).

6.5.1.4. Airmen will reimburse Military Tuition Assistance for unsatisfactory or missing grades. Unsatisfactory grades are a "D" and below for undergraduate course(s) and a grade of "C" or below for graduate course(s). Missing grades are grades that are not received and updated in the official student education records by the 60th day after the end of the course date on the approved Military Tuition Assistance request. (T-1).

6.5.1.4.1. Airmen will have no more than 30 days to respond to the notification of reimbursement. Airmen are ultimately responsible for ensuring grades are in their Air Force Automated Education Management System education record by required deadlines. After 30 days, Central Office will initiate a reimbursement action for Airmen to repay Military Tuition Assistance used to fund the course(s). Refunds will not be given to students for grades changed from unsatisfactory/missing to satisfactory/updated after the 30 days have passed. (T-1).

6.5.1.4.2. Airmen receiving incomplete grades must attain a satisfactory grade within the time limit stipulated by the institution or 120 days after the end of the course as listed on the electronic Military Tuition Assistance Request, whichever comes first. If a satisfactory grade has not been received at the end of this period, the Central Office will initiate a reimbursement action for Airmen to repay the Air Force for the Military Tuition Assistance used to fund the course(s). If an Airman presents a grade after the deadline, he/she failed to meet the completion requirements; thus, the Central Office will not return the Military Tuition Assistance to the Airman and will not stop or suspend the reimbursement action. (T-1).

6.5.1.4.3. Education and Training Section Chiefs (or their designees) may deny Military Tuition Assistance if, in their professional judgment, the course load is detrimental to the Airman or the Air Force. Education and Training Section Chiefs may use any information available, including, but not limited to, grade point average, course withdrawal history, and types of courses requested to determine whether or not to deny a Military Tuition Assistance request. (T-1).

6.5.1.5. Execution of all financial actions associated with the Military Tuition Assistance program are centralized at the Central Office. In conjunction with the base Education and Training Section, the Central Office will mediate Military Tuition Assistance conflict resolution between Airmen and the Air Force instruction. (T-1).

6.5.1.6. The Central Office and the Education and Training Section will annotate all actions relating to Military Tuition Assistance approvals, denials, waivers, and reimbursements in the student's Air Force Automated Education Management System record. (T-1).

6.5.1.7. Airmen who do not maintain a cumulative undergraduate grade point average of 2.0 or higher after having completed 15 semester hours or equivalent will not be authorized Military Tuition Assistance until they have raised their grade point average to the required level. For graduate-level courses, Airmen must maintain a grade point average of 3.0 or higher after having completed six (6) semester hours or equivalent (Exception: Airmen must maintain grade point average that is specified by the commissioning program). To compute grade point average, the Education and Training Section will use all grades funded with Military Tuition Assistance, regardless of reimbursement actions. (Exception: If an Airman falls below the minimum grade point average, then course(s) paid using other funding sources since starting to use Military Tuition Assistance to meet the minimum grade point average requirement will be used to compute the new grade point average). (T-0).

6.5.2. Airmen Eligibility. The Air Force provides Military Tuition Assistance when the course dates fall within an Airman's dates of activation, for the following Regular Air Force and activated/mobilized Air Reserve Component personnel: (T-1).

6.5.2.1. Enlisted members must be in the Regular Air Force for the length of the course. If duty dates do not correspond with term dates, Airmen must be able to show that they reenlisted (DoD Form 4, Enlistment/Reenlistment Document Armed Forces of the United States) or extended his/her enlistment to include course end date (AF Form 1411, Extension of Enlistment in the Air Force). (T-1).

6.5.2.2. RegAF officers on active duty must have a Date of Separation or deactivation date that is two-years or more after the end of the course date. Officers unable to meet this requirement will not be authorized Military Tuition Assistance. Officers eligible to receive Military Tuition Assistance will incur a two-year Active Duty Service Commitment. Active Duty Service Commitments are computed based on the course end date. Officers are subject to reimbursement action on the remaining Active Duty Service Commitment if they separate/retire before they complete their Active Duty Service Commitment. (T-0).

6.5.2.3. RegAF officer Active Duty Service Commitment waiver requests will be considered by AFPC when an officer applies for early separation. Any incurred Military Tuition Assistance debt will be processed by the Central Office and funds will be returned to the Central Office via Defense Finance and Accounting Service. (T-1).

6.5.2.4. Activated Guard and Reserve Airmen on Title 10 or Title 32, Section 502 (f) orders are eligible for Federal Air Force Military Tuition Assistance. They must provide a copy of orders to verify the activated time and that they meet all eligibility requirements for receiving Military Tuition Assistance. All documents will be uploaded to the Airman's Air Force Automated Education Management System file to include home unit address. (T-1).

6.5.2.5. Activated Guard and Reserve officers must agree to remain on active duty for a period of at least two years after they complete the training or education for which the charges are paid by Military Tuition Assistance. Officers unable to meet this commitment will be required to convert to a four-year Reserve Service Commitment or two times the length of the remaining regular Active Duty Service Commitment. RegAF Education and Training Section will contact Headquarters Air Reserve Personnel Center (ARPC/DPTTB) to adjust the service commitment when the members out-processes. (T-1).

6.5.2.6. Selected Reserve (unit guard, reserve, or individual reserve) on Title 10 orders §§ 12301(a), 12301(d), 12301(g), 12302, or 12304 may receive Military Tuition Assistance. Orders must be on file in the member's Air Force Automated Education Management System Digital File Folder and cover the duration of the course. Officers incur a four-year Reserve Service Commitment. A signed Reserve Service Commitment contract reflecting the four-year Reserve Service Commitment will be uploaded into the Air Force Automated Education Management System prior to issuing Military Tuition Assistance. Military Tuition Assistance request for Selected Reserve officers will be routed first to ARPC/DPTTB for validation of the Reserve Service Commitment before going to the RegAF supervisor for final approval. Reserve personnel may continue to use Reserve Tuition Assistance instead of Military Tuition Assistance. Use of either type of funds will result in a four-year Reserve Service Commitment by officers. (T-1).

6.5.2.7. Airmen must take an interest inventory and receive counseling by an education counselor about the results before an initial Military Tuition Assistance request will be approved. (T-1).

6.5.2.8. Airmen who have an Unfavorable Information File, are on a control roster, have failed or are overdue their most recent Physical Fitness test, and/or have a current referral Enlisted Performance Report/Officer Performance Report at the time of application for Military Tuition Assistance, are ineligible for Military Tuition Assistance. There are no waivers. Airmen who are denied Military Tuition Assistance and use other means to fund course(s) are not eligible for retroactive Military Tuition Assistance for those course(s) after the removal of the above barriers. All other eligibility requirements apply in order for the Airman to resume receiving Military Tuition Assistance. (T-1).

6.5.2.9. Supervisors must approve or disapprove all Military Tuition Assistance requests and can deny the request if they believe Airmen are in any of the below circumstances, which most likely would impede successful completion of the requested course(s): (T-1).

6.5.2.9.1. Airman is in upgrade training. (T-1).

6.5.2.9.2. Airman will have a Permanent Change of Station during any portion of the course. (T-1).

6.5.2.9.3. Airman is scheduled to attend or enrolled in Professional Military Education. (T-1).

6.5.2.9.4. Other factors the supervisor deems to be impediments to successful course completion including excessive course load (e.g., two or more courses in an accelerated term). (T-3).

6.5.2.9.5. Airmen assigned overseas must meet eligibility criteria outlined in DoDI 1322.19, Voluntary Education Programs in Overseas Areas. (T-0).

6.5.3. Institution Eligibility. The Air Force will provide Military Tuition Assistance for courses provided by institutions meeting the requirements outlined in DoDI 1322.25, which includes the following: (T-0).

6.5.3.1. Signed the Department of Defense Partnership Memorandum of Understanding, Air Force Addendum, and Installation Memorandum of Understanding (if the institution(s) conducts business on the installation). (T-0).

6.5.3.2. Airmen who attend institutions without an approved Department of Defense Partnership Memorandum of Understanding will not be reimbursed for Military Tuition Assistance. (T-0).

6.5.3.3. Institutions must be accredited by a regionally, nationally, or specialized accrediting body recognized by the United States Department of Education. (T-0).

6.5.4.2. Military Tuition Assistance will fund no more than 124 semester hours/186 quarter hours for an undergraduate degree and 42 semester hours/63 quarter hours for a graduate degree. Total graduate program cannot exceed 42 semester hours/63 quarter hours to include undergraduate pre-requisites on an evaluated degree plan. (T-1).

- 6.5.4.2.1. Airmen may pursue more than one major within the same degree as long as the total number of semester hours or equivalent for the degree outlined in paragraph 6.5.4.2 is not exceeded. (T-1).
- 6.5.4.2.2. Airmen will be allowed two degree program/school changes. Before a degree change, the Airman must complete an interest inventory (i.e., Kuder Journey), discuss the inventory results with a guidance counselor, and have his/her record annotated in the Air Force Automated Education Management System. The maximum hours for undergraduate and graduate degrees is outlined in paragraph 6.5.4.2 will not be exceeded under any circumstance. (T-1).
- 6.5.4.2.3. Airmen will not be allowed to change degree programs/schools if they have completed 90 semester hours or 135 quarter hours for an undergraduate degree or nine (9) semester hours or 14 quarter hours for a graduate degree. (T-1).
- 6.5.4.2.4. Airmen must provide the Education and Training Section official documentation of degree completion before they will be authorized Military Tuition Assistance to complete another degree. (T-1).
- 6.5.4.3. Off-duty foreign language courses not part of a degree plan and integral to the Air Force Strategic Language List. (T-1).
- 6.5.4.3.1. All language courses must be in the same language and will not exceed a total of 12 semester hours or equivalent. Courses must result in the award of academic credit. After completing no more than six (6) semester hours (or equivalent), Airmen must take the Defense Language Proficiency Test in their chosen language, if available. If there is no Defense Language Proficiency Test, then Airmen must take the appropriate Oral Proficiency Interview. Based on the scores achieved, Airmen may be eligible for Foreign Language Proficiency Bonus. Airmen are encouraged to review AFMAN 36-2664, Personnel Assessment Program, for more information on the Air Force Foreign Language Program. (T-1).
- 6.5.4.3.1.1. Upon completing the Defense Language Proficiency Test, Airmen will be eligible for no more than an additional six (6) semester hours (or equivalent) in the same language. Airmen who fail to take a Defense Language Proficiency Test or to take the Oral Proficiency Interview within prescribed timelines (60 days for the Defense Language Proficiency Test and 90 days for the Oral Proficiency Interview) will reimburse Military Tuition Assistance. ARPC/DPTTB will coordinate the reimbursement of Military Tuition Assistance funds with the Central Office when required. (T-0).

6.8.3.7. Assist members in the process of requesting Reserve Tuition Assistance waivers. Reserve Tuition Assistance Central Office reviews and processes Tuition Assistance waiver requests for Reserve Tuition Assistance.

6.8.3.8. Advertise and disseminate information on Reserve Tuition Assistance benefits.

6.8.3.9. Ensure Reserve Tuition Assistance requests submitted will be reviewed, verified and approved in the Air Force Automated Education Management System.

6.8.3.10. Maintain hard copy documents associated with requests for Reserve Tuition Assistance if unable to maintain electronically. All information and supporting documentation will be updated, uploaded, and maintained in the student's Digital File Folder located in the Air Force Automated Education Management System.

6.8.3.11. Use Air Force Automated Education Management System to manage and track each student requesting Reserve Tuition Assistance from initiation of paperwork to course completion.

6.8.3.12. Verify grades for students are entered into the Air Force Automated Education Management System upon course completion. Successful course completion is defined as the following in accordance with DoDI 1322.25 for undergraduate courses: grade of "C" or better, "Satisfactory," "Credit", "Pass" or equivalent. For graduate courses: grade of "B" or better, "Satisfactory," "Credit", "Pass" or equivalent. Members will reimburse for grade of "D", "Unsatisfactory" or equivalent for undergraduate courses. Members will reimburse for grade "C", "D" or "Unsatisfactory" or equivalent for graduate courses. (T-0).

6.8.3.13. Initiate reimbursement action from the member for course(s) not successfully completed. (T-0).

6.8.3.14. Monitor Air Force Automated Education Management System to ensure accurate information is maintained for each student requesting Reserve Tuition Assistance.

6.8.3.15. Deny Reserve Tuition Assistance when an Airman is not maintaining acceptable academic progress. Airmen who do not maintain a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 or higher at the undergraduate level after completing 15 semester hours or equivalent will not be authorized Reserve Tuition Assistance until they raise their grade point average to the required level. With regard to graduate level, the Airman must maintain a grade point average of 3.0 or higher after completing six (6) semester hours or equivalent. To compute grade point average, the Education and Training Section will use all grades funded with Reserve Tuition Assistance regardless of reimbursement actions. Reserve Tuition Assistance is not authorized to allow a member to raise his/her grade point average. It is incumbent upon the member to fund and provide official grades to the Education and Training Section verifying grade point average increase. The Air Force Reserve will not reimburse a student for course(s) taken at a student's own expense to raise a grade point average. (If a student's grade point average falls below the minimum standard then courses paid using other funding sources since starting Reserve Tuition Assistance to increase the grade point average to the minimum standard will be used to compute the new grade point average). (T-0).

6.8.4. Reserve Tuition Assistance Supervisor Responsibilities.

6.8.4.1. For the purposes of Reserve Tuition Assistance, a supervisor is defined as the person in the member's chain of command having next in line tuition assistance approval authority and oversight. This person must be able to adequately access the student's ability to participate in voluntary education while also satisfying the responsibilities of an Air Force Reservist. Supervisors will: (T-1).

6.8.4.1.1. Counsel Airmen on their responsibility to successfully complete course(s) when using Reserve Tuition Assistance. (T-0).

- 6.8.4.1.2. Ensure that members have no military or outside responsibilities that will adversely affect their successful course completion.
- 6.8.4.1.3. Explain to Airmen their financial liability should they fail to successfully complete the course(s) or fail to comply with other components of this guidance. (T-0).
- 6.8.4.1.4. Supervisors must approve all other Reserve Tuition Assistance requests and can deny based on any of the following criteria:
 - 6.8.4.1.4.1. Airman is in upgrade training.
 - 6.8.4.1.4.2. Airman who will be on temporary duty during the course.
 - 6.8.4.1.4.3. Airman who will have a permanent change of station during the course.
 - 6.8.4.1.4.4. Airman is enrolled/attending Professional Military Education (either distributed learning or in-resident).
 - 6.8.4.1.4.5. Other factors that could affect the Airman's ability to successfully complete the course can also be considered.
- 6.8.5. Reserve Tuition Assistance Member's Responsibilities.
 - 6.8.5.1. Actively participate for pay and points and remain in good standing upon the day the member applies for and completes his/her last course(s). (T-1).
 - 6.8.5.2. Discuss and coordinate Reserve Tuition Assistance request with supervisor prior to submission. (T-1).
 - 6.8.5.3. Provide a degree plan to the Wing Education and Training Section or equivalent and ARPC/DPTTB for Individual Mobilization Augmentees upon application for Reserve Tuition Assistance, or upon completion of their first Reserve Tuition Assistance funded course. Members must submit an evaluated degree plan in the Air Force Virtual Education Center. Note: All course(s) submitted for Reserve Tuition Assistance approval must be on the degree plan. (T-1). (T-1).
 - 6.8.5.4. Complete the initial counseling (one-time requirement) and the annual Reserve Tuition Assistance training before requesting Reserve Tuition Assistance at the Wing Education and Training Section or equivalent or ARPC/DPTTB for Individual Mobilization Augmentees. (T-1).
 - 6.8.5.5. Complete and submit all required paperwork no earlier than 45 days prior to course start date and no later than seven (7) days before the course start date. (T-1).
 - 6.8.5.6. Successfully complete courses or exams funded by Reserve Tuition Assistance within prescribed timelines. ARPC/DPTTB and supervisor must be notified prior to withdrawal from course(s) funded by Reserve Tuition Assistance. Successful course completion is required; otherwise, reimbursement action will be initiated for the member to repay Reserve Tuition Assistance. A successful course completion is defined as a grade of "C" or higher for undergraduate courses, a grade of "B" or higher for graduate courses, and a "P" (or equivalent) for "Pass/Fail" grades.
 - 6.8.5.7. Report all incompletes, failures (including grade "D") and cancellations for all course(s) approved for Reserve Tuition Assistance immediately to the Wing Education and Training Section or ARPC/DPTTB for Individual Mobilization Augmentees. (T-1).

6.8.5.8. Maintain a cumulative undergraduate grade point average of 2.0 or higher at the undergraduate level after completing 15 semester hours or equivalent. For graduate course(s), members must maintain a grade point average of 3.0 or higher after completing six (6) semester hours or equivalent. Airmen will not be authorized Reserve Tuition Assistance until they raise their grade point average to the required level. (T-1).

6.8.5.9. Ensure final grades are received and updated in Air Force Automated Education Management System education record via Air Force Virtual Education Center within 60 days of course end date or two weeks prior to separation or terminal leave (whichever occurs first), retirement, deactivation, or assignment departure. This includes Airmen on an educational deferment. It is ultimately the Airman's responsibility to ensure all grades are posted in Air Force Automated Education Management System prior to the deadline. A failure to do so will result in the initiation of a reimbursement action for the member to repay Reserve Tuition Assistance. Airmen who are separating or nearing deactivation must provide grade or progress report from their instructor stating satisfactory progress at least two weeks prior to separation/deactivation date. If an unsatisfactory grade is reported at the end of the course, an out-of-service debt will be processed. The debt will be processed through ARPC/DPTTB with AFRC Financial Management Office guidance. (T-1).

6.8.5.10. Airmen receiving incomplete (and equivalent) grades must attain a satisfactory grade within the time limit stipulated by the institution or 120 days after the end of the course, whichever comes first. Extensions will not be granted. If the central office does not receive a satisfactory grade by the end of this period, they will initiate a reimbursement action for the member to repay Reserve Tuition Assistance. If the Airman presents a grade after the deadline, the funds collected will not be returned and the reimbursement action will not be stopped or suspended. (T-1).

6.8.5.11. Pay all institution costs not covered by Reserve Tuition Assistance. (T-1).

6.8.6. Reserve Tuition Assistance Prohibitions. (T-1)

6.8.7.2. Reserve Tuition Assistance can be used when a member already possesses a degree and wants to take course(s) leading to a teacher certification/license. Members must provide a state approved plan of college courses that prepares a person for credentialing to their Wing Education and Training Section or equivalent and ARPC/DPTTB. The plan will be filed in the member's Air Force Automated Education Management System Digital File Folder. (T-1).

6.8.7.3. Use of Reserve Tuition Assistance is authorized for Air Force Reserve attorneys wishing to pursue a second graduate program in Cyber Law (applies to officers with 15 years or less Total Active Federal Commissioned Service Date). Non-judge advocate officers with more than one master's degree or holding a doctorate (or equivalent) are ineligible. Participants must be approved by AFRC/JA. (T-1).

The use of Reserve Tuition Assistance for non-degree language courses is limited to those published by the United States Air Force as part of the Undersecretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness Department of Defense Strategic Language List and for only one language. Courses must bear academic credit. After completion of no more than six (6) semester hours (or equivalent), Airmen must take the Defense Language Proficiency Test-V with a minimum score of 1+. Upon successful completion of the Defense Language Proficiency Test-V, Airmen will be eligible for no more than an additional six (6) semester hours (or equivalent) in the same language. 6.8.8. Reserve Tuition Assistance Process. (T-1).

6.8.8.1. All requests for Reserve Tuition Assistance will be applied for in the Air Force Virtual Education Center no earlier than 45 days and no later than seven (7) days prior to course start date. (T-1).

6.8.8.2. Reserve Tuition Assistance requests will be processed by the member via the Air Force Virtual Education Center. Only in cases in which the member does not have access to the Air Force Virtual Education Center, will the Wing Education and Training Section or ARPC/DPTTB for the Individual Mobilization Augmentee, enter the information into the Air Force Automated Education Management System. (T-1).

6.8.8.3. ARPC/DPTTB does not authorize late tuition assistance, which is defined as tuition assistance requests submitted after a course has started. (T-1).

6.8.8.4. ARPC/DPTTB does not authorize after-the fact tuition assistance (defined as tuition assistance after a course has been completed). (T-1).

6.8.9. Reserve Tuition Assistance Payment Rates. (T-1).

6.8.9.5. Reserve Tuition Assistance is paid only for tuition costs. Lab, shop, instructional, and/or technology fees are not paid. (T-1).

6.8.9.6. Most institutions award credit either by semester hour or quarter hour. If an institution is on a clock/contact hour schedule, use the following to calculate tuition assistance: one semester credit hour is equal to 45 clock/contact hours. (T-0).

6.8.9.7. Once the member has completed the course(s), it is his/her responsibility to ensure grade(s) is/are submitted to the Wing Education and Training Section or ARPC/DPTTB within 60 days of course completion. (T-1).

6.8.9.8. If the 60-day requirement is not met, reimbursement action will be initiated for the member to repay Reserve Tuition Assistance. (T-1).

6.8.9.9. In most cases, the academic institution will enter the final grade indicating course completion via the Academic Institution Portal. If required, the member may need to provide the necessary documentation to the Wing Education and Training Section or ARPC/DPTTB. Proof of course completion can be an official transcript or grade report taken directly from the attending institution's website. (T-1).

6.8.9.13. A "satisfactory" grade must be attained by the new course end date or Reserve Tuition Assistance will be reimbursed. The 120-day period may be extended by the Wing Education and Training Section or ARPC/DPTTB for health reasons, temporary duty, emergency leave, or hospitalization on a day-to-day basis. (T-1).

6.8.10.3. Accrediting bodies can be found at <http://www.ed.gov/about/offices/list/OPE/index.html>. Note: There are colleges and universities that are nationally and regionally accredited; however, some of the courses they teach may not be accredited or recognized by the Department of Education.

6.10.1.4.3. Update and maintain current, relevant information on the Air Force Virtual Education Center. At a minimum, review and update information at least quarterly or sooner, if needed. Publish information concerning SkillBridge Program opportunities on the Air Force Virtual Education Center and other media.

6.10.1.4.4. Report SkillBridge Program metrics to AFPC/DP2SST Military Training Section. (T-1).

6.10.1.4.5. Screen and approve SkillBridge Program providers in accordance with general criteria outlined in DoDI 1322.29, Enclosure 4, AF/A1DLV policies. (T-0).

- 6.10.1.4.6. Establish a Memorandum of Understanding between the installation and on-base SkillBridge Program providers. The Memorandum of Understanding establishes the parameters for cooperative support between the installation and the SkillBridge Program provider for the recruitment of transitioning Airmen for the purpose of providing training under the SkillBridge Program. (T-0).
- 6.10.1.5. Unit/Squadron Commanders.
- 6.10.1.5.1. Are designated as the approval authority to participate in the SkillBridge Program. - 6.10.1.5.2. Should consider Airmen that have been identified for possible early transition for enrollment in SkillBridge Programs, provided the Airman's anticipated character of service upon separation is honorable or under honorable conditions. Examples of these situations include a hardship discharge, involuntary transition resulting from failure to reenlist or extend or complete an upcoming deployment, and early demobilization due to curtailment of mission, separations, or transfers. (T-0).

- 6.10.3. Airmen participation is dependent on unit and mission requirements. (T-0).
- 6.10.4. Airmen may apply to participate in a SkillBridge Program in the Air Force Virtual Education Center up to one year from their date of separation. However, the SkillBridge program will not begin earlier than 180 days prior to the Airman's date of separation. (T-1).

- 6.10.7. Airmen are eligible for only one SkillBridge Program during their transition period. (T-1).
- 6.10.8. Airmen who reenlist or extend while participating in a SkillBridge Program will immediately withdraw from the program and return to their unit for duty. (T-0).

Potential Reassignment List—List of Reserve members who are approaching six months prior to end of their current assignment and may potentially be reassigned to another position.

Professional Continuing Education—Any course that is less than 20 weeks in duration and satisfies mission accomplishment, sustainment, or enhancement as required by law, Air Force governance, specific memorandum of agreement, or position requirement. Professional continuing education should not be confused with initial skills and subsequent advanced training courses that are required to advance in the Air Force Specialty Code skill level.

Professional Development—Engagement in a set of learning experiences designed to achieve specific goals and long-term objectives. Learning experiences often occur in the workplace, and include coaching, mentoring, job rotation, developmental assignments, on-the-job training, and self-study courses.

Professional Military Education—Critical subset of developmental education that: 1) provides the nation with personnel skilled in the employment of air, space, and cyberspace power in the conduct of war, small scale contingencies, deterrence, peacetime operations, and national security; 2) provides Air Force personnel with the skills and knowledge to make sound decisions in progressively more demanding leadership positions within the national security environment; and 3) develops strategic thinkers, planners, and war fighters. In addition, professional military education programs strengthen the ability and skills of Air Force personnel to lead, manage, and supervise.

Program Element Code 88751F—Operations and Maintenance (O&M) Program which funds training, education, and professional development of O&M funded civilians.

Program Requirements Document (PRD)—Serves as a planning and programming document supporting Program Objective Memorandum/APOM submissions, while program guidance letters serve as the training execution tasking. Revised or planning program requirements documents may be used to reflect vectors or re-vectors by the AF Corporate Structure.

Proficiency Training—Additional training, either in-residence or exportable advanced training courses, or on-the-job training, provided to personnel to increase their skills and knowledge beyond the minimum required for upgrade.

Program Guidance Letter—Establishes training requirements for AETC execution. Program Guidance Letters are the official tasking document enabling AETC planners and resource programmers to acquire the necessary resources for accomplishment of the tasking. The Program Guidance Letters align the AF requirements with the Planning, Programming, Budgeting and Execution process.

Program Objective Memorandum (POM)—Office of the Secretary of Defense directed, service developed document identifying money, people and equipment requirements and allocations over a specified period of time (example FY 13-17). Program Objective Memorandum funding baselines are used to develop budget level detail for distribution of resources during budget execution years. The Program Objective Memorandum is developed by individual services to set objectives for their forces, weapon systems and logistical support within the fiscal limits assigned to them by the Secretary of Defense.

Program Requirements Document (PRD)—Reflects the “unconstrained” production requirements (Formerly the Draft Program Guidance Letter). This name change creates a clearer distinction between documents containing “unconstrained”/total requirements verses documents containing requirements that have survived a corporate funding process. The program

Progression Planning—Career field planning designed to provide the proper education, training and experience necessary to develop the majority of the career field.

Qualification Training (QT)—Performance training designed to qualify an Airman who has transferred from one base or position to another specific position. The supervisor performs an initial evaluation that includes a review of all previously certified tasks checked against the newly assigned position's required tasks. Any tasks not previously completed is now required and this identifies that the member requires qualification training for the newly assigned duty position.

Qualification Training Package (QTP)—An instructional package designed for use at the unit to qualify, or aid qualification, in a duty position or program, or on a piece of equipment. It may be printed, computer-based, or in other audiovisual media.

Quality Assurance Concept (QA)—The Quality Assurance staff evaluates the quality of maintenance accomplished in the maintenance organization and performs necessary functions to manage the organization's Maintenance Standardization and Evaluation Program, which provides an objective sampling of both the quality of equipment and the proficiency of maintenance personnel.

RECLAMA—The process to “request to duly constituted authority to reconsider its decision or its proposed action” (JP 1-02).

Reserve Developmental Education Designation Board—The Reserve Developmental Education Designation Board is an annual board that convenes at Air Reserve Personnel Center to select Citizen Airmen to attend in-residence developmental education schools.

Reserve-development plan—This is the ultimate tool for Citizen Airmen (Officer/Enlisted) to influence the development of their own careers. They place desires, intent, goals and abilities for themselves and leadership to help determine the most appropriate career opportunities. The entire force development process hinges on this extremely important document to match against the needs of the Air Force.

Reserve Enlisted Force Development Panel—The Reserve Enlisted Force Development Panel provides general enlisted force development program oversight and guidance.

Reserve Functional Manager—The Reserve Functional Manager provides day-to-day strategic-level direction and authority over specific functional communities' requirements and overall management of a functional career field. Reserve functional managers are responsible for resource development and distribution and ensuring their specialties are equipped, developed, and sustained to provide Air Force capabilities.

Reserve School Selection Board (RSSB)—This semi-annual board that convenes at the Air Reserve School Selection Board to competitively select Citizen Airmen to attend Tactical, Operational and Strategic level courses. These are a compilation of blended offerings and short courses.

Resource Constraints—Resource deficiencies, such as money, facilities, time, manpower, and equipment that preclude desired training from being delivered.

Selective Reenlistment Program—A program designed to permit the reenlistment of qualified and needed Airmen, who have shown they have the capability and dedication to adapt to future mission requirements.

SkillBridge Program—DoD program directed by law to provide eligible members of the armed forces with job training and employment skills training, including apprenticeships and internships to help prepare such members for employment in the civilian sector.

Skill Level—An enlisted Air Force specialty code denoting an individual's highest level of qualification. Enlisted personnel must complete all mandatory training requirements as outlined in AFI 36-2201, the specialty description in the Air Force Enlisted Classification Directory on the Air Force Personnel Center web site, and the applicable Career Field Education and Training Plan for award of the 3-, 5-, 7-, and 9-skill levels.

Space Professional Functional Authority—The Secretary of the Air Force-appointed functional authority for the Space Professional community.

Specialty Training—The total training process used to qualify Airmen in their assigned specialty.

Specialty Training Requirements Team—Air Force career field managers use this forum and quality control tool to determine and manage career field education and training requirements.

Specialty Training Standard (STS)—An AF publication that describes an AF Specialty in terms of tasks and knowledge an Airman in that specialty may be expected to perform or to know on the job. Also identifies the training provided to achieve a 3-, 5-, or 7-skill level within an enlisted AF Specialty. It further serves as a contract between AETC and the functional user to show which of the overall training requirements for an AFSC are taught in formal schools and correspondence courses.

Standard—An exact value, a physical entity, or an abstract concept, the appropriate authority, custom, or common consent sets up and defines to serve as a reference, model, or rule in measuring quantities or qualities, developing practices or procedures, or evaluating results. A fixed quantity or quality.

Student Assignment Facilitation Panel—Assists students leaving in-residence developmental education with outplacement to help ensure the Air Force Reserve's return on investment.

Succession Planning—Identifying long-range needs and cultivating a supply of talent to meet those needs. It involves a process for identifying and developing organizational personnel with the potential to fill key leadership positions. Succession planning increases the availability of experienced and capable personnel that are prepared to assume these roles as they become available.

Supplemental Training—Training toward a portion of an AF Specialty without change by AFSC. Formal training on new equipment, methods and technology that are not suited for on-the-job training.

Task Certifier—See Certification Official.

Task Qualification Training (TQT)—Training conducted after Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear, and High-Yield Explosive defense classroom training in which individuals perform wartime mission essential tasks in a simulated wartime environment while wearing full ground crew individual protective equipment or aircrew individual protective equipment. Headquarters AF, MAJCOM and local Functional Area Managers identify wartime mission essential tasks. See AFI 10-2501, Emergency Management Program additional information/requirements.

Third Party Certification—An evaluation of completed training conducted by the task certifier and is only required when directed by the AF Career Field Manager.

Top-Up Program—Formally known as the Tuition Assistance Top-Up Program, the Top-Up Program allows GI Bill participants to use the GI Bill to supplement the tuition and fees not covered by tuition assistance. The amount of the benefit can be equal to the difference between the total cost of a college course and the amount of Tuition assistance that is paid by the military for the course.

Total Force—Organizations, units, and individuals that comprise the Air Forces' resources for meeting its mission. This includes RegAF, Air National Guard, and Air Force Reserve military personnel, and civilian personnel.

Total Force Assessment—Tests whether the force requirements derived from its manpower requirements determination process were sufficient to support the spectrum of military operations envisioned in the defense strategy. This includes simultaneously fighting two major theater wars to conducting multiple contingency operations in peacetime.

Trainer—A trained and qualified person who teaches personnel to perform specific tasks through on-the-job training methods. Also, equipment that the trainer uses to teach personnel specified tasks.

Training—A set of events or activities presented in a structured or planned manner through one or more media for the attainment and retention of skills, knowledge, and attitudes required to meet job performance requirements. This involves the coaching and mentoring of Airmen, resulting in proficiency development. Note: Functional authorities in conjunction with Air Education and Training Command and 2nd Air Force shall develop frameworks for technical skill development. These frameworks shall be consistent with overarching Air Force guidance. Additionally, training can be defined as the process of providing for and making available to an civilian, and placing or enrolling the civilian in, a planned, prepared and coordinated program, course, curriculum, subject, system, or routine of instruction or education, in scientific, professional, technical, mechanical, trade, clerical, fiscal, administrative, or other fields which will improve individual and organizational performance and assist in achieving the AF mission and performance goals.

Training Agreement—A written contract between a civilian and the AF. The contract outlines intensive training to satisfy all or part of the experience required by qualification standards, without regard to time-in-grade requirements.

Training Capability—The ability of a unit or base to provide training. Authorities consider the availability of equipment, qualified trainers, and study reference materials, and so on in determining a unit's training capability.

Training Detachment—An AETC detachment that provides technical training, at an operational location, on specific systems, and their aerospace ground equipment. A training detachment aims to: qualify personnel on new equipment or in new techniques and procedures, maintain proficiency and to increase skill and knowledge, acquaint personnel with specific systems, and keep personnel aware of changing concepts and requirements.

Training Equipment—The generic term for items trainers use to train aircrew, missile, maintenance, support, or operator personnel. Trainers teach with these items by picturing, simulating or otherwise demonstrating the characteristics of a system, facility or piece of equipment.

Training Requester Quota Identifier—The training requester quota identifier is a four-character communication code within Oracle Training Administration used to convey annual or supplemental training requirements, allocations, allocation confirmations, and student tracking information between a user of training and the provider (owner) of training. Training requester quota identifiers are assigned to MAJCOMs, FOA, and DRUs responsible for training accountability of personnel. Only one training requester quota identifier is assigned to a functional entity for Mission Readiness Training Program.

Unit Manpower Document—The unit manpower document is the primary document that reflects the manpower required to accomplish the unit's mission. It is a computer product that lists unit manpower requirements, both funded and unfunded, and is used to help manage manpower resources. The unit manpower document contains many data elements identifying the unique attributes of a position including position number, Air Force specialty code, functional account code, work center, grade, number of authorizations, and personnel accounting symbol data.

Utilization and Training Workshop—Career field managers use the utilization and training workshop process to develop and review training programs within an Air Force specialty or civilian occupational series. The goal of the utilization and training workshop process is to develop the architecture for effective life-cycle training to be provided at appropriate points throughout a career path and to ensure that personnel within the specialty or series are properly employed.

Utilization Field—A group of Air Force officer specialties, related by required skills and knowledge. A utilization field can consist of only one specialty if the skills and knowledge required are unique and don't relate to other officer specialties.

Unit Training Assembly—A planned period of training, duty, instruction, or test alert completed by a Reserve unit.

Upgrade Training—Mandatory training that leads to attainment of higher level of proficiency.

Vector—The development team/enlisted development team collective recommendation for an assignment level (e.g., Joint Staff, Headquarters Air Force, major command, installation-level, etc.), training, or education opportunity (e.g., resident developmental education, advanced functional training), or position type (e.g., flight commander, division chief, instructor, special duty, etc.) a member should be considered for in his or her next or subsequent assignments.

Wartime Course—Comprised of those tasks that must be taught when courses are accelerated in a wartime environment. Wartime tasks are the tasks to be taught in the 3-level course when the wartime courses have been activated. In response to a wartime scenario, these tasks are taught in the 3-level course in a streamlined training environment. These tasks are only for those career fields that still need them applied to their schoolhouse tasks.

AIR FORCE EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS BOARD

A21.1. As a mechanism of force development policy, the Air Force Education Requirements Board is conducted annually to prioritize and fund graduate education (formerly referred to as Advanced Academic Degrees) and experiential programs as well as professional continuing education courses in accordance with Department of Defense Instruction 1322.10 and requirements as defined by extant unit manpower documents and/or secretary of the Air Force and Air Force Chief of Staff initiatives. As such, the Air Force Education Requirements Board operates with a limited budget to adjudicate competing interests within the larger strategy of the force development enterprise to help achieve Air Force objectives. The board's structure and processes are outlined in the Air Force Education Requirements Board Concept of Operations, currently maintained by AF/A1DL. The board is divided into two bodies: 1) a working group, composed of career field managers and professional continuing education course owners and 2) the executive session (ES), made up of functional managers and chaired by AF/A1D, who reviews and approves education priorities and resources for the requisite fiscal year.

A21.2. The Air Force Education Requirements Board supports any number of a wide array of graduate education requirements that provide for the particular and broad development strategy of the force outlined by AF/A1D and the career field managers. The Air Force Education Requirements Board is not, however, designed nor resourced to support the full contingent of any career field manager's and organization's developmental needs. As such, requests for graduate education quotas requires career field managers and institutions to present 1) a legible review of present and projected inventory possessing the minimum qualifications to meet valid requirements, 2) historical utilization rates, and 3) a brief of the requirements per se (Unit Manpower Document data, signed correspondence from senior leadership, etc.). Note: Air Force Education Requirements Board-funded graduate education is reserved for RegAF (non-medical) officers and enlisted in the grade O-5 and below. Career field managers allowing officers or enlisted personnel to attend graduate education programs (in any grade) who will become retirement eligible during their tenure as students or while completing their requisite active duty service commitment need to submit a waiver through AFPC to AF/A1D for approval prior to assigning the quota. That waiver must be signed by the functional manager and indicate coordination with the requisite functional authority.

A21.3. Professional continuing education consists of courses that are 20 weeks in duration or less and available to all officer, enlisted, and civil service personnel in all components of the Air Force. Individual professional continuing education courses are not necessarily open to all career fields across the enterprise. However, professional continuing education directly supports the execution and/or sustainment of enterprise-wide missions and contributes to the enhancement and professional development of personnel.

A21.4. The Air Force Education Requirements Board is not funded on a scale commensurate with Air Force formal education and training and does not, therefore, admit graduate education or professional continuing education that is directly tied to the award of an Air Force specialty code and/or an increase in skill level. Training and/or education required by career field leadership for core Air Force specialty development falls within the purview and funding obligation of formal education and training.
